Competition Vs. Stability: Oligopolistic Banking System with Run Risk Mr. Damien Capelle, 2021-04-23 This paper develops a model where large financial intermediaries subject to systemic runs internalize the effect of their leverage on aggregate risk returns and asset prices Near the steady state they restrict leverage to avoid the risk of a run which gives rise to an accelerator effect For large adverse shocks the system enters a zone with high leverage and possibly runs The length of time the system remains in this zone depends on the degree of concentration through a franchise value price drop and recapitalization channels The speed of entry of new banks after a collapse has a stabilizing effect

Consumption Risk Sharing, a Long-run Perspective Mr.Zhaogang Qiao,2010-03-01 This paper estimates an empirical nonstationary panel regression model that tests long run consumption risk sharing across a sample of OECD and emerging market EM countries This is in contrast to the existing literature on consumption risk sharing which is mainly about risks at business cycle frequency Since our methodology focuses on identifying cointegrating relationships while allowing for arbitrary short run dynamics we can obtain a consistent estimate of long run risk sharing while disregarding any short run nuisance factors Our results show that long run risk sharing in OECD countries increased more than that in EM countries during the past two decades
