Representing The Women Cinema:

Women and Turkish Cinema Eylem Atakav, 2013 Since 2000 there has been a considerable effort in Turkish cinema to come to terms with the military's intervention in politics and subsequent national trauma. It has resulted in an outpouring of cinematic texts. This book focuses on women and Turkish cinema in the context of gender politics, cultural identity and representation. The central proposition of this book is that enforced depoliticisation introduced after the coup is responsible for uniting feminism and film in 1980s Turkey. The feminist movement was able to flourish precisely because it was not perceived as political or politically significant. In a parallel move in the films of the 1980s there was an increased tendency to focus on the individual woman's issues and lives in order to avoid the overtly political. Women and Turkish Cinema provides a comprehensive view of cinema's approach to women in a country which straddles European and Middle Eastern cultural conceptions, identities and religious values and will be an invaluable resource for students and scholars of Film Studies, Gender Studies and Middle East Studies amongst others.

Women in Polish Cinema Ewa Mazierska, Elżbieta Ostrowska, 2006 This work aims to explore the main types of female character in Polish feature cinema from its beginnings to contemporary times and also to analyse the work of the most prominent Polish women film directors against the background of the roles being played by women in Polish history and their positions within society.

Lebanese Cinema Lina Khatib, 2008-08-30 Modern Lebanese cinema can best be explored in the context of the Civil War in part because almost all the Lebanese films made since its outset in 1975 have been about this war. Lina Khatib takes 1975 Beirut as her starting point and takes us right through to today for this the first major book on Lebanese cinema and its links with politics and national identity. She examines how Lebanon is imagined in such films as Jocelyn Saab's Once Upon a Time Beirut, Ghassan Salhab's Terra Incognita and Ziad Doueiri's West Beirut. In so doing she re-examines the importance of cinema to the national imagination. Also and using interviews with the current generation of Lebanese filmmakers she uncovers how in the Lebanese context cinema can both construct and communicate a national identity and thereby opens up new perspectives on the socio-political role of cinema in the Arab world.

Women Through the Lens Shuqin Cui, 2003-02-28 Women Through the Lens raises the question of how gender, especially the image of woman, acts as a visual and discursive sign in the creation of the nation-state in twentieth-century China. Tracing the history of Chinese cinema through the last hundred years from the perspective of transnational feminism, Shuqin Cui reveals how women have been granted a privileged visibility on screen while being denied discursive positions as subjects. In addition, her careful attention to the visual language system of cinema shows how woman has served as the site for the narration of nation in the context of China's changing social and political climate. Placing gender and nation in a historical framework, the book first shows how early productions had their roots in shadow plays, a popular form of public entertainment. In examining the Red Classics of socialist cinema as a mass cultural form, the book shows how the utopian vision of emancipating the entire proletariat women included produced a collective ideology that declared an end to gender difference Cui then documents and discusses the cinematic spectacle of woman as essential to such widely popular films as Chen Kaige's Farewell My Concubine and Zhang Yimou's Ju Dou Finally the author brings a feminist perspective to the issues of gender and nation by turning her attention to women directors and their self representations

Chinese Women's Cinema Lingzhen Wang, 2011-08-30 The first of its kind in English this collection explores twenty one well established and lesser known female filmmakers from mainland China Hong Kong Taiwan and the Chinese diaspora Sixteen scholars illuminate these filmmakers negotiations of local and global politics cinematic representation and issues of gender and sexuality covering works from the 1920s to the present Writing from the disciplines of Asian women's film and auteur studies contributors reclaim the work of Esther Eng Tang Shu Shuen Dong Kena and Sylvia Chang among others who have transformed Chinese cinematic modernity Chinese Women's Cinema is a unique transcultural interdisciplinary conversation on authorship feminist cinema transnational gender and cinematic agency and representation Lingzhen Wang's comprehensive introduction recounts the history and limitations of established feminist film theory particularly its relationship with female cinematic authorship and agency She also reviews critiques of classical feminist film theory along with recent developments in feminist practice altogether remapping feminist film discourse within transnational and interdisciplinary contexts Wang's subsequent redefinition of women's cinema and brief history of women's cinematic practices in modern China encourage the reader to reposition gender and cinema within a transnational feminist configuration such that power and knowledge are reexamined among and across cultures and nation states

Latin American Cinema Lisa Shaw, Stephanie Dennison, 2014-10-01 Renewed interest in Latin American film industries has opened a host of paths of scholarly exploration Productions from different countries reflect particular social attitudes political climates and self conceptions and must be considered separately and as a whole The search for national identity is a key component of Latin American films in a time of decreasing cultural diversity and pressures to westernize Globalization and falling government support have fueled cross border collaborations calling into question the idea of a movie's nationality and leaving some nations film industries on the brink of collapse Whether thriving or barely surviving struggling to remain distinct or embracing globalization on its own terms addressing the government or society Latin American cinema remains vibrant offering a wealth of material to scholars of all stripes These collected essays explore important elements of Latin American cinema and its associated national film industries The first section of essays examines the impact of modernization on both Latin American screen images and the industry itself offering modern and historical perspectives The second section focuses on filmmakers who deal with issues of gender and sexuality whether sexual transgression the role of female characters or societal attitudes towards sex and nudity The final section of essays discusses the relationship between national identity and Latin American film industries how movies are used to create a sense of self Uruguay's ongoing identity crisis and Brazil's use of Hollywood's stereotypical depiction of the country to depict itself Photographs and an annotated bibliography accompany each essay and an index supplements the text

Mothers, Comrades, and Outcasts in East German Women's Films Jennifer L. Creech, 2016-08-08 Mothers Comrades and Outcasts in East German Women's Film merges feminist film theory and cultural history in an investigation of women's films that span the last two decades of the former East Germany Jennifer L Creech explores the ways in which these films functioned as an alternative public sphere where official ideologies of socialist progress and utopian collectivism could be resisted Emerging after the infamous cultural freeze of 1965 these women's films reveal a shift from overt political critique to a covert politics located in the intimate problem rich experiences of everyday life under socialism Through an analysis of films that focus on what were perceived as women's concerns marital problems motherhood emancipation and residual patriarchy Creech argues that the female protagonist served as a crystallization of socialist contradictions By framing their politics in terms of women's concerns these films used women's desire and agency to contest the more general problems of social alienation and collectivism and to re-imagine the possibilities of self-fulfillment under socialism Doing Women's Film History Christine Gledhill, Julia Knight, 2015-10-30 Research into and around women's participation in cinematic history has enjoyed dynamic growth over the past decade A broadening of scope and interests encompasses not only different kinds of filmmaking mainstream fiction experimental and documentary but also practices publicity journalism distribution and exhibition seldom explored in the past Cutting edge and inclusive Doing Women's Film History ventures into topics in the United States and Europe while also moving beyond to explore the influence of women on the cinemas of India Chile Turkey Russia and Australia Contributors grapple with historiographic questions that cover film history from the pioneering era to the present day Yet the writers also address the very mission of practicing scholarship Essays explore essential issues like identifying women's participation in their cinema cultures locating previously unconsidered sources of evidence developing methodologies and analytical concepts to reveal the impact of gender on film production distribution and reception and reframing film history to accommodate new questions and approaches Contributors include Kay Armatage Eylem Atakav Karina Aveyard Canan Balan Cécile Chich Monica Dall Asta Eliza Anna Delveroudi Jane M Gaines Christine Gledhill Julia Knight Neepa Majumdar Michele Leigh Luke McKernan Debashree Mukherjee Giuliana Muscio Katarzyna Paszkiewicz Rashmi Sawhney Elizabeth Ramirez Soto Sarah Street and Kimberly Tomadjoglou International Perspectives on Feminism and Sexism in the Film Industry Sarı, Gülşah, Çetin, Derya, 2019-11-22 Gender studies has maintained its status as a heavily researched field However women and their role in cinema is a vastly understudied topic that deals with various aspects of feminism and sexism The function of women in the film industry has evolved over time and proven to be an interesting area of research regarding the transition from sexual icons to respected professionals Feminism is a widely researched subject yet its specific application within cinema is an area that has yet to be studied International Perspectives on Feminism and Sexism in the Film Industry is an essential reference source that examines the representation of women in cinema and provides a feminist approach to various aspects of the film industry including labor production and the cultural impact of women in motion pictures Featuring research on topics such as violence against women feminist film theory and psychoanalysis this book is ideally designed for directors industry professionals writers screenwriters activists professors students administrators and researchers in fields that include film studies gender studies mass media and communications Romanian New Wave Cinema Doru Pop, 2014-03-08 Modern Romanian filmmaking has received wide international recognition From 2001 to 2011 promising young filmmakers have been embraced as important members of European cinema The country developed a new fervor for filmmaking and a dozen new movies have received international awards and recognition from some of the most important critics worldwide This development sometimes called New Wave cinema is fully explored in this book By using a comparative approach and searching for similarities among cinematic styles and trends the study reveals that the young Romanian directors are part of a larger European way of filmmaking The discussion moves from specific themes motifs and narratives to the philosophy of a whole generation such as Cristi Puiu Cristian Mungiu Radu Muntean Corneliu Porumboiu Tudor Giurgiu and others Polish Postcommunist Cinema Ewa Mazierska,2007 This book covers the history of Polish cinema from 1989 up to the present in a broad political and cultural context looking at both the film industry and film artistry It considers the main ideas behind the institutional changes in the Polish film industry after the collapse of communism and assesses how these ideas were implemented In discussing artistry the focus is on the genres which dominated the Polish cinematic landscape after 1989 and the most important directors The Power of Portrayal Ashish Shekhar,2024-06-09 The Power of Portrayal Movies and Culture delves into the intricate relationship between cinema and society This insightful book explores how movies shape and reflect cultural trends examining various theories and concepts through film examples It analyzes storytelling techniques viewing colors as characters and uncovering metaphors that illuminate broader cultural themes From B grade cinema s impact on cultural norms to assumptions about male attractiveness and evolving beauty standards this book reveals the profound influence of film on our understanding of culture and identity With engaging insights and thought provoking analysis The Power of Portrayal is a must read for anyone curious about the dynamic interplay between movies and society Locating the Voice in Film Tom Whittaker,Sarah Wright,2017 This book locates the voice in cinema in different national and transnational contexts to explore how the critical approaches to the voice as well as the practices of sound design technologies and even reception are often grounded in cultural specificity to present readings which challenge traditional theories of the voice in film
