Fifty Years of Religious Studies in Canada Harold Coward,2014-11-07 In Canadian universities in the early 1960s no courses were offered on Hinduism Buddhism or Islam Only the study of Christianity was available usually in a theology program in a church college or seminary Today almost every university in North America has a religious studies department that offers courses on Western and Eastern religions as well as religion in general Harold Coward addresses this change in this memoir of his forty five year career in the development of religious studies as a new academic field in Canada He also addresses the shift from theology classes in seminaries to non sectarian religious studies faculties of arts and humanities the birth and growth of departments across Canada from the 1960s to the present the contribution of McMaster University to religious studies in Canada and Coward s Ph D experience there the Centre for Studies in Religion and Society at the University of Victoria and the future of religious studies as a truly interdisciplinary enterprise Coward s retrospective while not a history as such documents information from his varied experience and wide network of colleagues that is essential for a future formal history of the discipline His story is both personally engaging and richly informative about the development of
