Gender, Communications, and Reproductive Health in International Development Carolina Matos, 2023-06-15 To this day women globally are subjected to forms of control over their bodies and their ability to exercise their reproductive rights in particular is still constrained Amid a rise of challenges to the advancement of women's rights including the recent overturning of Roe v Wade in the United States sexual and reproductive health rights are at the forefront of conversations about the advancement of gender equality To determine how communications are used strategically to shape policy Carolina Matos explores fifty two feminist and health NGOs from across the world and how they are improving discourse on sexuality and reproductive health in the public sphere She investigates how these organizations are making use of communications amid various contemporary challenges including the proliferation of misinformation about women's rights and health in the public sphere due to the actions of oppositional far right nationalist groups Through original in depth interviews within the NGOs and empirical research of the institutions online presences Matos unpacks the complexities of the relationship between women's health communications and development contributing to the fields of development health communications and gender studies and advancing the debate on the role of feminist NGOs in advocating for women's rights With a postcolonial critique of the role of NGOs in development Matos illuminates the strategic use of communications in the mediation and advocacy of gender equality and reproductive health

Gender, Development and Health Caroline Sweetman, 2001 Articles included here focus on understandings of reproductive health integrating gender issues into infectious disease prevention the impact of HIV AIDS on women working with communities to promote health and on the monitoring and evaluation of health projects from a gender perspective

Rethinking Sexual and Reproductive Health and Rights for Young Women in Southern Africa Tamaryn Crankshaw, Jane Freedman, Carolien Aantjes, Nana K. Poku, 2024-10-29 This important book provides a critical examination of the sexual and reproductive health and rights SRHR of young women and girls in Southern Africa examining the ways in which current policies and programmes aimed at improving SRHR often fail to reach the most marginalised populations Addressing key regional challenges such as high rates of HIV unintended pregnancies unsafe abortions and sexual and gender based violence the book highlights how health inequalities in the region are in fact increasing despite the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development of leaving no one behind The book draws on theoretical analysis and empirical data gathered from studies carried out in five Southern African countries Madagascar Mozambique South Africa Zambia and Zimbabwe arguing that a continued focus on HIV and interventions that target health in a narrow sense often fail to understand the wider socio economic determinants of poor sexual and reproductive health and the ways in which girls and young women are made vulnerable Written by leading scholars in the field this will be essential reading for students and

Reconceiving Reproductive Health: Theological and Christian Ethical Reflections Manitza Kotzé,Nadia Marais,Nina Müller van Velden,Nadine Bowers du Toit,Mwawi N. Chilongozi,Hanzline R. Davids,Gideon R. Kotzé,Tayla Minnaar,Peter Nagel,Selina Palm,Jeremy Punt,Riaan Rheeder,Tanya van Wyk,Fralene van Zyl,2019-12-12 While reproduction is fairly often touched upon in theological and Christian ethical discussions reproductive health is not However reproductive health is a matter of theological and ethical concern Discussion pertaining to reproductive health includes a number of debates about for instance abortion and the termination of pregnancy reproductive loss childlessness infertility stillbirth miscarriage and adoption Additionally new reproductive possibilities made available by the development of reproductive technology have necessitated theological and ethical reflection on for example surrogacy post menopausal pregnancies litter births single mothers or fathers by choice in vitro fertilisation and the so called saviour siblings These new developments compel us to reconceive our notions of what reproductive health is or should be Many of these topics are receiving increasing attention in a variety of theological publications The focus of this volume is unique however and to the best of our knowledge this is the first volume dealing not only with reproductive issues but also reflecting theologically and ethically on reproductive health It makes a contribution by providing a variety of perspectives from different theological fields on this theme and in many chapters focussing especially on the South African context These discussions are also part of urgent debates within churches which require developing life giving theological language and imaginative theological alternatives that may speak to experiences of matters relating to reproductive health The popular books TV series and films that touch upon these discussions including The Handmaid s Tale and Mother strengthen the perception that a more in depth theological and ethical discussion on the theme may be necessary particularly towards exploring stories and confessions from our faith tradition that may provide us with a timely opportunity to do the important work of theological reconceiving

Through the Gender Lens Bola Akanji,Funmi Soetan,2018-12-12 Sustainable development is now intricately linked not just to economic growth but more importantly to the quality of life of people in terms of their social status political participation cultural freedom environmental justice and inclusive development For previously colonized nations like Nigeria these linkages are believed to have been influenced by the legacies of colonial rule positively or otherwise Through the Gender Lens A Century of Social and Political Development in Nigeria looks at how colonialism has enabled or hindered the roles of the state in promoting inclusive development in general and gender equality in particular in the process of nation building In this edited volume scholars analyze a host of policies strategies and programs as well as empirical evidence to expose how types of governance from direct colonial rule in the country from 1914 through her independence in 1960 a Republic in 1963 and to different post independence governance periods have influenced gender relations and the impacts of these on Nigerian women Diverse sectoral perspectives from education health culture environment and especially politics are presented to explain the level of attainment or otherwise of gender equality and the implications for Nigeria s road to sustainable development The emphasis on the role of the state in development particularly indicts the social and political domains of governance Hence the main focus of inquiry in the volume In its twelve chapters the authors analyze available data and other information to draw relevant conclusions identify lessons of experience including from some cross country comparisons and make concrete recommendations for more gender inclusive systems of governance in the next century of Nigeria s nationhood

COVID-19 and Gender-Based Violence in Zimbabwe Isaiah Munyiswa,Pauline Mateveke,Ezra Chitando,2024-12-02 This book investigates the experiences of women in Zimbabwe facing COVID 19 and gender based violence arguing that the insights from this extremely tough period could be used as a springboard for positive legal cultural and policy changes In 2020 COVID 19 caught the world by surprise and often the socio cultural factors impacting the treatment and care of those infected by the virus were not fully considered In Zimbabwe the socially constructed role of women as caregivers left them particularly vulnerable Not only this but COVID 19 lockdowns coincided with particularly high levels of sexual exploitation and gender based violence with women again comprising the majority of victims Authors in this book analyse the pandemic experiences of women in Zimbabwe both in the workplace or in the home with the hope of fostering positive cultural change and sensitising policy makers to the need for legislation that protects women in moments of disasters The important lessons and discussion points raised by this book will be important to policymakers both within Zimbabwe and beyond and to researchers working on gender public health philosophy sociology and politics in Africa

Feminist Futures Kum-Kum Bhavnani,John Foran,Priya A. Kurian,Debashish Munshi,2016-10-15 Straddling disciplines and continents Feminist Futures interweaves scholarship and social activism to explore the evolving position of women in the South Working at the intersection of cultural studies critical development studies and feminist theory the book s contributors articulate a radical and innovative framework for understanding the linkages between women culture and development applying it to issues ranging from sexuality and the gendered body to the environment technology and the cultural politics of representation This revised and updated edition brings together leading academics as well as a new generation of activists and scholars to provide a fresh perspective on the ways in which women in the South are transforming our understanding of development

Gender Inequalities, Sexual and Reproductive Health, and Sustainable Development in the Global South Praveen Kumar Pathak,Shah Md Atiqul Haq,Niharika Tripathi,Tizta Degfie,2025-08-22 Investing in Sexual and Reproductive Health SRH has been recognized as one of the prudent strategies to ensure the well being of girls and women and also to advance broader social and economic development for the nations and future generations Moreover it provides an excellent opportunity for millions of girls and women to make an informed choice about the number timing and spacing between births experience safe motherhood deliver healthy newborns and have a safe and satisfying sexual life However several young girls and women encounter an array of structural barriers patriarchy and unfavorable gendered norms practices including child marriage son preference gender based violence against women female foeticide lower access to economic property rights restriction of mobility etc that hinder their socioeconomic progress and health status Discourse on leveraging gender equity and reproductive health could be further strengthened with the involvement of young boys and men. Given that restrictive gender norms affect both men's and women's reproductive health potential, therefore integrating young boys and men along with young girls and women shall be a comprehensive strategy to ensure equitable quality and sustainable reproductive health among people. Oxford Textbook of Global Public Health Roger Detels, Quarraisha Abdool Karim, Fran Baum, Liming Li, Alastair H. Leyland, 2022. Invaluable for all practitioners, trainees and students of public health and epidemiology, the Oxford Textbook of Global Public Health covers the scope, methods and practice of public health and has been comprehensively updated for its seventh edition.

Gender before Birth Rajani Bhatia, 2018-02-01. In the mid 1990s the international community pronounced prenatal sex selection via abortion an act of violence against women and unethical. At the same time new developments in reproductive technology in the United States led to a method of sex selection before conception; its US inventor marketed the practice as family balancing and defended it with the rhetoric of freedom of choice. In Gender before Birth Rajani Bhatia takes on the double standard of how similar practices in the West and non West are divergently named and framed. Bhatia's extensive fieldwork includes interviews with clinicians, scientists, biomedical service providers and feminist activists, and her resulting analysis extends both feminist theory on reproduction and feminist science and technology studies. She argues that we are at the beginning of a changing transnational terrain that presents new challenges to theorized inequality in reproduction, demonstrating how the technosciences often get embroiled in colonial gender and racial politics. Darkness at Noon

Ashish Bose, 2003. Adapting Gender and Development to Local Religious Contexts Romina Istratii, 2020-10-01. This book provides a critical and decolonial analysis of gender and development theory and practice in religious societies through the presentation of a detailed ethnographic study of conjugal violence in Ethiopia. Responding to recent consensus that gender mainstreaming approaches have failed to produce their intended structural changes, Romina Istratii explains that gender and development analytical and theoretical frameworks are often constructed through western Eurocentric lenses ill equipped to understand gender related realities and human behaviour in non western religious contexts and knowledge systems. Instead Istratii argues for an approach to gender sensitive research and practice which is embedded in insiders' conceptual understandings as a basis to theorise about gender, assess the possible gendered underpinnings of local issues and design appropriate alleviation strategies. Drawing on a detailed study of conjugal abuse realities and attitudes in two villages and the city of Aksum in Northern Ethiopia, she demonstrates how religious knowledge can be engaged in the design and implementation of remedial interventions. This book carefully evidences the importance of integrating religious traditions and spirituality in current discussions of sustainable development in Africa and speaks to researchers and practitioners of gender, religion and development in Africa, scholars of non western Christianities and Ethiopian studies, and domestic violence researchers and practitioners. Gender, Development and Marriage Caroline Sweetman, 2003. This book traces the economic and social impact of inequality in marriage and considers its implications for development. Looking at child marriage the link between women s economic contribution equality within marriage NGO responses to domestic violence and the need to understand particular forms of marriage for appropriate development policy
