Of Dreams And Assassins:

Of Dreams and Assassins Malika Mokeddem, 2000 Of Dreams and Assassins is the urgent and rhythmic fourth novel of Malika Mokeddem her second to appear in English Born in Algeria to a Bedouin family that had only recently become sedentary Mokeddem was raised on the stories of her grandmother who encouraged her education at a time when girls did not go to school Though raised in a tolerant version of Islam Mokeddem nevertheless felt the weight of custom and tradition Of Dreams and Assassins though not strictly autobiographical evokes through the beauty and vastness and oppressive heat of the desert Mokeddem's early yearning for freedom Through its heroine Kenza and her simultaneous rebellion and immersion in the literary classics at a boarding school the novel dramatizes the possibilities for women to express their identities Kenza is an exile first in her own society and later in France Born during a visit to Montpellier in the year of Algerian independence she returns with her mother to Oran to find her father has taken another wife Her mother leaves alone never to return Kenza's subsequent search for herself through the mother she doesn't know told in a frank first person narrative mirrors the struggle of Algerian women to make a place in a society that has stripped them of their rights in spite of their crucial participation in the war for independence Kenza's suffocating childhood in the house of her boisterous leering father is broken only by summers in the desert where the dates become golden brown and gleam like little clusters of suns that mock the children Eventually Kenza like Mokeddem herself leaves her home to go to school in Montpellier because she can no longer tolerate life in Algeria Of Dreams and Assassins is a protest against the subjugation of women in Algeria and the violence of the last ten years perpetrated by fundamentalist Muslim guerrillas In exile Kenza puts her hope in m tissage the blending of cultures embodied by the character of Slim her friend and confidant who lives happily with his mixed race origins Kenza's story dramatizes Mokeddem's belief that the future of Algeria lies in its women and in education only through liberation and education can the pain of Kenza's exile be redeemed

Interconnecting Translation Studies and Imagology Luc van Doorslaer, Peter Flynn, Joep Leerssen, 2016-02-25 Isn't translation all about saying exactly the same thing in another language Aren't national images totally outdated in this era of globalization Most people might agree but this book amply illustrates how persistent and multifaceted clichés on translation and nation can be Time and again translating involves making transfer choices and these choices are never neutral Though globalization has seemingly all but erased national ideologies and cultural borders such ideologies and borders continue to play a determining role in conflicts identity politics and cultural profiles The place where transfer choices and forms of national and cultural representation come together is also the place where Translation Studies and Imagology meet This book offers a wealth of chapters showing how decisive selection and transfer processes can be in representing national images both self images and images of the others It shows also how intensely the two disciplines can work together and mutually benefit from shared data and methodologies

Exiles, Travellers and Vagabonds ,2016-10-20 Travel writing migrant writing exile writing expatriate writing and even the fictional travelling protagonists that emerge in literary works from around the globe have historically tended to depict mobility as a masculine phenomenon The presence of such genres in women s writing however poses a rich and unique body of work This volume examines the texts of Francophone women who have experienced or reflected upon the experience of transnational movement Due to the particularity of their relationship to home and the consequent impact of this on their experience of displacement the study of women s mobility opens up new questions in our understanding of the movement from place to place and in our broader understanding of colonial and postcolonial worlds Addressing the proximities and overlaps that exist between the experiences of women exiles migrants expatriates and travellers the collected essays in this book seek to challenge the usefulness relevance or validity of such terms for conceptualising today s complex patterns of transnational mobility and the gendered identities produced therein

The Oxford Handbook of Arab Novelistic

Traditions Wail S. Hassan, 2017-08-01 The Oxford Handbook of Arab Novelistic Traditions is the most comprehensive treatment of the subject to date. In scope, the book encompasses the genesis of the Arabic novel in the second half of the nineteenth century and its development to the present in every Arabic speaking country and in Arab immigrant destinations on six continents. Editor Wail S. Hassan and his contributors describe a novelistic phenomenon which has pre-modern roots stretching centuries back within the Arabic cultural tradition and branching outward geographically and linguistically to every Arab country and to Arab writing in many languages around the world. The first of three innovative dimensions of this Handbook consists of examining the ways in which the Arabic novel emerged out of a syncretic merger between Arabic and European forms and techniques rather than being a simple importation of the latter and rejection of the former as early critics of the Arabic novel claimed. The second involves mapping the novel geographically as it took root in every Arab country, developing into often distinct though overlapping and interconnected local traditions. Finally, the Handbook concerns the multilingual character of the novel in the Arab world and by Arab immigrants and their descendants around the world, both in Arabic and in at least a dozen other languages. The Oxford Handbook of Arab Novelistic Traditions reflects the current status of research in the broad field of Arab novelistic traditions and signals toward new directions of inquiry.
