Cognitive Approaches to Old English Poetry Antonina Harbus, 2012 Offers an entirely new way of interpreting and examining Anglo Saxon texts via theories derived from cognitive studies A major thoughtful study applying new and serious interpretative and critical perspectives to a central range of Old English poetry Professor John Hines Cardiff University

Cognitive approaches to literature offer new and exciting ways of interpreting literature and mentalities by bringing ideas and methodologies from Cognitive Science into the analysis of literature and culture While these approaches are of particular value in relation to understanding the texts of remote societies they have to date made very little impact on Anglo Saxon Studies This book therefore acts as a pioneer mapping out the new field explaining its relevance to Old English Literary Studies and demonstrating in practice its application to a range of key vernacular poetic texts including Beowulf The Wanderer and poems from the Exeter Book Adapting key ideas from three related fields Cognitive Literary Cultural Studies Cognitive Poetics and Conceptual Metaphor Theory in conjunction with more familiar models derived from Literary Analysis Stylistics and Historical Linguistics allows several new ways of thinking about Old English literature to emerge It permits a systematic means of examining and accounting for the conceptual structures that underpin Anglo Saxon poetics as well as fuller explorations at the level of mental processing of the workings of literary language in context The result is a set of approaches to interpreting Anglo Saxon textuality through detailed studies of the concepts mental schemas and associative logic implied in and triggered by the evocative language and meaning structures of surviving works

The Worlds of Herman Kahn Sharon Ghamari-Tabrizi,2009-06-30 Herman Kahn was the only nuclear strategist in America who might have made a living as a standup comedian Indeed galumphing around stages across the country joking his way through one grotesque thermonuclear scenario after another he came frighteningly close In telling the story of Herman Kahn whose 1960 book On Thermonuclear War catapulted him into celebrity Sharon Ghamari Tabrizi captures an era that is still very much with us a time whose innocence gruesome nuclear humor and outrageous but deadly serious visions of annihilation have their echoes in the known unknowns and unknown unknowns that guide policymakers in our own embattled world Portraying a life that combined aspects of Lenny Bruce Hitchcock and Kubrick Ghamari Tabrizi presents not one Herman Kahn but many one who spoke the suffocatingly dry argot of the nuclear experts another whose buffoonery conveyed the ingenious absurdity of it all and countless others who capered before the public ambiguous baffling always open to interpretation This then is a story of one thoroughly strange and captivating man as well as a cultural history of our moment In Herman Kahn's world is a critical lesson about how Cold War analysts learned to fill in the ciphers of strategic uncertainty and thus how we as a nation learned to live with the peculiarly inventive quality of strategy in which uncertainty generates extravagant threat scenarios Revealing the metaphysical behind the dryly deliberate apparently practical discussion of nuclear strategy this book depicts the creation of a world where clever men fashion Something out of Nothing and establishes Herman Kahn as our first virtuoso of the unknown unknowns into the individual's mental state into childhood memories and into the prehistory of culture and religion Herman Westerink follows this trace and analyzes Freud's thought on the sense of guilt as a central issue in his work from the earliest studies on the moral and guilty characters of the hysterics via later complex differentiations within the concept of the sense of guilt and finally to Freud's conception of civilization's discontents and Jewish sense of guilt The sense of guilt is a key issue in Freudian psychoanalysis not only in relation to other key concepts in psychoanalytic theory but also in relation to Freud's debates with other psychoanalysts including Carl Jung and Melanie Klein

The New Metropolitan, 1913 Narrative Theory, Literature, and New Media Mari Hataavara, Matti Hyvärinen, Maria Mäkelä, Frans Mäyrä, 2015-06-19 Offering an interdisciplinary approach to narrative this book investigates storyworlds and minds in narratives across media from literature to digital games and reality TV from online sadomasochism to oral history databases and from horror to hallucinations It addresses two core questions of contemporary narrative theory inspired by recent cognitive scientific developments what kind of a construction is a storyworld and what kind of mental functioning can be embedded in it Minds and worlds become essential facets of making sense and interpreting narratives as the book asks how story internal minds relate to the mind external to the storyworld that is the mind processing the story With essays from social scientists literary scholars linguists and scholars from interactive media studies answering these topical questions the collection brings diverse disciplines into dialogue providing new openings for genuinely transdisciplinary narrative theory The wide ranging selection of materials analyzed in the book promotes knowledge on the latest forms of cultural and social meaning making through narrative necessary for navigating the contemporary mediatized cultural landscape The combination of theoretical reflection and empirical analysis makes this book an invaluable resource for scholars and advanced students in fields including literary studies social sciences art media and communication
