The Quaternary in the Tropics Klaus Heine, 2024-07-22 The Ice Age Quaternary is a period of extreme climate fluctuations that led to the growth and melting of massive ice sheets in the high latitudes Tropical deserts savannas rainforests and mountainous regions experienced equal dramatic climatic changes of which the traces are preserved in sedimentary deposits The knowledge of tropical climate history is of paramount importance because in the tropics and marginal tropics natural and more recently human induced processes significantly control global climate Yet relatively few palaeoclimate records are known from these regions This book presents the climate archives of the tropics and critically discusses their palaeoclimatic informative value Based on decades of research the author demonstrates that a lack of geocological knowledge leads to misinterpretations in modeling climate futures The results presented here call for a correction of many widely held views about the role of atmospheric greenhouse gases in global warming over the past 150 years The book is intended for natural scientists of all disciplines who are looking for a synopsis of the problem area Our climate in the past present and future in the tropics

The History of the European Fauna Robert Francis Scharff, 1899

Biodiversity Hotspots Frank E. Zachos, Jan Christian Habel, 2011-09-15 Biodiversity and its conservation are among the main global topics in science and politics and perhaps the major challenge for the present and coming generations This book written by international experts from different disciplines comprises general chapters on diversity and its measurement human impacts on biodiversity hotspots on a global scale

human diversity itself and various geographic regions exhibiting high levels of diversity The areas covered range from genetics and taxonomy to evolutionary biology biogeography and the social sciences In addition to the classic hotspots in the tropics the book also highlights various other ecosystems harbouring unique species communities including coral reefs and the Southern Ocean The approach taken considers but is not limited to the original hotspot definition sensu stricto and presents a chapter introducing the 35th hotspot the forests of East Australia While due to a bias in data availability the majority of contributions on particular taxa deal with vertebrates and plants some also deal with the less studied invertebrates This book will be essential reading for anyone involved with biodiversity particularly researchers and practitioners in the fields of conservation biology ecology and evolution
