Arnold,1981-01-01 Excavations at the Lagoon site OjRI 3 on the southern coast of Banks Island Northwest Territories have provided a database with which to formulate hypotheses concerning the Paleoeskimo culture history of the western periphery of the Canadian Arctic at ca 500 B C Published in English Walker Site — The Hamilton Site: A Late Historic Neutral Town Milton J. Wright,Paul A. Lennox,1981-01-01 These two master s theses represent the first detailed reports on historic Neutral village sites An analysis of the Walker site a large ten acre nonpalisaded Neutral Iroquois town occupied circa 1640 A D The site provides a comparative baseline for the study of the Neutral Iroquois and demonstrates trends and relationships extant during the late part of the Neutral sequence Analysis indicates Neutral Iroquois occupancy of the six acre Hamilton site from circa 1638 to 1650 A D but the presence of a high percentage of foreign pottery raises a number of interpretational hypothesis to account for it Published in English The Architecture of Hunting Ashley Lemke,2022-08-24 As one of the most significant economic innovations in prehistory hunting architecture radically altered life and society for hunter gatherers The development of these structures indicates that foragers designed their environments had a deep knowledge of animal behavior and interacted with each other in complex ways that reach beyond previous assumptions Combining underwater archaeology terrestrial archaeology and ethnographic and historical research The Architecture of Hunting investigates the creation and use of hunting architecture by hunter gatherers Hunting architecture including blinds drive lanes and fishing weirs is a global phenomenon found across a broad spectrum of cultures time geography and environments Relying on similar behaviors in species such as caribou bison guanacos antelope and gazelles cultures as diverse as Sami reindeer herders the Inka and ancient bison hunters on the North American plains have employed such structures combined with strategically situated landforms to ensure adequate food supplies while maintaining a nomadic way of life Using examples of hunting architecture from across the globe and how they influence forager mobility territoriality property leadership and labor aggregation Ashley Lemke explores this architecture as a form of human niche construction and considers the myriad ways such built structures affect hunter gatherer lifeways Bringing together diverse sources under the single category of hunting architecture The Architecture of Hunting serves as the new standard guide for anyone interested in hunter gatherers and their built environment
