Forager-Traders in South and Southeast Asia Kathleen D. Morrison, Laura L. Junker, 2002-12-05 In both South and Southeast Asia many upland groups make a living in whole or part through gathering and hunting producing not only subsistence goods but commodities destined for regional and even world markets These forager traders have had an ambiguous position in ethnographic analysis variously represented as relics degraded hunter gatherers or recent upstarts Forager Traders in South and Southeast Asia adopts a multidisciplinary approach to these groups presenting a series of comparative case studies that analyse the long term histories of hunting gathering trading power relations and regional social and biological interactions in this critical region This book is a fascinating and important addition to the current revisionist debate and a unique attempt to re conceptualize our knowledge of forager traders within the surrounding context of complex polities populations and economies in South and Southeast Asia Plantations, Proletarians and Peasants in Colonial Asia H. Hierarchy and Egalitarianism Tamara Gunasekera,2020-08-20 A comprehensive analysis of stratification in rural Sri Lanka taking into account the hierarchies of class status and power Communities and Markets in Economic Development Masahiko Aoki,The late Yujiro Hayami,2001-05-31 This book explores the role of community in facilitating the transition to market relationships in economic development and in controlling and sustaining local public goods such as irrigation forests grazing land and fishing grounds Previously it was customary to classify economic systems in terms of varying combinations of state and market control of resource allocation In contrast this book recognizes community as the third major element of economic systems This new approach also departs from the conventional view that markets and community norms should be treated as mutually exclusive means of organizing economic activity instead clarifying the situations in which they may become complementary Further discussion focuses on the conditions under which management of local commons can and should be delegated to local communities rather than subjected to the control of central government These and other issues are investigated by twenty one leading scholars from economic history development economics agricultural economics and institutional economics The resulting volume is the latest in a set of four books about East Asian developmental experiences co sponsored by the Economic Institute of the World Bank and the Stanford Institute of Economic Policy Research It will appeal to economists and other social scientists with an interest in economic development history comparative systems and institutional economics

Ancient Rights and Future Comfort Peter Robb,2013-10-31 This book analyses the character of British rule in nineteenth century India by focusing on the underlying ideas and the practical repercussions of agrarian policy It argues that the great rent law debate and the Bengal Tenancy Act of 1885 helped constitute a revolution in the effective aims of government and in the colonial ability to interfere in India but that they did so alongside a continuing weakness of understanding and in effective local control In particular the book considers the importance of notions of historical rights and economic progress to the false categorisations made of agrarian structure It shows that the Tenancy Act helped to widen social disparities in rural Bihar and to create political interests on the land Dependent Agency in the Global Health Regime Emma-Louise Anderson,Amy S. Patterson,2016-11-09 This volume examines how local actors respond to Africa's high dependence on donor health funds. It focuses on the large infusion of donor money to address HIV and AIDS into Malawi and Zambia and the subsequent slow down in that funding after 2009. How do local people respond to this dynamic aid architecture and the myriad of opportunities and constraints that accompany it? This book conceptualizes dependent agency and the condition in which local actors can simultaneously act and be dependent and investigates conditions under which dependent agency occurs. Drawing upon empirical data from Malawi and Zambia collected between 2005 and 2014, the work interrogates the nuanced strategies of dependent agency, performances of compliance, extraversion and resistance below the line. The findings elucidate the dynamic interactions between actors which often occur off stage but which undergird macro level development processes. Institutions and Ideologies David Arnold, Peter Robb, 2013-02-01

Sexuality, Obscenity and Community C. Gupta, 2002-05-30 Through analysis of an impressive array of low and high Hindu literatures, particularly pamphlets, tracts, newspapers and archival data, Gupta explores the emerging discourse of gender and sexuality which was essential to the development of notions of Hindu communality and nationalism in the colonial period. The book offers an exceptionally nuanced account of Hindi gender politics. The Origins of Industrial Capitalism in India Rajnarayan Chandavarkar, 1994 The first major study of the relationship between labour and capital in India's economic development in the early twentieth century. The author considers the spread of capitalism and the growth of the cotton textile industry. In the Shadows of the Tropics James S. Duncan, 2016-05-23 In this original work, James Duncan explores the transformation of Ceylon during the mid nineteenth century into one of the most important coffee growing regions of the world and investigates the consequent ecological disaster which erased coffee from the island. Using this fascinating case study by way of illustration, In the Shadows of the Tropics reveals the spatial unevenness and fragmentation of modernity through a focus on modern governmentality and biopower. It argues that the practices of colonial power and the differences that race and tropical climates were thought to make were central to the working out of modern governmental rationalities. In this context, the usefulness of Foucault's notions of biopower, discipline and governmentality are examined. The work contributes an important rural focus to current work on studies of governmentality in geography and offers a welcome non-state dimension by considering the role of the plantation economy and individual capitalists in the lives and deaths of labourers, the destabilization of subsistence farming and the aggressive re-territorialization of populations from India to Ceylon. Bibliographie Internationale de Sociologie 1987 British Library of Political and Economic Science, 1991 IBSS is the essential tool for librarians, university departments, research institutions and any public or private institution whose work requires access to up-to-date and comprehensive knowledge on the social sciences. The Economy of Modern India, 1860-1970 B. R. Tomlinson, 1996-10-24 This book presents the first comprehensive account of the history of economic growth in modern India Environmental Resources Use and Challenges in Contemporary Southeast Asia Mario Ivan Lopez, Jafar Suryomenggolo, 2018-05-17 This edited volume introduces dynamic approaches to the study of Southeast Asia's environmental diversity from different disciplinary perspectives at the interface between the natural and social sciences. It brings together research on the region's environmental resource use and shared ecological challenges in the context of present day globalization to offer insights for possible future directions. The book introduces unique approaches to the study of Southeast Asia's environmental changes and resource management under the influence of intensifying economic change in the region. It also examines the slow erosion of Southeast Asia's rich environment and addresses serious issues such as the decrease in biodiversity and tropical forests and the degradation of peat lands. At the same time it discusses the social issues that are tied to energy dependent growth and have intensified over the last two decades. It also analyzes the new roadmaps being created to protect, conserve and manage the environment. By investigating the many ecological issues surrounding us, the volume brings to light the constant struggles we face while trying to develop a more inclusive and equitable approach to natural resources governance. This volume is relevant for students, academics and researchers who have an interest in the Southeast Asian environment and the way in which we use and interact with it Guide to Indian Periodical Literature, 1987
