Ghosts of the Past in Southern Thailand Anthony Reid, Barbara Watson Andaya, Geoff Wade, Azyumardi Azra, Numan Hayimasa, Christopher Joll, Francis R. Bradley, Philip King, Dennis Walker, Kobkua Suwannathat-Pian, Iik A. Mansurnoor, Duncan McCargo, 2013-01-01 At the heart of the on going armed conflict in southern Thailand is a fundamental disagreement about the history of relations between the Patani Malays and the Thai kingdom While the Thai royalist nationalist version of history regards Patani as part of that kingdom since time immemorial Patani Malay nationalists look back to a golden age when the Sultanate of Patani was an independent prosperous trading state and a renowned center for Islamic education and scholarship in Southeast Asia a time before it was defeated broken up and brought under the control of the Thai state While still influential in recent years these diametrically opposed views of the past have begun to make way for more nuanced and varied interpretations Patani scholars intellectuals and students now explore their history more freely and confidently than in the past while the once rigid Thai nationalist narrative is open to more pluralistic interpretations There is growing interaction and dialogue between historians writing in Thai Malay and English and engagement with sources and scholarship in other languages including Chinese and Arabic In The Ghosts of the Past in Southern Thailand 13 scholars who have worked on this sensitive region evaluate the current state of current historical writing about the Patani Malays of southern Thailand The essays in this book demonstrate that an understanding of the conflict must take into account the historical dimensions of relations between Patani and the Thai kingdom and the ongoing influence of these perceptions on Thai state officials militants and the local population

Historical Dictionary of Burma (Myanmar) Donald M. Seekins, 2017-03-27 Burma Myanmar is a Southeast Asian country that is emerging from crisis after more than a half century of hard line military rule and cultural diplomatic and economic isolation With the dissolution of its military regime the State Peace and Development Council in 2011 a formally civilian but military dominated constitutional government was inaugurated By 2012 Burma s president retired General Thein Sein had established a working relationship with Daw Aung San Suu Kyi the leader of the country s pro democracy movement since 1988 and after a 2012 by election she and members of her opposition party the National League for Democracy NLD entered the new Union Parliament as legislators However even with the election victory of Daw Suu Kyi and the NLD in the General Election of November 2015 Burma faces daunting challenges it is still one of the poorest countries in Southeast fissured by longstanding ethnic conflicts that have made a nationwide peace agreement elusive and its people's security and the environment are threatened by foreign economic exploitation Religious discord is also widely evident as Buddhist militants instigate violence against the country's religious minorities especially Muslims Today Burma's prospects are the most hopeful they have been for over half a century as the country takes steps along the road to a more open society and economy This edition of the Historical Dictionary of Burma Myanmar encompasses not only current developments but also Burma's over 1 500 years old recorded history and the most important features of its cultures ethnicity religions society and economy This is done through a chronology an introduction and an extensive bibliography The dictionary section has over 700 cross referenced entries on important personalities politics economy foreign relations religion and culture

Recalling Local Pasts Sunēt Chutintharānōn, Christopher John Baker, 2002 The history of Southeast Asia especially mainland Southeast Asia has been written as a history of kings and states The modern states of Burma Thailand Malaysia Cambodia Laos and Vietnam thread their way back into the past and the emergence of these states the importance of their capitals and the power of their dynasties have been the dominant themes of the history of the region This collection of essays challenges this perspective Taken together they question how powerful the great centers and their rulers really were The authors shift the focus to smaller settlements and more peripheral communities looking at the capitals and the central authority from this viewpoint They react against the modern impulse to look at the commonalities of the region and instead concentrate on the variety The result is an intimate and unusual view of historical Southeast Asia as a society of cosmopolitan cities mobile communities and fluid local politics Essays consider Pegu Arakan Phuket the Vietnamese port city of Hoi An the eastern Martaban Bay port cities and the Orang Laut and the Malay kingdoms of Melaka and Johor The contributors are Sunait Chutintaranond Tun Aung Chain Jacques P Leider Dhiravat na Pombejra Nguyen Chi Thong and Chuleeporn Virunha

Asian Expansions Geoff Wade, 2014-10-17 Asia as we know it today is the product of a wide range of polity expansions over time Recognising the territorial expansions of Asian polities large and small through the last several millennia helps rectify the fallacy long held and deeply entrenched that Asian polities have been interested only in the control of populations not in expanding their command of territory In countering this misapprehension this book suggests that Asian polities have indeed been concerned with territorial control and expansion over time whether for political or strategic advantage trade purposes defence needs agricultural expansion or increased income through taxation The book explores the historical experiences of a set of polity expansions within Asia specifically in East and Southeast Asia and by examining the motivations mechanisms processes validations and limitations of these Asian territorial expansions reveals the diverse avenues by which Asian polities have grown The chapters draw on these historical examples to highlight the connections between Asian polity expansion and centralised political structures and this aids in a broader and more comprehensive understanding of Asian political practice both past and present Through these chapter studies and the integrative introduction the book interrogates key concepts such as imperialism and colonialism and the applicability and relevance of such terminology in Asian contexts both historical and contemporary Comparisons and contrasts with European historical expansions are also suggested This book will be welcomed by students and scholars of Asian history as well as by those with an interest in Asian interactions international relations polity expansion Asia Europe historical comparisons and globalisation Rights and Security in India, Myanmar, and Thailand Chosein Yamahata,Sueo Sudo,Takashi

Forging Islamic Power and Place Francis R. Bradley, 2015-07-31 Forging Islamic Power and Place charts the nineteenth century rise of a vast network of Islamic scholars stretching across Southeast Asia and the Indian Ocean to Arabia Following the political and military collapse of the tiny Sultanate of Patani in what is now southern Thailand and northern Malaysia a displaced community of scholars led by Shaykh D d bin Abd All h al Fa n regrouped in Mecca In the years that followed al Fa n composed more than forty works that came to form the basis for a new text based type of Islamic practice Via a network of scholars students and scribes al Fa n s writings made their way back to Southeast Asia becoming the core texts of emerging pondok Islamic schools throughout the region Islamic scholars thus came to be the primary power brokers

in the construction of a new moral community setting forth an intellectual wave that spurred cultural identity literacy and a religious practice that grew ever more central to daily life In Forging Islamic Power and Place Francis R Bradley analyzes the important role of this vibrant Patani knowledge network in the formation of Islamic institutions of learning in Southeast Asia He makes use of an impressive range of sources including official colonial documents traveler accounts missionary writings and above all a trove of handwritten manuscripts in Malay and Arabic what remains of one of the most fertile zones of knowledge production anywhere in the Islamic world at the time Writing against prevailing notions of Southeast Asia as the passive recipient of the Islamic traditions of the Middle East Bradley shows how a politically marginalized community engineered its own cultural renaissance via the moral virility of the Islamic scholarly tradition and the power of the written word He highlights how in an age of rising colonial power these knowledge producers moved largely unnoticed and unhindered between Southeast Asia and the Middle East carrying out sweeping cultural and religious change His focus on Thailand's so called deep south which has been marginalized in scholarly studies until recent times helps lay the groundwork for a new generation of scholarship on the region and furthers our understanding of the present day crisis in southern Thailand The study of Islam in Southeast Asia has been most often relegated to the realm of religious studies and historians have considered the development of the nation as the single most important historiographical problem in the region By focusing on the role of human agency and the logistics of knowledge transmission this book transforms our understanding of the long and complex history of the flow of religious knowledge between the Middle East and Southeast Asia

Negotiating Ethnic Diversity and National Identity in History Education Helen Mu Hung Ting, Luigi Cajani, 2023-05-26 This edited book explores the problems and challenges of negotiating the representation of ethnic minorities within history education It investigates how states balance the non acknowledgement of the reality of cultural or religious diversity and the promotion of a point of convergence in history education to foster national identity Shifting our attention away from the intractable challenges posed by post conflict countries for reconciliation the contributors draw attention to the need to explore ways to prevent or pre empt conflicts and exclusion through history education which could contribute to developing a more sustainable culture of peace Drawing on a wide range of contexts and sources this book asks how history education could contribute to forming critical historically informed and committed young citizens The book will be of interest to students and academics working on themes such as nationalism citizenship ethnicity history education multicultural education peace studies and area studies as well as practitioners in the fields of history social studies civic or citizenship

Buddhist Fury Michael K. Jerryson, 2011-07-28 Buddhist violence is not a well known concept In fact it is generally considered an oxymoron An image of a Buddhist monk holding a handgun or the idea of a militarized Buddhist monastery tends to stretch the imagination yet these sights exist throughout southern Thailand Michael Jerryson offers an extensive examination of one of the least known but longest running conflicts of Southeast Asia Part of this conflict based primarily in Thailand's southernmost provinces is fueled by religious divisions. Thailand's total population is over 92 percent Buddhist but over 85 percent of the people in the southernmost provinces are Muslim. Since 2004 the Thai government has imposed martial law over the territory and combatted a grass roots militant Malay Muslim insurgency. Buddhist Fury reveals the Buddhist parameters of the conflict within a global context. Through fieldwork in the conflict area, Jerryson chronicles the habits of Buddhist monks in the militarized zone. Many Buddhist practices remain unchanged. Buddhist monks continue to chant, counsel the laity and accrue merit. Yet at the same time monks zealously advocate Buddhist nationalism, act as covert military officers and equip themselves with guns. Buddhist Fury displays the methods by which religion alters the nature of the conflict and shows the dangers of this transformation.

Pelagic Passageways Rila Mukherjee, 2011. Due to the frontierization of nation states, maritime historians have tended to ignore the northern Bay of Bengal. Yet this marginal region, now dispersed over the four nation states of India, China, Myanmar and Bangladesh, was not marginal in the past. Until recently, however, historians have concentrated largely on the big four: the Gujarat, Malabar, Coromandel and western Bengal coasts. Extreme eastern South Asia, Bengal and the lands to its north east, fanning into Burma and China or modern India's north east and beyond, is the focus of Pelagic Passageways. This regional unit, including diverse topographic features: plains, forests, estuaries, deltas, rivers, mountains, lakes, plateaus and remote passes, oscillates between unity and fragmentation, between centrality and marginality in the larger space of the Bay of Bengal. To attempt a history of this space is indeed challenging. There is not one but two deltas here: the western delta corresponding to present West Bengal in India and centred now on Kolkata, and the south eastern delta in present Bangladesh centred on Dhaka and running into Arakan. Not merely in terms of location but on a historical axis too, the two deltas are vastly different as they have followed disparate trajectories dictated in part by their geographies. Pelagic Passageways therefore questions the conventional fault line located on the south eastern Bengal delta between the historiography of South and South East Asia. Concentrating on commodity and currency flows, travel, trade routes and interactive networks, Pelagic Passageways visualizes the cultural space of the northern Bay of Bengal as embracing upland, landlocked areas: Ava, Yunnan, the Tripuri, Dimas and Ahom states, not usually seen as part of maritime history. This collection of essays suggests that they too were a part of the social and commercial networks of the Indian Ocean. While these countries literally fell off the map, this volume proposes that we see these areas instead as crossroads mediating flows between the land dwelling and aquatic worlds.
