Rural Development In China A World Bank Research Publication:

Impacts of Climate Change and Economic and Health Crises on the Agriculture and Food Sectors Martinho, Vítor João Pereira Domingues, 2022-02-18 The agricultural and food sectors as well as other economic activities follow the current trends verified in economies and societies on the technological level Agriculture and the food sector are decisive in times of crisis to mitigate the consequences of unemployment generated by adverse cycles A developed agriculture is fundamental to the sustainable economic development of any country as it allows the supply of goods to satisfy basic needs at lower prices Impacts of Climate Change and Economic and Health Crises on the Agriculture and Food Sectors provides a forum for discussing contemporary trends in the agricultural and food sectors The themes presented in this publication make it possible to approximate the various and current dimensions related to food production Covering topics such as food security labor drivers and sustainable development this book is an excellent resource for farmers SME owners students and professors of higher education researchers public institutions policymakers and academicians China's Economy Into the New Century John Wong, 2002 In the last two decades of the 20th century China stood out as the world's star performer in economic growth thanks to the market oriented reform that started in 1978 At the turn of the century the Chinese economy faces a series of challenges to sustain its growth and stability The two decade long rapid growth has effectively strengthened China's economic power and raised its people's standard of living It has also transformed China from a centrally planned command economy into a OC socialist market economyOCO which operates increasingly in line with capitalist norms Major structural problems however remain and are growing acute Weakness in the fiscal system breeds rent seeking at the local level and causes tension in the state budget The flawed financial institutions and the biased ownership structure continue to distort resource allocation and cause huge efficiency losses Inter provincial and inter regional disparity is reaching a level that threatens national unity and social stability As China joins the World Trade Organization and becomes more integrated into the world economy it urgently needs to improve the domestic business environment and to beef up indigenous industries for foreign competition This volume is a collection of papers written by scholars at the East Asian Institute to address those problems during the period 1999OCO2001 The authors with their knowledge and experience in China studies provide in depth observations and professional analyses of some of the most important issues for the Chinese economy at the turn of the century Some of the observations and analyses lead to enlightening policy recommendations The solid scholarship combined with the policy orientation of these papers will appeal greatly to researchers in academia governments and other institutions The policy oriented and fact based analyses will also be of interest to practitioners in business including business consultants World Development Report 2008 World Bank, 2007-10-15 The world's demand for food is expected to double within the next 50 years while the natural resources that sustain agriculture will become increasingly scarce degraded and vulnerable to the effects of climate change In many poor countries agriculture accounts for at least 40 percent of GDP and 80 percent of employment At the same time about 70 percent of the world's poor live in rural areas and most depend on agriculture for their livelihoods World Development Report 2008 seeks to assess where when and how agriculture can be an effective instrument for economic development especially development that favors the poor It examines several broad questions How has agriculture changed in developing countries in the past 20 years What are the important new challenges and opportunities for agriculture Which new sources of agricultural growth can be captured cost effectively in particular in poor countries with large agricultural sectors as in Africa How can agricultural growth be made more effective for poverty reduction How can governments facilitate the transition of large populations out of agriculture without simply transferring the burden of rural poverty to urban areas How can the natural resource endowment for agriculture be protected How can agriculture's negative environmental effects be contained This year's report marks the 30th year the World Bank has been publishing the World Development Report

The World Bank Research Program 2001 World Bank, World Bank Staff, 2001-01-01 This publication is a compilation of reports on research projects initiated under way or completed in fiscal year 2001 July 1 2000 through June 30 2001 The abstracts cover 150 research projects from the World Bank and grouped under 11 major headings including poverty and social development health and population education labor and employment environment infrastructure and urban development and agriculture and rural development The abstracts detail the questions addressed the analytical methods used the findings to date and their policy implications Each abstract identifies the expected completion date of each project the research team and reports or publications produced

China's Logic: The Balance Development Lixing Zou, 2017-10-10 The law of balance is not just a motivating power but also serves the purpose of development How did human society develop in a balanced manner in history How is China's Modernization impacted by the law of equilibrium How does the law of balance affect China's economic and trade relations with other countries This book attempts to answer these questions and more It applies the balance law methodology to systematically analyze major factors influencing the sustainable development of the Chinese economy and society and to discuss the balanced way of thinking market credit innovation energy and international collaboration that boost sustainable development

While the theoretical system of socialism with Chinese characteristics needs a balanced development perspective solving the problem of imbalance requires a balanced approach as well as a balanced interaction between man nature and society which is the key factor for economic development in the 21st century At the Frontlines of Development Indermit S. Gill,Todd Pugatch,2005-04-01 In At the Frontlines of Development former World Bank country directors recount their experiences both as managers of the World Bank s programs in global economic hotspots of the 1990s as well as throughout their careers in development economics These essays detail among many stories of development in the 1990s how China and India lifted hundreds of millions out of poverty while Russia collapsed how Bosnia and Herzegovina and Mozambique remade their war ravaged economies and how Thailand Turkey and Argentina fell into financial crisis These remarkable stories told in first person by the country directors who were there to witness them provide candid assessments of development in the 1990s what succeeded what failed and what lessons emerged This book is part of a larger effort undertaken by the World Bank to understand the development experience of the 1990s an extraordinary eventful decade Each of the project s three volumes serves a different purpose Economic Growth in the 1990s provides comprehensive analysis of the decade s development experience while Development Challenges in the 1990s offers insights on the practical concerns faced by policymakers

Inequality in the Developing World Carlos Gradín,Murray Leibbrandt,Finn Tarp,2021 An analysis of the elevated level of contemporary global economic inequality its measurement trends over time and geography and the policy challenges thrown up by them with a focus on mainly five countries Brazil China India South Africa and Mexico Ethnic Minorities and Regional Development in Asia Huhua Cao,2009 The global development experience of the past century has shown that economic growth cannot be sustained without taking into consideration the social and political development of vulnerable populations including the struggle for minority rights Within this context this volume argues for the support of an interdisciplinary discussion that aims to link studies surrounding the development of minorities in Asia Lessons Learned from the Dragon (China) and the Elephant (India): 2004-2005 Annual Report International Food Policy Research Institute,2005-11-14 Community Participation in China Janelle Plummer,John G. Taylor,2013 This important volume provides a source of information on the key issues including constraints and capacity building necessary to implement participatory approaches in China today A wealth of case studies are provided by principal Chinese academics and practitioners in forestry natural resource management rural development irrigation and poverty alleviation At the core the book is about strengthening local government as a key player in the development of participatory initiatives It is an invaluable text for development practitioners donors researchers and students seeking to understand the opportunities and constraints for participation in China and for those working to institutionalize participatory processes in a complex rural context Developmental Dilemmas Peter Ho,2005-05-24 Developmental Dilemmas singles out land as an object of study and places it in the context of one of the world s largest and most populous countries undergoing institutional reform the People's Republic of China The book demonstrates that private property protected by law the principle of getting the prices right and the emergence of effectively functioning markets are the outcome of a given society's historical development and institutional fabric Peter Ho argues that the successful creation of new institutions hinges in part on choice and timing in relation to the particular constellation of societal economic political and cultural parameters Disregarding these could result in rising inequality bad land stewardship and the eruption of land related grievances

Sustaining our Environment for Better Future Abdelnaser Omran, Odile Schwarz-Herion, 2019-08-05 This book covers a variety of topics regarding environmental practices in our day to day lives as well as topics concerning sustainable development as a broader concept embracing ecological social and economic aspects to improve the quality of life for people around the world Starting with the traditional controversy between the neoclassical economy and sustainable economy which may be overcome by scientific progress due to more intensive scientific studies of the sustainability paradigm the book proceeds to discuss various problems and challenges regarding environmental protection and sustainable development in different countries and on different continents This includes analyses of recent sometimes fatal mining disasters in South and North America challenges and opportunities for rural development in Africa and Australia an exploration of the role of women for sustainable development in Palestine water safety and water security issues in Asia and Australia the environmental exploitation of popular tourism destinations like Acapulco and deforestation in Malaysia suggesting innovative approaches to turn challenges into opportunities to effectively tackle these problems Other topics addressed involve sustainable energy creation for future generations a research survey among Romanian students on sustainable consumption behavior validity testing for a heat transfer model in a greenhouse and a case study on sustainability risk management practices at Malaysia's environmentally sensitive companies The book closes with an examination of highly digitalized Smart Cities as a potentially valuable complement to conventional urban and rural lifestyles in connection with achieving the UN Sustainable Development Goals SDGs

Social Development in Africa, 1950-1985 Arega Yimam, 1990 Agricultural Development in the World Periphery Vicente Pinilla, Henry Willebald, 2018-02-06 This book brings together analysis on the conditions of agricultural sectors in countries and regions of the world's peripheries from a wide variety of international contributors The contributors to this volume proffer an understanding of the processes of agricultural transformations and their interaction with the overall economies of Africa Asia and Latin America Looking at the nineteenth and twentieth centuries the onset of modern economic growth the book studies the relationship between agriculture and other economic sectors exploring the use of resources land labour capital and the influence of institutional and technological factors in the long run performance of agricultural activities Pinilla and Willebald challenge the notion that agriculture played a negligible role in promoting economic development in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries when the impulse towards industrialization in the developing world was more impactful
