Real Pushers:

Pushing Cool Keith Wailoo, 2021-11-02 Spanning a century Pushing Cool reveals how the twin deceptions of health and Black affinity for menthol were crafted and how the industry's disturbingly powerful narrative has endured to this day Police put Eric Garner in a fatal chokehold for selling cigarettes on a New York City street corner George Floyd was killed by police outside a store in Minneapolis known as the best place to buy menthols Black smokers overwhelmingly prefer menthol brands such as Kool Salem and Newport All of this is no coincidence The disproportionate Black deaths and cries of I can't breathe that ring out in our era because of police violence COVID 19 or menthol smoking are intimately connected to a post 1960s history of race and exploitation In Pushing Cool Keith Wailoo tells the intricate and poignant story of menthol cigarettes for the first time He pulls back the curtain to reveal the hidden persuaders who shaped menthol buying habits and racial markets across America the world of tobacco marketers consultants psychologists and social scientists as well as Black lawmakers and civic groups including the NAACP Today most Black smokers buy menthols and calls to prohibit their circulation hinge on a history of the industry's targeted racial marketing In 2009 when Congress banned flavored cigarettes as criminal enticements to encourage youth smoking menthol cigarettes were also slated to be banned Through a detailed study of internal tobacco industry documents Wailoo exposes why they weren't and how they remain so popular with Black smokers

High Occupancy Linda R. Ward, 2007-09 Pharmaphobia Thomas P. Stossel, 2015-04-23 For millennia human survival depended on our innate abilities to fight pathogens and repair injuries Only recently has medical science prolonged longevity and improved quality of life Physicians and academic researchers contribute to such progress but the principal contributor is private industry that produces the tools drugs and medical devices enabling doctors to prevent and cure disease Heavy regulation and biology's complexity and unpredictability make medical innovation extremely difficult and expensive Pharmaphobia describes how an ideological crusade stretching over the last quarter century has used distortion and flawed logic to make medical innovation even harder in a misguided pursuit of theoretical professional purity Bureaucrats reporters politicians and predatory lawyers have built careers attacking the medical products industry belittling its critical contributions to medical innovation and accusing it of non-existent malfeasance overselling product value flaunting safety and corrupting physicians and academics who partner with it The mania has imposed conflict of interest regulations limiting or banning valuable interactions between industry and physicians and researchers and diverting scarce resources from innovation to compliance The victims are patients suffering from cancer dementia and other serious diseases for which new treatments are delayed reduced or eliminated as a result of these pointless regulations With breathtaking detail Thomas Stossel shows how this attack on doctors who work with industry limits medical innovation and inhibits the process of bringing new products into medical care
