Routes Travel And Translation In The Late Twentieth Century:

Routes James Clifford, 1997-04-21 When culture makes itself at home in motion where does an anthropologist stand In a follow up to The Predicament of Culture one of the defining books for anthropology in the last decade James Clifford takes the proper measure a moving picture of a world that doesn't stand still that reveals itself en route in the airport lounge and the parking lot as much as in the marketplace and the museum In this collage of essays meditations poems and travel reports Clifford takes travel and its difficult companion translation as openings into a complex modernity He contemplates a world ever more connected yet not homogeneous a global history proceeding from the fraught legacies of exploration colonization capitalist expansion immigration labor mobility and tourism Ranging from Highland New Guinea to northern California from Vancouver to London he probes current approaches to the interpretation and display of non Western arts and cultures Wherever people and things cross paths and where institutional forces work to discipline unruly encounters Clifford's concern is with struggles to displace stereotypes to recognize divergent histories to sustain postcolonial and tribal identities in contexts of domination and globalization Travel diaspora border crossing self location the making of homes away from home these are transcultural predicaments for the late twentieth century The map that might account for them the history of an entangled modernity emerges here as an unfinished series of paths and negotiations leading in many directions while returning again and again to the struggles and arts of cultural encounter the impossible inescapable tasks of translation

The SAGE Handbook of Tourism Studies Tazim Jamal, Mike Robinson, 2009-07-01 The strongest overview I have encountered of the scope and the current state of research across all the fields involved in advancing our understanding of tourism For its range of topics depth of analyses and distinction of its contributors nothing is comparable Professor Dean MacCannell University of California Davis The breadth of vision and sweep of accounts is remarkable and range of topics laudable a rare combination of the authoritative the challenging and stimulating Professor Mike Crang Durham University Tourism studies developed as a sub branch of older disciplines in the social sciences such as anthropology sociology and economics and newer applied fields of study in hospitality management civil rights and transport studies This Handbook is a sign of the maturity of the field It provides an essential resource for teachers and students to determine the roots key issues and agenda of tourism studies exploring The evolution and position of tourism studies The relationship of tourism to culture The ecology and economics of tourism Special events and destination management Methodologies of study Tourism and transport Tourism and heritage Tourism and postcolonialism Global tourist business operations Ranging from local to global issues and from questions of management to the ethical dilemmas of tourism this is a comprehensive critically informed constructively organized overview of the field It draws together an inter disciplinary group of contributors who are among the most celebrated names in the field and will be quickly recognized as a landmark in the new and expanding field of tourism studies

Postcolonial Imagination and Feminist Theology Pui-lan Kwok, 2005-01-01 The burgeoning field of postcolonial studies argues that most theology has been formed in dominant cultures laden intrinsically with imperializing structures. An essential task facing theology is thus to decolonize the mind and free Christianity from colonizing bias and structures. Here in this truly groundbreaking study, highly respected feminist theologian Kwok Pui-lan offers the first full-length theological treatment of what it means to do postcolonial feminist theology. She explains her methodological basis and explores several specific topics including Christology, pluralism, and creation.

Transfiguring Women in Late Twentieth-Century Japan James Welker, 2024-07-31

Transfiguring Women in Late Twentieth-Century Japan Feminists, Lesbians, and Girls Comics Artists and Fans examines three dynamic and overlapping communities of women and adolescent girls who challenged Japanese gender and sexual norms in the 1970s and 1980s. These spheres encompassed activists in the man ribu women's liberation movement, members of the rezubian lesbian community, and artists and readers of queer shjo manga girls comics. Individually and collectively, they found the normative understanding of the category women untenable and worked to redefine and expand its meaning by transfiguring ideas, images, and practices selectively appropriated from the West. They did so, however, while remaining firmly fixed on the local. Thus, for many, this ostensibly Western focus was not a turn away from Japan but integral to their understanding of being a woman within Japan. Following broad historical overviews of the man ribu, rezubian, and queer shjo manga spheres, the book takes a deeper look through the lenses of terminology, translation, and travel to offer a window onto how acts of transfiguration reshaped what it meant to be a woman in Japan. The work draws on a vast archive that encompasses early twentieth-century dictionaries, sexology texts, and literature, postwar women's and men's magazines, and pornography, translated feminist and lesbian texts, comics, and animation, and newsletters, fanzines, and other heretofore largely unexamined ephemera. The volume's characterization of the era is also greatly enriched by interviews with more than sixty individuals. Transfiguring Women in Late Twentieth-Century Japan demonstrates that the transfiguration of Western culture into something locally meaningful had tangible effects beyond newly re-created texts, practices, images, and ideas within the man ribu, rezubian, and queer shjo manga communities. The individuals and groups involved were themselves transformed. More broadly, their efforts forged new understandings of women in Japan, creating space for a greater number of public roles, not bound to being a mother or a wife, as well as a greater diversity of gender and sexual expression that reached far beyond the Japanese border.

Travel Narratives in Translation, 1750-1830 Alison Martin, Susan Pickford, 2013-05-07

This book examines how non-fictional travel accounts were rewritten, reshaped, and reoriented in translation between 1750 and 1850, a period that saw a sudden surge in the genre's popularity. It explores how these translations played a vital role in the transmission and circulation of knowledge about foreign peoples, lands, and customs in the Enlightenment and Romantic periods. The collection makes an important contribution to travel writing studies by looking beyond metaphors of mobility and cultural transfer to focus specifically on what happens to travelogues in translation. Chapters range from discussing essential differences between the original and translated text to relations between authors and translators from intra European narratives of Grand Tour travel to scientific voyages round the world and from established male travellers and translators to their historically less visible female counterparts Drawing on European travel writing in English French German Spanish and Portuguese the book charts how travelogues were selected for translation how they were reworked to acquire new aesthetic political or gendered identities and how they sometimes acquired a radically different character and content to meet the needs and expectations of an emergent international readership The contributors address aesthetic political and gendered aspects of travel writing in translation drawing productively on other disciplines and research areas that encompass aesthetics the history of science literary geography and the history of the book

Recreating First Contact Joshua A. Bell, Alison K. Brown, Robert J. Gordon, 2013-11-06

Recreating First Contact explores themes related to the proliferation of adventure travel which emerged during the early twentieth century and that were legitimized by their associations with popular views of anthropology During this period new transport and recording technologies particularly the airplane and automobile and small portable still and motion picture cameras were utilized by a variety of expeditions to document the last untouched places of the globe and bring them home to eager audiences These expeditions were frequently presented as first contact encounters and enchanted popular imagination The various narratives encoded in the articles books films exhibitions and lecture tours that these expeditions generated fed into pre existing stereotypes about racial and technological difference and helped to create them anew in popular culture Through an unpacking of expeditions and their popular wakes the essays 12 chapters a preface introduction and afterward trace the complex but obscured relationships between anthropology adventure travel and the cinematic imagination that the 1920s and 1930s engendered and how their myths have endured The book further explores the effects both positive and negative of such expeditions on the discipline of anthropology itself However in doing so this volume examines these impacts from a variety of national perspectives and thus through these different vantage points creates a more nuanced perspective on how expeditions were at once a global phenomenon but also culturally ordered

The Routledge Handbook of Memory Activism Yifat Gutman, Jenny Wüstenberg, 2023-02-15

This Handbook is the first systematic effort to map the fast growing phenomenon of memory activism and to delineate a new field of research that lies at the intersection of memory and social movement studies From Charlottesville to Cape Town from Santiago to Sydney we have recently witnessed protesters demanding that symbols of racist or colonial pasts be dismantled and that we talk about histories that have long been silenced But such events are only the most visible instances of grassroots efforts to influence the meaning of the past in the present Made up of more than 80 chapters that encapsulate the rich diversity of scholarship and practice of memory activism by assembling different disciplinary traditions methodological approaches and empirical evidence from across the globe this Handbook establishes important questions and their theoretical implications arising from the social political and economic reality of memory activism Memory activism is multifaceted takes place in a variety of settings and has diverse outcomes but it is always crucial to understanding the constitution and transformation of our societies past and present This volume will serve as a guide and establish new analytic frameworks for scholars students policymakers journalists and activists alike What Women Lose María Cristina Rodríguez,2005 This book examines novels by women from the anglophone francophone and hispanophone Caribbean that focus on marginalized female characters who migrate to metropolitan centers The novels studied require cultural historical sociological anthropological and geographic readings to fully explore the complexity of the characters as they confront the varied and changing challenges hardships and pleasures of the diaspora The critical approach focuses on the characters attempts to hold on to acceptable realities by assuming the appropriate interpersonal social and cultural masks that allow them to find a sense of significance in their interior domestic and community lives

Beyond Dichotomies Elisabeth Mudimbe-Boyi,2012-02-01 Beyond Dichotomies examines literary texts cultural production and concrete local practices within the context of modernity and globalization by focusing on the ways in which some societies confront the complexity of cultures reflected in new forms of knowledge narratives and subjectivities The contributors explore how particular societies negotiate the relations between the global and the local and use a geographical comparative perspective combined with an interdisciplinary approach to offer a diversity of views and illuminate the cultural impact of globalization on different societies around the world Africa Asia Europe and the Americas These societies face complex questions regarding people s histories identities and cultures that embody the ambivalence contradictions and anxieties generated by the process of globalization The contributors provide a compelling conclusion for a rethinking and reconfiguration of cultures and intercultural relations in today s global world in which dichotomized representations coexist with a discourse of globalization Translocality ,2010-01-25 This volume discusses globalising processes from the perspective of the humanities and social sciences It focuses on the global south notably the Middle East Asia and Africa Densely researched case studies examine a variety of approaches for their potential to understand connecting processes on different scales The studies seek to overcome the main traps of the globalisation paradigm such as its occidental bias its notion of linear expansion its simplifying dichotomy between local and global and an often found lack of historical depth They elaborate the asymmetries mobilities opportunities and barriers involved in globalising processes Their new perspective on these processes is captured by the concept of translocality which aims at integrating a variety of theoretical and methodological approaches from different disciplines Cultural Mobilities Between China and Italy Valentina Pedone,Gaoheng Zhang,2023-10-11 This book offers a critical analysis of global mobilities across China and Italy in history In three periods in the twentieth century new patterns of physical mobilities and cultural contact were established between the two countries which were either novel at the time of their emergence or impactful on subsequent periods The first two chapters provide overviews of writings by Italians in China and by Chinese in Italy in the twentieth century The remaining chapters cover Republican China's relationships with Italy and Italian Fascist colonialism in China during the 1920s 1930s Italian travelers to China during the Cold War from the 1950s to the 1970s migrations between China and Italy during the 2000s 2010s In analyzing these cultural mobilities this book opens a new line of inquiry in Chinese Italian Cultural Studies which has been dominated by historical study and contributes a significant case study to the scholarship on global cultural mobilities

Multi-ethnic Britain 2000+ Lars Eckstein, 2008 Multi Ethnic Britain 2000 provides an encompassing survey of artistic responses to the changes in the British cultural climate in the early years of the 21st century It traces topical reactions to new forms of racism and religious fundamentalism to legal as well as illegal immigration and to the threat of global terror yet it also highlights new forms of intercultural communication and convivial exchange Framed by contributions from novelists Patrick Neate and Rameez Balasubramanyam Multi Ethnic Britain 2000 showcases how artistic representations in literature film music and the visual arts reflect and respond to social and political discourses and how they contribute to our understanding of the current trans cultural situation in Britain The contributions in this volume cover a wide range of writers such as Graham Swift Ian McEwan Zadie Smith Jackie Kay Nadeem Aslam Gautam Malkani Nirpal Dhaliwal and Monica Ali films ranging from Gurinder Chadha's Bend It Like Beckham and Bride and Prejudice to Michael Winterbottom's In This World and Alfonso Cuarón's Children of Men paintings and photography by innovative black and Asian British Artists and dubstep music

Material Culture in Transit Zainabu Jallo, 2023-03-31 Material Culture in Transit Theory and Practice constellates curators and scholars actively working with material culture within academic and museal institutions through theory and practice The rich collection of essays critically addresses the multivalent ways in which mobility reshapes the characteristics of artefacts specifically under prevailing issues of representation and colonial liabilities The volume attests to material culture as central to understanding the repercussions of problematic histories and proposes novel ways to address them It offers valuable reading for scholars of anthropology museum studies history and others with an interest in material culture

Empire, Ideology, Mass Violence: The Long 20th Century in Comparative Perspective Tobias Hof, 2016-09-20 Despite the vast literature on genocide and mass violence during the 19th and 20th century one question still haunts historians and the wider public alike Why do ordinary men use extreme violence against fellow human beings Empire Ideology Violence The Long 20th Century in Comparative Perspective offers innovative methods and interdisciplinary approaches to the study of extreme violence in the long 20th century By looking at case studies from different regions and time periods the contributors shed more light on the social political and economic contexts in which humans are inclined to use extreme forms of violence Topics in the volume include case studies from Asia Africa Europe the Ottoman Empire and the Nazi Third Reich
