Vortex of Conflict Dan Caldwell, 2011-02-17 More than two million Americans have served in Afghanistan or Iraq more than 5 000 Americans have been killed and over 35 000 have been grievously wounded

The war in Afghanistan has become America's longest war. Most Americans do not understand the background of or reasons for the United States involvement in these two wars. Using primary and secondary sources, author Dan Caldwell describes relevant historical, political, cultural, and ideological elements related to the wars in Iraq and Afghanistan. He demonstrates how they are interrelated. Beginning with the history of the two conflicts within the context of U.S. policies toward Afghanistan, Iraq, and Pakistan, because American policy toward terrorism and Afghanistan cannot be understood without some consideration of Pakistan, he outlines and analyzes major issues of the two wars. These include intelligence, quality war plans, postwar reconstruction, interagency policymaking, U.S. relations with allies, and shift from conventional to counterinsurgency strategy. He concludes by capturing the lessons learned from these two conflicts and points to their application in future conflict. His book is a one-volume resource for anyone who wishes to understand why and how the U.S. became involved in these two wars and in the affairs of Pakistan concurrently.

Recovering the Frontier State Rasul Bakhsh Rais, 2008-03-20. This book examines the prospects for rebuilding state and nation in Afghanistan with regard to Operation Enduring Freedom carried out by the international coalition. It starts off by delineating the conceptual basis of Afghanistan's status as a frontier state. Looking at geo-strategic aspects, Afghanistan's position as an historical buffer between empires and its internal characteristics—weak authority, structure, internal conflicts, interventions by neighbors, legitimacy of internal conquest, and transnational ethnicities—the book provides insights into the unique geo-political context of Afghanistan. Whilst the author deems the legacy of the previous intervention for containment as a major contributing factor to the disorder in Afghanistan's state and society, he draws on lessons from the past intervention to assuage current obstacles and stalemate that is hindering political, social, and economic development in Afghanistan. Focusing on the impediments to development in Afghanistan, the background against which the problem needs to be analyzed and consequently countered is effectively set out. Incessant war and insurgency has led to mobilization along ethnic and religious lines in Afghanistan and has had profound effects on the kinds of intuitions that have perpetuated over time. Ethnic and religious groups have applied constant pressure on the state, and this dissonance has had enduring negative consequences on nation building, social cohesion, and state-society relationships. Pre-emptive and reactive intervention by neighboring states and their links to ethnic groups inside Afghanistan is another dimension which is analyzed. An extensive exploration into the geo-political history of social groups of Afghanistan, with an intensive account of the rise of various power contenders as a function of their history, their links with external actors, and their traditional position in the indigenous vertical hierarchy are made. Unconventional war and counterinsurgency operations funded by foreign and local elements are examined, and policy guidelines for negotiations and conflict resolution are discussed. The work provides fresh insights into the rise of the Taliban and adds further to the scholarly debate about the causes for the consolidation of Taliban power. It traces the history of the Afghan crisis and critically evaluates the roles played by different national and international actors. A major contribution of the work is the articulation of the need for an integrated nation and state building strategy which takes into account the sensitivities of the Afghanistan experience instead of treating it like other post conflict zones Doomed in Afghanistan Phillip

Corwin,2003 In April 1992 Phillip Corwin was in Afghanistan as part of a United Nations team whose mission was to help ensure the transfer of power from the Soviet installed communist regime of President Najibullah to an interim authority that would prepare for elections Some years after the Soviet Union withdrew from Afghanistan Najibullah s regime crumbled and he was convinced to resign with the understanding that he would be evacuated to a neutral country India Due to a series of miscalculations and machinations the UN s diplomatic mission failed Kabul fell to groups of mujahadin before Najibullah could be evacuated and before an interim authority could be installed The inability of the various mujahadin factions to unite led to their eventual defeat by the Taliban who four years later routed Najibullah from his safe haven at the UN compound and executed him BOOK JACKET Recovering the Frontier State Rasul Bux Rais,2008-01-01 The book explores how legacies of internal strife and foreign invasions have altered the balance of social and political forces that provided some measure of stability to Afghanistan The country faces structural constraints in the way of reviving itself owing to ethnic fragmentation Taliban insurgency and shallow social roots of political power The central argument is that Afghanistan needs positive international engagement to find a new balance among its fractious social groups and build effective state and nationhood Bleeding Afghanistan Sonali Kolhatkar,James Ingalls,2011-01-04 Through in depth research and detailed historical context Sonali Kolhatkar and James Ingalls report on the injustice of U S policies in Afghanistan historically and in the post 9 11 era Drawing from declassified government documents and on the ground interviews with Afghan activists journalists lawyers refugees and students Bleeding Afghanistan examines the connections between the U S training and arming of Mujahideen commanders and the subversion of Afghan democracy today Bleeding Afghanistan boldly critiques the exploitation of Afghan women to justify war by both conservatives and liberals analyzes uncritical media coverage of U S policies and examines the ways in which the U S benefits from being in Afghanistan Rebuilding Afghanistan in Times of
