Mead, 2011 What role should Australian literature play in the school curriculum What principles should guide our selection of Australian texts To what extent should concepts of the nation and a national identity frame the study of Australian writing What do we imagine Australian literature to be How do English teachers go about engaging their students in reading Australian texts This volume brings together teachers teacher educators creative writers and literary scholars in a joint inquiry that takes a fresh look at what it means to teach Australian literature The immediate occasion for the publication of these essays is the implementation of The Australian Curriculum English which several contributors subject to critical scrutiny In doing so they question the way that literature teaching is currently being constructed by standards based reforms not only in Australia but elsewhere The essays assembled in this volume transcend the divisions that have sometimes marred debates about the place of Australian literature in the school curriculum They all recognise the complexity of what secondary English teachers do in their efforts to engage young people in a rich and meaningful curriculum They also highlight the need for both secondary and tertiary educators to cultivate an awareness of the cultural and intellectual traditions that mediate their professional practice and to encourage a critically responsive pedagogy English Teachers at Work Brenton

Doecke, David Homer, Helen Nixon, 2003 By taking a global perspective on teaching English this work takes into account a wide variety of challenges English teachers face and stresses the importance of networking and communicating with colleagues around the world as a means of overcoming those challenges A richly differentiated view on what it means to be an English teacher is offered as are fascinating narratives about the diverse efforts of teachers in different communities Points of view from contributors in North America Australia Chile New Zealand New Guinea South Africa and the United Kingdom are expressed and placed in an illuminating context with practical and theoretical considerations about teaching English Teaching Literature to Adolescents Richard Beach, Deborah Appleman, Bob Fecho, Rob Simon, 2020-12-28

Now in its fourth edition this popular textbook introduces prospective and practicing English teachers to current methods of teaching literature in middle and high school classrooms This new edition broadens its focus to cover important topics such as critical race theory perspectives on teaching fiction nonfiction and drama the integration of digital literacy and teacher research for ongoing learning and professional development It underscores the value of providing students with a range of different critical approaches and tools for interpreting texts It also addresses the need to organize literature instruction around topics and issues of interest to today's adolescents By using authentic dilemmas and contemporary issues the authors encourage preservice English teachers and their instructors to raise and explore inquiry based questions that center on the teaching of a variety of literary texts both classic and contemporary traditional and digital New to the Fourth Edition Expanded attention to digital tools multimodal learning and teaching online New examples of teaching contemporary texts Expanded discussion and illustration of formative assessment Revised response activities for incorporating young adult literature into the literature curriculum Real world examples of student work to illustrate how students respond to the suggested strategies Extended focus on infusing multicultural and diverse literature in the classroom Each chapter is organized around specific questions that preservice teachers consistently raise as they prepare to become English language arts teachers The authors model critical inquiry throughout the text by offering authentic case narratives that raise important considerations of both theory and practice A companion website a favorite of English education instructors <http://teachingliterature.pbworks.com> provides resources and enrichment activities inviting teachers to consider important issues in the context of their current or future classrooms

Teaching Reading and Writing Beyond High-stakes Testing Rongrong Dong,2023-03-10 This book tells about an exemplary high school Chinese language arts teacher s effort in nurturing lifelong readers and writers under the test driven culture in China s society It looks closely at his everyday literacy practices focuses on his ways of creating authentic reading and writing spaces for students beyond test preparation With the lens of social constructivism the case study reveals his efforts of creating safe learning environment modeling his literate life connecting real life with literacy learning and building a school wide literate life for students Furthermore he also collaborates with other Chinese language arts faculty and reaches out to school administrators and educators to gain any potential teaching resource for students The findings indicate exemplary teachers are not only equipped with professional knowledge but also inter intrapersonal knowledge and practical knowledge in their teaching career which might be enlightening in today s high stakes testing culture The book will appeal to scholars of literacy education and teacher education as well as pre service and in service teachers

Personally Speaking Candace Spigelman,2004-10-07 Responding to contemporary discussion about using personal accounts in academic writing Personally Speaking Experience as Evidence in Academic Discourse draws on classical and current rhetorical theory feminist theory and relevant examples from both published writers and first year writing students to illustrate the advantages of blending experiential and academic perspectives Candace Spigelman examines how merging personal and scholarly worldviews produces useful contradictions and contributes to a more a complex understanding in academic writing This rhetorical move allows for greater insights than the reading or writing of experiential or academic modes separately does Personally Speaking foregrounds the semi fictitious nature of personal stories and the rhetorical possibilities of evidence as Spigelman provides strategies for writing instructors who want to teach personal academic argument while supplying practical mechanisms for evaluating experiential claims The volume seeks to complicate and intensify disciplinary debates about how compositionists should write for publication and what kinds of writing should be taught to composition students Spigelman not only supplies evidence as to why the personal can count as evidence but also relates how to use it effectively by including student samples that reflect particular features of personal writing Finally she lays the groundwork to move narrative from its current site as confessional writing to the domain of academic discourse

Literacy Autobiographies from the Global South Shizhou Yang,2022-12-30 Drawing on autoethnographic research on literacy autobiographies from a Chinese EFL writing context this book provides unique insights into literacy voice translingualism and critical pedagogy from a Global South perspective The book presents literacy autobiographies as a cultural tool for analyzing and refashioning learners and teachers sense of self in ever expanding dialogical spaces In addition to highlighting teachers own stories around autoethnographies and translanguaging it showcases literacy autobiographies from Chinese students themselves The book theorizes the Global South as an ontological positioning that challenges colonial mindsets and practices concerning literacy language learning and narratives It argues that literacy autobiographies from a Global South perspective can be reimagined as critical pedagogy for EFL writing teaching and learning as well as teacher development Validating and expanding student voices by presenting these literacy autobiographies this book will be of great interest to researchers and students in the fields of TESOL applied linguistics English language teaching second language writing and literacy studies      Women in Social Semiotics and SFL Eva Maagerø, Ruth Mulvad, Elise Seip Tønnessen, 2021-08-26 This book showcases interviews with nine women who have made pioneering contributions to social semiotics and systemic functional linguistics SFL highlighting how these women have taken the discipline into new and innovative directions and the enduring impact of their work The volume features interviews with a generation of scholars inspired by the prominent linguists Michael Halliday and Ruqaiya Hasan in Sydney reflecting on their achievements in the advancement of theory knowledge and practical application as well as the establishment of research centers in different parts of the world A consistent interview format helps to illustrate the different directions the work of these scholars has taken and their different takes on key concepts to the discipline such as register genre text and context and multimodality Taken together the interviews offer insights into key strands of social semiotic and SFL scholarship and give inspiration toward moving the field into new theoretical and applied directions Reflecting on the groundbreaking work of renowned women scholars in social semiotics and SFL and their continued global impact this book will be key reading for students and scholars in these fields as well as those in the areas of language pedagogy literacy and multimodality      Literacies, Power, and the Schooled Body Kerry Dixon, 2010-11-15 This book examines how children s bodies are trained in time and space to produce schooled literate individuals Moving from theory to practice examples of real classroom events show how teachers practices direct discipline onto children s bodies      Teenagers and Reading Jacqueline Manuel, Sue Brindley, 2012 Teenagers and Reading Literary heritages cultural contexts and contemporary reading practices brings together international research and practical perspectives on the current state of teenagers reading The contributions by teachers researchers and other educators explore the what how when where and why of adolescents reading advancing our understanding of the relationships between and among teenage readers texts and contexts      Digital Games Catherine Beavis, Joanne O'Mara, Lisa McNeice, 2012 Digital Games Literacy in action is the result of a wide ranging investigation into the educational possibilities involved in young people s games From their creation in the classroom to analysing games and the world of games as text academics and teachers are now taking seriously the serious play of young people The contributors use the interaction between the theoretical frameworks of games as text and games as action to explore a wide of range of issues relevant to the teaching of English and literacy These include understanding games as media texts the place of digital culture in young people s lives the narrative and visual design components of games exploring concepts of role play and identity in games the potential for games to engage disengaged students and issues of gender and social interaction in game playing

Academic and Research Literacy Practices of Final Year Teacher Trainees in Luanda, Angola Celeste Sambeny, 2016-06-22

Academic and Research Literacy Practices of Final Year Teacher Trainees in Luanda Angola presents a detailed study of students and lecturers at higher teacher training institutions where English is taught as a medium of instruction and specialisation As such the book will help raise the awareness of educators teachers and supervisors of the need to be more supportive to students and will highlight the importance of increased responsibility on the part of the students regarding their studies especially during the process of writing their research reports Practical experience has shown that in most classrooms students are typically asked to produce texts for one single audience namely the teacher or the lecturer who already knows what constitutes an acceptable response However in many classrooms teachers and lecturers tend to believe that literacy can be defined as the ability to encode and decode texts the ability to decipher the main idea of a reading passage or to write a text that obeys the general conventions of language usage such as syntax organisation and idea development The central argument of this book however is that at higher levels of the educational system in Angola academic and research literacy practices are at best questionable and at worst harmful An extensive re evaluation of assumptions regarding student capability and what it means to be a literate in the twenty first century information society is of critical importance Such a re examination allows for extensive reflection on current practices and a powerful critique of traditional academic and research literacy methods and suggests ways in which practices of quality teaching and learning may be implemented
