Citizenship in the 21st Century Lester T. Kane, Marylyn R. Poweller, 2008 Citizenship is membership in a political community and carries with it rights to political participation It is largely coterminous with nationality although it is possible to have a nationality without being a citizen and vice versa This book presents a line up of contributors offering in depth analyses of this issue

Systemic Governance and Accountability Janet McIntyre-Mills, 2008-01-16 The book makes a plea for systemic governance It follows a practical approach including case studies and conceptual tools Policy makers and managers need to work with rather than within theoretical and methodological frameworks The closest we can get to truth is through compassionate dialogue that explores paradoxes and considers the rights and responsibilities of caretakers Democracy and Governance for Resourcing the Commons Janet McIntyre-Mills, Norma R. A. Romm, Yvonne Corcoran-Nantes, 2019-06-11 This book promotes the well being of the commons through representation and accountability through monitoring from below in order to operationalize engagement This book views the commons as a legal concept a transformative governance concept and a basis for systemic ethics The chapters focus on practical responses to address complex problems that comprise many interrelated variables and are perceived differently by stakeholders with different values and life experiences By considering these different stakeholders the goal is to highlight ways to regenerate and invigorate employment opportunities The book identifies pathways towards ethical vocational education to enable lifelong engagement by active citizens which requires action learning to address areas of perceived policy concern Throughout the chapters in this book the authors discuss transformative research and its implications on stakeholders They focus on re presentation and its implications for thinking and practice One author makes the case for fostering non anthropocentric approaches to ethical development In addition the chapters cover case studies including governance challenges associated with water management using a mixed method approach and also production of mushrooms in collaboration with coffee growers in Jakarta The book focuses on ways to de colonialise knowledge formation in public policy and makes the case for an alternative approach to governance and democracy that takes into account a range of local people s perspectives The Mysteries of Consciousness Ingrid

Fredriksson, 2015-10-03 For hundreds of years the Western world has believed that humans indeed all living things consist of more than pure biology Not mere physical bodies humans possess something else that helps to define them In this collection of new essays scientists psychologists theoretical physicists and other experts in the mind body connection explore the nature of consciousness and its future as a new paradigm in science With contributions covering near death experiences the concept of free will conscious spacetime DNA consciousness the role of consciousness in the evolution of life quantum theory and the non local universe the scientific basis of love and the principles and applications of self hypnosis this volume clarifies the meaning of consciousness and establishes a model for further exploration into a burgeoning realm of scientific study

Systemic Ethics and Non-Anthropocentric Stewardship Janet McIntyre-Mills, 2014-10-01 This book makes a case for rights and responsibilities to be expressed through a cosmopolitan praxis based on developing strong cosmopolitan approaches This developed approach respects a form of cultural or national identity that is not at the expense of others the environment or future generations This new stoicism is based on a sense of responsibility for others The book also explores systemic ethical praxis in response to the vexed challenge of how to bridge the false dualism of pitting the environment versus profit Systemic Ethics and Non Anthropocentric Stewardship Implications for Transdisciplinarity and Cosmopolitan Politics is organized into seven chapters The book begins by providing readers with an understanding of the way in which cosmopolitanism like all social concepts is shaped by diverse definitions and applied differently by theorists and those that engage in transformative praxis It also develops an argument based on considering the empirical consequences of social economic and environmental decisions on the quality of life of current and future generations The next chapter critiques anthropocentrism and explores how policy makers develop agreements on what constitutes and supports the wellbeing of the planet rather than the GDP The book then explores the options for social democracy and ways to enhance an ethical approach to post national governance and argues for participatory democracy and governance to respond to diversity within and across national boundaries The following chapters reflect upon the author's own participatory action research process and examines the transformations that can arise through critical systemic thinking and practice Next the book makes the case for systemic ethical governance that is able to manage consumption before concluding with a final look at the book's approach based on critical heuristics

From Polarisation to Multispecies Relationships Janet J. McIntyre-Mills, Yvonne Corcoran-Nantes, 2021-08-05 This book explores the concept of multi species relationships and suggests critical systemic pathways to protect shared habitats This book discusses how the eradication of species as a result of rapid urbanisation places humanity at risk This book demonstrates how narrow anthropocentrism has focused on the rights of human beings at the expense of other species and the environment This book explores a priori norms and a posteriori measures and indicators to include and protect multiple species This book aims to strengthen institutional capacity and powers to address and extend the UN 2030 Sustainable Development Agenda by drawing on local wisdom but also the need to implement laws to prevent ecocide This book highlights that our fragile interdependence requires a recognition of our hybridity and interconnectedness within the web of life and suggests ways to reframe policy within and beyond the nation state to support living systems of which we are a strand

Globalistics and Globalization Studies: Theories, Research & Teaching Leonid Grinin, Ilya Ilyin, Andrey Korotayev, 2013-09-30 This is the second issue of the new series titled Globalistics and Globalization Studies Globalistics may be regarded as a sort of systemic and more or less integrated core within Global Studies At present Global Studies function in two main dimensions in the research of global political economic cultural and social processes on the one hand and in the realm of teaching manifesting themselves in the creation of various Global Studies programs and courses for university students who learn to see the world in its entirety and variety The second dimension is immensely important as the contents of such programs and courses may determine how the world will be comprehended by those people who may decide its fate in a decade or two This dualistic nature of Global Studies has determined the general direction of our anthology that comprises both the theoretical dimension of Global Studies and their application to the teaching process The anthology consists of three parts presenting a wide range of views on the meaning of the contemporary epoch the past and the future of some important global processes as well as the problems and successes in the teaching process of Global Studies Part 1 Globalization in Historical Retrospective Part 2 Globalistics Global Studies and Global Processes Part 3 Teaching Global Studies In the present anthology one can find perceptions of globalization by a number of famous scholars from different countries of the world Ervin Laszlo Christopher Chase Dunn and others but one can also get to know rather peculiar visions of globalization by Russian scientists and educators

Planetary Passport Janet McIntyre-Mills, 2017-08-31 This book explores the implications of knowing our place in the universe and recognising our hybridity It is a series of self reflections and essays drawing on many diverse ways of knowing The book examines the complex ethical challenges of closing the wide gap in living standards between rich and poor people communities The notion of an ecological citizen is presented with a focus on protecting current and future generations The idea is to track the distribution and redistribution of resources in the interests of social and environmental justice The central argument looks for ways to hold the powerful to account so as to enable virtuous living by the majority to be demonstrated in what the author calls a planetary passport a careful use of resources and a way to provide safe passage to those in need of safe habitat The book argues that nation states need to find ways to control the super rich through the governance process and to enhance a sense of shared ecological citizenship and responsibility for biodiversity The fundamental approach is collaborative research Planetary Passport Representation Accountability and Re Generation is comprised of six chapters Chapter 1 begins by making a case for a paradigm shift away from business as usual and the pursuit of profit at the expense of the social and environmental fabric of life The aim is to explore alternatives and to discuss some ways of achieving wellbeing whilst the focus is on human rights discrimination and outlining the notion of a planetary passport Chapter 2 makes a specific link between people and the planet as a basis for understanding the nature of hybridity and interconnectedness and the implications for ethics Chapter 3 focuses on building this planetary passport for social and environmental justice in order to enable people with complex needs to consider the consequences of either continuing to live the same way as before or making changes to the way that they live Meanwhile Chapter 4 does the same as the previous chapter but explores the political context of consumption and short term profit Chapter 5 examines the challenges and opportunities that come from explorations within a cross cultural learning community This includes a look at co creation and co determination Finally Chapter 6 ends with a look to the future and a potential new framework for people and the planet through a planetary passport

Mixed Methods and Cross Disciplinary Research Janet McIntyre-Mills, Norma R. A. Romm, 2019-07-12 This book uses mixed methods to extend the concept of wellbeing stocks to refer to dynamic ways of working with others It addresses metaphors and praxis for weaving together strands of experience The aim of the wellbeing stocks concept is to enable people to re evaluate economics and to become more aware of the way in which we neglect social and environmental aspects of life The pursuit of profit at the expense of people and the environment is a central problem for democracy and governance The vulnerability of cities is a symptom of the lack of balance between individual and collective needs This book explores the potential for cities specifically in the regions of Indonesia Africa and Australia to become more productive as sites for food and water security through more creative use of technology It highlights the need for partners that see food and security feasible at the household level if supports are provided at the community national and international level The book examines how these regions are affected by demographics climate change and people movements but also explores ways to establish an effective cultural ecosystem management

Transformation from Wall Street to Wellbeing Janet McIntyre-Mills, 2014-09-02 Transformation from Wall Street to Well being Joining up the dots through Participatory democracy and governance to mitigate the causes and adapt to the effects of climate change addresses accountable leadership supports collective interests ethical governance and fairness to future generations in order to develop systemic approaches relevant to these issues The humanistic focus whilst central addresses how we see ourselves in relation to the environment It explores cultural perspectives in developed and developing parts of the world where people have a closer connection with the natural environment in comparison to those who live in cities Furthermore the book discusses participatory action research to prefigure a means to hold the market to ensure that the use of resources that are necessary for the common good are accessible and equitable The essential systemic aim this book offers is to balance human needs with nature The research summarizes the discourses and the adaptive praxis in order to develop a bridge between cosmopolitan ethics and cosmopolitan governance It does this in the interest of supporting and using cultural designs for living that support quality of life and spans five core domains as explained by the author Overall this monograph helps evaluates the extent to which the introduced approaches enable the community to consider their perceived assets and risks and the
