Chinese Characteristics Ping Zhu, Hui Faye Xiao, 2021-12-28 The year 1995 when the Fourth World Conference on Women was held in Beijing marks a historical milestone in the development of the Chinese feminist movement In the decades that followed three distinct trends emerged first there was a rise in feminist NGOs in mainland China and a surfacing of LGBTQ movements second social and economic developments nurtured new female agency creating a vibrant women oriented cultural milieu in China third in response to ethnocentric Western feminism some Chinese feminist scholars and activists recuperated the legacies of socialist China's state feminism and gender policies in a new millennium These trends have brought Chinese women unprecedented choices resources opportunities pitfalls challenges and even crises In this timely volume Zhu and Xiao offer an examination of the ways in which Chinese feminist ideas have developed since the mid 1990s By juxtaposing the plural feminisms with Chinese characteristics they both underline the importance of integrating Chinese culture history and tradition in the discussions of Chinese feminisms and stress the difference between the plethora of contemporary Chinese feminisms and the singular state feminism The twelve chapters in this interdisciplinary collection address the theme of feminisms with Chinese characteristics from different perspectives rendered from lived experiences historical reflections theoretical ruminations and cultural and sociopolitical critiques painting a panoramic picture of Chinese feminisms in the age of globalization

Women and Revolution Lydia Sargent, 1981 Women and Revolution deals with contemporary feminist political theory and practice It is a debate concerning the importance of patriarchy and sexism in industrialized societies are sexual differences and kin relations as critical to social outcome as economic relations What is the dynamic between class and sex Is one or the other dominant How do they interact What are the implications for social change In The Unhappy Marriage of Marxism and Feminism Hartmann argues that class and patriarchy are equally important and that neither a narrow feminism nor an economist Marxism will suffice to help us understand or change modern society instead we need a theory that can integrate the two analyses
