the Celtic Tiger Change and Development in Rural Ireland Proinnsias Breathnach, Mary E. Cawley, 1986 Sixties Ireland Mary E. Daly, 2016-03-24 A radical new perspective revealing the truth behind the making of modern Ireland from economic rebirth to entering the EEC Church, state and social science in Ireland Peter Murray, Maria Feeney, 2016-11-18 The immense power the Catholic Church once wielded in Ireland has considerably diminished over the last fifty years During the same period the Irish state has pursued new economic and social development goals by wooing foreign investors and throwing the state's lot in with an ever widening European integration project How a less powerful church and a more assertive state related to one another during the key third quarter of the twentieth century is the subject of this book Drawing on newly available material it looks at how social science which had been a church monopoly was taken over and bent to new purposes by politicians and civil servants This case study casts new light on wider processes of change and the story features a strong and somewhat surprising cast of characters ranging from Sean Lemass and T K Whitaker to Archbishop John Charles McQuaid and Father Denis Fahey An Anthropology of the Irish in Belgium Sean O' Dubhghaill, 2019-07-22 The first anthropological account of the Irish diaspora in Europe in the 21st century this book provides a culture centric examination of the Irish diaspora Focusing less on an abstract or technical definition of Irish self identification the author allows members of this group to speak through vignettes and interview excerpts providing an anthropological lens that allows the reader to enter a frame of self reference This book therefore provides architecture to understand how diasporic communities might understand their own identities in a new way and how they might reconsider the role played by mobility in changing expressions of identity Providing firsthand experiential and narrative insight into the Irish diaspora in Europe this volume promises to contribute an anthropological perspective to historical accounts of the Irish overseas theoretical works in Irish studies and sociological examinations of Irish identity and diaspora Two Paths, One Purpose : Voluntary Action in Ireland, North and South Nicholas Acheson, 2004 Understanding Contemporary Ireland Brendan Bartley, Rob Kitchin, 2006-12-20 This is an account of Ireland in the twenty first century and the remarkable economic and social transformations that have occurred since the late 1980s The Celtic Tiger phenomenon made Ireland the focus of much attention in recent years Other countries have openly declared that they want to follow the Irish economic and social model Yet there is no book that gives a comprehensive spatially informed analysis of the Irish experience This book fills that gap Divided into four parts planning and development the economy the political landscape and population and social issues the book explains a particular aspect of Ireland and Irish life The authors reveal how the transformations that have occurred are uneven and unequal in their effects across the country and highlight the challenges now facing Irish society and policy makers Peasant Petitions R. Houston, 2014-07-02 This book examines the structures and texture of rural social relationships using one type of document found in abundance over all the four component parts of Britain and Ireland petitions from tenants to their landlords The book offers unexpected angles on many aspects of society and economy on estates in the 17th and 18th centuries The Best Are Leaving Clair Wills, 2015-02-09 Clair Wills's The Best Are Leaving is a study of representations of Irish emigrant culture and of Irish immigrants in Britain Farming in Modern Irish Literature Nicholas Grene, 2021-08-05 This innovative study analyzes the range of representation of farming in Irish literature in the period since independence partition in 1922 as Ireland moved from a largely agricultural to a developed urban society. In many different forms including poetry, drama, fiction, and autobiography, writers have made literary capital by looking back at their rural backgrounds even where those may be a generation back. The first five chapters examine some of the key themes: the impact of inheritance on family in the patriarchal system where there could only be one male heir; the struggles for survival in the poorest regions of the West of Ireland; the uses of childhood farming memories, whether idyllic or traumatic; and the representation of communities challenging the homogeneous idealizing images of the Literary Revival. The impact of modernization on successive generations into the twenty-first century. The final three chapters are devoted to three major writers in whose work farming is central: Patrick Kavanagh, the small farmer who had to find an individual voice to express his own unique experience; John McGahern, in whose fiction the life of the farm is always posited as alternative to a rootless urban milieu; and Seamus Heaney, who reimagined his farming childhood in so many different modes throughout his career. Farming in Modern Irish Literature yields original insights into the literary iconography of rural Ireland and its interplay with social and cultural history, opening up fresh vistas on the achievements of Irish writers in different genres, styles, and historical eras.
