Ritual and Religion in the Making of Humanity Roy A. Rappaport, 1999-03-25 Roy Rappaport argues that religion is central to the continuing evolution of life although it has been displaced from its original position of intellectual authority by the rise of modern science His book which could be construed as in some degree religious as well as about religion insists that religion can and must be reconciled with science Combining adaptive and cognitive approaches to the study of humankind he mounts a comprehensive analysis of religion's evolutionary significance seeing it as co extensive with the invention of language and hence of culture as we know it At the same time he assembles the fullest study yet of religion's main component ritual which constructs the conceptions which we take to be religious and has been central in the making of humanity's adaptation The text amounts to a manual for effective ritual illustrated by examples drawn from anthropology history philosophy comparative religion and elsewhere

Sustainability and Health Valerie A. Brown, John Grootjans, Jan Ritchie, Mardie Townsend, Glenda Verrinder, 2014-04-08 Radical changes in the biosphere and human interaction with the environment are increasingly impacting on the health of populations across the world Diseases are crossing the species barrier and spreading rapidly through globalised transport systems From new patterns of cancer to the threat of global pandemics it is imperative that public health practitioners acknowledge the interdependence between the sustainability of the environment and the sustainability of the human species Why are issues of global and local sustainability of increasing importance to the public's health Why do issues of sustainability require new practices within the professions of public health How can future and current public health practitioners develop those new practices Drawing on scientific evidence of global and local environmental changes Sustainability and Health offers a thorough background and practical solutions to the overlapping issues in environment and health It examines potential and existing responses to global and local environment and health issues involving individuals community industry and government The authors introduce a range of emerging conceptual frameworks and theoretical perspectives link IT and epidemiology and explain how scoping can link program design delivery data collection and evaluation in projects from their very beginning Public health practitioners need to be able to manage health issues that cut across environmental economic and social systems and to develop the capacity for leadership in facilitating change Incorporating learning activities readings international case studies and an open learning approach this is a valuable resource for students of public and environmental health as well as medical environmental and health science professionals

Columbus,2023-11-17 This book is an anthology of commentary and criticism written within the transitional period between Alan Watts 1973 death and the twenty first century intellectual horizon Comprised of 16 chapters written and published between 1974 and 1994 with up to date introductions from the essayists and other contemporary thinkers this volume opens a window onto unexplored grounds of Alan Watts impact within late twentieth century discourse an intermediate space where scholars reoriented their bearings through changing times and emerging academic trends Offering varied explanations and assessments of Alan Watts including his influence on the Beat and Hippie generations and his popularization of Zen Buddhism in America it tackles unaddressed questions within the milieu of late twentieth century

America from the Reagan Revolution and religious conservatism to paradigm shifts in Buddhist studies and the rise of post colonial theory Contributors post mortem analyses and critiques of Watts allow for a thematic rendering of their consonance or dissonance with noted Beat Hippie and Zen Buddhism themes of his lifetime This volume will appeal to scholars and students of humanistic psychology transpersonal psychology the psychology of religion comparative religion and American studies

The Faith Louis A. Marini, 2022-04-25 Faith is a word frequently used these days as we continue to struggle through a pandemic that took the lives of over eight hundred thousand Americans and rising Amid unsolved questions posed to the world of medicine in the throes of political and social unrest the darkness of this nightmare has left many with a growing skepticism in the leadership of many traditional institutions of Church and State Why are people so concerned over the existential issues of life and faith during these unprecedented times where the world seems to have gone topsy turvy Louis Marini suggests that faith has always been a multidimensional reality inherent in people s lives People have always aspired to faith to unite a nation in times of distress and social unrest The human act of believing is the first step to walking in faith Believing is always believing in another human being Faith always necessitates and is sustained only in relationships whether faith is solely based upon human interaction or seeking communion with the Divine These reflections open the possibility for discussions that faith is not just a human phenomenon but a natural gift that may transition into a relationship with the Divine Faith which is fundamentally a human reality can become a divine mystery This realization hopefully can console and heal us from the scars left from the angst of these uncertain times
