A FILM BY M FRITZ LANG

M Criterion Collection:

M Anton Kaes, 2021-03-25 Fritz Lang's M 1931 is an undisputed classic of world cinema. Lang considered it his most lasting work. Peter Lorre's extraordinary performance as the childlike misfit Hans Beckert was one of the most striking of film debuts and it made him an international star. Lang's vision of a city gripped with fear, haunted by surveillance and total mobilization is still remarkably powerful today. And M resonates too in the serial killer genre which is so prominent in contemporary cinema. M speaks to us as a timeless classic but also as a Weimar film that has too often been isolated from its political and cultural context. In this groundbreaking book, Anton Kaes reconnects M's much studied formal brilliance to its significance as an event in 1931 Germany, recapturing the film's extraordinary social and symbolic energy. Interweaving close reading with cultural history, Kaes reconstitutes M as a crucial modernist artwork. In addition, he analyzes Joseph Losey's 1951 film noir remake and in an appendix publishes for the first time M's missing scene. Monstrous Liminality Robert G. Beghetto, 2022-01-24 This book examines the transformation of the figure of the stranger in the literature of the modern age in terms of liminality. As a spectral monster that has a paradoxical and liminal relationship to both the sacred and the secular, the figure of the modern stranger has played a role in both adapting and shaping a culturally determined understanding of the self and the other. With the advent of modernity, the stranger, the monster, and the spectre became interconnected. Haunting the edges of reason while also being absorbed into normal society, all three together with the cyborg manifest the vulnerability of an age that is fearful of the return of the repressed. Yet these figures can also become reappropriated as positive symbols able to navigate between the dangerous and chaotic elements that threaten society while serving as precarious and ironic symbols of hope or sustainability. The book shows the explanatory potential of focusing on the resacralizing in a paradoxical and liminal manner of traditionally sacred concepts such as messianic time and the utopian and the conflicts that emerged as a result of secularized modernity's denial of its own hybridization. This approach to modern literature shows how the modern stranger, a figure that is both paradoxically immersed and removed from society, deals with the dangers of failing to be re-assimilated into mainstream society and is caught in a fixed or permanent state of liminality, a state that can ultimately lead to boredom, alienation, nihilism, and failure. These monstrous aspects of liminality can also be rewarding in that traversing difficult and paradoxical avenues they confront both traditional and contemporary viewpoints, enabling new and fresh perspectives suspended between imagination and reality, past and future, nature and artificial. In many ways, the modern stranger as a figure of literature and the cultural imagination has become more complicated and challenging in the post-modern contemporary age, both clashing with and encompassing people who go beyond simply the psychological or even spiritual inability to blend in and out of society. However, while the stranger may be altering once again, the defining or essentializing the figure could result in the creation of other sets of binaries and thereby dissolve the purpose and productiveness of both strangeness and liminality. The intention of Monstrous Liminality is to trace the liminal sphere.

located between the secular and sacred that has characterized modernity itself This space has consequently altered the makeup of the stranger from something external into a figure far more liminal which is forced to traverse this uncanny space in an attempt to find new meanings for an age that is struggling to maintain any I Know Where I'm Going! Classic French Noir Deborah Walker-Morrison, 2018-10-18 French film noir has long been seen as a phenomenon distinct from its Hollywood counterpart. This book, an innovative departure from conventional noir scholarship, now adopts a biocultural approach to exploring the French genre through the years 1941-1959. Chapters reveal noir as a product of the social and cultural factors at play in occupied, liberated, and post-war France, marked by malaise at military defeat, Nazi collaboration, and the impact of industrialisation. Furthermore, the book uncovers the evolutionary mechanisms of sexuality and reproduction beneath the national context that drive gendered behaviour on screen. During this period, for example, the emerging urgent demand for population growth coupled with the severe shortage of eligible males rendered the mating game particularly perilous for traditional women beginning to enter the workplace. This explains the cynical yet seductive behaviour of the femme fatale. Deborah Walker-Morrison focuses on the dangerous, often deadly desires of an array of male and female character types, moving past the celebrated fatal femme to tragic heroines, psychopathic narcissists, fatal hommes, and gangster anti-heroes. The book re-examines productions by directors such as Henri-Georges Clouzot, Jacques Becker, and Jules Dassin, and pulls together strands of sociological, biological, psychological, and evolutionary science to create an illuminating study of the intense human passions underlying the cut-throat world of noir. Introduction to High-Dimensional Statistics Christophe Giraud, 2021-08-25 Praise for the first edition: This book succeeds singularly at providing a structured introduction to this active field of research; it is arguably the most accessible overview yet published of the mathematical ideas and principles that one needs to master to enter the field of high-dimensional statistics, recommended to anyone interested in the main results of current research in high-dimensional statistics as well as anyone interested in acquiring the core mathematical skills to enter this area of research. Journal of the American Statistical Association. Introduction to High-Dimensional Statistics, Second Edition, preserves the philosophy of the first edition to be a concise guide for students and researchers discovering the area and interested in the mathematics involved. The main concepts and ideas are presented in simple settings, avoiding thereby unessential technicalities. High-dimensional statistics is a fast-evolving field, and much progress has been made on a large variety of topics, providing new insights and methods. Offering a succinct presentation of the mathematical foundations of high-dimensional statistics, this new edition offers revised chapters from the previous edition with the inclusion of many additional materials on some important topics, including compressed sensing, estimation with convex constraints, the slope estimator, simultaneously low-rank and row-sparse linear regression, or aggregation of a continuous set of estimators. It introduces three new chapters on iterative algorithms, clustering, and minimax lower bounds. Provides enhanced appendices: minimax lower bounds, mainly with the addition of the Davis-Kahan perturbation bound, and of two simple versions of the Hanson-Wright concentration inequality. Covers cutting-edge statistical methods, including model selection, sparsity, and the Lasso, iterative hard thresholding, aggregation, support vector machines, and learning theory. Provides detailed exercises at the end of every chapter, with collaborative solutions on a wiki site. Illustrates concepts with simple but clear practical examples
