Wartime cinema, Englishness and propaganda Ina Habermann,2025-09-30 This book provides a fresh analysis of the wartime work of Michael Powell and Emeric Pressburger and their team the Archers It argues that in their earlier work Powell and Pressburger should be seen as middlebrow storytellers whose stories explore national identity in times of war Their wartime work is discussed in four phases the first phase covers their contributions to the phoney war the second traces their engagement with the people s war The third phase sees the Archers move beyond propaganda towards melodramas of Englishness The fourth phase dramatizes post war preoccupations with an increasing focus on memory and trauma The book also looks at Pressburger s later work including his two published novels Killing a Mouse on Sunday and The Glass Pearls

Asia in Western fiction Robin Winks,2017-03-01 Any reader who has ever visited Asia knows that the great bulk of Western language fiction about Asian cultures turns on stereotypes This book a collection of essays explores the problem of entering Asian societies through Western fiction since this is the major port of entry for most school children university students and most adults In the thirteenth century serious attempts were made to understand Asian literature for its own sake Hau Kioou Chooan a typical Chinese novel was quite different from the wild and magical pseudo Oriental tales European perceptions of the Muslim world are centuries old originating in medieval Christendom s encounter with Islam in the age of the Crusades There is explicit and sustained criticism of medieval mores and values in Scott s novels set in the Middle Ages and this is to be true of much English language historical fiction of the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries Even mediocre novels take on momentary importance because of the pervasive power of India The awesome remote and inaccessible Himalayas inevitably became for Western writers an idealised setting for novels of magic romance and high adventure and for travellers tales that read like fiction Chinese fictions flourish in many guises Most contemporary Hong Kong fiction reinforced corrupt mandarins barbaric punishments and heathens Of the novels about Japan published after 1945 two may serve to frame a discussion of Japanese behaviour as it could be observed or imagined by prisoners of war Black Fountains and Three Bamboos Life-span Developmental Psychology Kathleen A. McCluskey,2013-10-22 Life Span Developmental Psychology Historical and Generational Effects provides theoretical and methodological frameworks and examples in history graded influences on life span development The book is a compilation of select research papers by sociologists and psychologists in the study of the biological and environmental determinants of development The topics discussed in the text include the historical and cohort effects the aims methods and problems of research on historical constancy and change the relationships between history graded events and normative age graded ontogenetic events and the investigation of the developing individual in a changing world Empirical samples of history graded influence studies of various age cohorts from the United States and other countries are presented as well Psychologists and sociologists will find the book very insightful

Immortal Last Words Terry Breverton,2013-09-03 Immortal Last Words is a fascinating diverse collection of history's most uplifting entertaining and thought provoking dying remarks and final farewells The 370 entries in this book have been drawn from some of history's greatest statesmen poets scientists novelists and warriors the eminent men and women who have shaped events over the last four and a half millennia and whose final recorded words have often inspired great deeds or shed light on the nature of the human condition There are also entries from less well known individuals who did not make such an impact on history but whose dying words are equally noteworthy as they encapsulate the spirit of the times or simply reflect the character of the speaker And finally the pages of this book contain the last words of some of most ignoble personalities in history the monsters and maniacs whose final defiant utterances prompt us to reflect on the nature of evil and man's inhumanity to man Arranged chronologically from antiquity to the present day each entry is accompanied by contextual information giving a brief biography of the author and an explanation of the circumstances that gave rise to the quotation Some of the sentiments expressed are unbelievably sad while others are optimistic some final words have become famous while others have remained obscure but all reflect the follies and greatness of mankind its heroes and villains war and peace and the absolute power of language to change our feelings and challenge our minds

A Companion to Jean Renoir Alastair Phillips,Ginette Vincendeau,2013-04-11 A Companion to Jean Renoir An extraordinary collection of essays that more than fulfills the aims of its editors Alastair Phillips and Ginette Vincendeau The essays offer exciting original work from younger scholars as well as long established authorities all of which offer invaluable insights into the films writings and life of Jean Renoir Receiving particular attention are questions about the singularity or multiplicity of what the editors call the many Renoirs French American Indian even transnational especially from the early 1930s through the early 1960s Whether mining relatively unexplored archive materials deploying newly current methodological approaches interrogating one of a wide range of topics and issues or engaging in close textual analysis the contributors construct a tantalizing series of innovative road maps for future researchers to pursue Richard Abel University of Michigan Alastair Phillips and Ginette Vincendeau have brought together essays that bring new perspectives to both the best known and the lesser known of Renoir's films Both French cinema specialists and viewers new to Renoir's work will find much of interest in this outstanding collection. Judith Mayne, Ohio State University, dubbed simply the best director by François Truffaut. Jean Renoir is a towering figure in world film history. This exhaustive survey of his work and life features a comprehensive analysis of his films from the multiple critical perspectives of the world's leading Renoir scholars. Renoir's career spanned four decades and four countries and included an extraordinary body of films, some of which La Grande illusion (1937) and La Règle du jeu (1939) are universally recognized masterpieces. Fathered by the celebrated painter Pierre-Auguste Renoir, the filmmaker lived through much of the twentieth century, beginning his career in the silent era and ending it in full Technicolor. His films are notable for their paradoxical combination of strong internal coherence and thematic breadth and diversity, and they provide a rich source for today's scholars of film history and French culture. This handbook, the largest volume on Renoir ever produced in the English language, ranges in scope from extreme close-up analysis of individual films to long-shot explorations of his aesthetics and the social and cultural contexts in which he worked. The most ambitious critical study of Renoir to date, this book will appeal to film enthusiasts as much as scholars and specialists.

The Life and Works of Ruskin Bond Meena

Khorana, 2003-05-30 Ruskin Bond is known internationally as one of India's most prolific writers in English for children, young adults, and adults. This literary biography analyzes the impact of personal, social, geographical, political, and literary influences on Bond's worldview, aesthetic principles, and writings. Connecting the development of Bond's writing career over the past 50 years to the evolution of the publishing industry in India, Khorana details the author's pioneering work in the field of children's and young adult literature and his contribution to diasporic and postcolonial/post-independence literatures. She concludes that it is Bond's versatile, original, and elegant writing in a variety of genres that continue to endear him to readers around the world. According to the author, despite Bond's British background, he does not write about India from a Eurocentric perspective. Having lived the majority of his life in India, he knows the country as an insider, writing with an authenticity and emotional engagement about the land and the people of the Himalayas and small-town India. Khorana analyzes his novels and short stories and highlights his juxtaposition of his protagonists' individual dramas against larger social, moral, and metaphysical issues. In addition, she reveals how the autobiographical and regional elements in Bond's work provide insight into universal themes such as the tension between past and present, city life versus rural values, the dignity of ordinary folk, preservation of the environment, and living in harmony with nature.
