

Nature and supernatural are not two separate worlds, but different expressions of the same reality.

—Philip Yancey

Philip Yancey says, "I am where you are... an ordinary person trying to figure things out. I'm a human being: I love, I weep, my friends die, I experience beauty, I live. And as I live, I try to figure out if there is a God, and what difference would that make... This books comes out of my own search and is written specifically on behalf of those who live in the borderlands of belief – the region between belief and unbelief."

In Rumors of Another World, Philip Yancey asks, "Is the visible world around us all there is?" and "What rumors of another world might it convey?" He then examines the apparent contradictions. If this is God's world, why doesn't it look more like it? Why is this planet so messed up? Finally, the book considers how two worlds – the visible and invisible, natural and supernatural – might interact and affect our daily lives.

Throughout, Yancey invites readers to explore the difference the answers make in coming to grips with our lives.

Philip Yancey has written twelve award-winning books, with four selling over a million copies each, including What's So Amazing About Grace? He and his wife live in Colorado.
