The contributors to Representation help readers understand the partiality of the various writers and in so doing explore the issue of what determines public opinion about business Arthur Pollard 1922 2001 was Professor Emeritus of English at the University of Hull in Hull East Yorkshire England John Blundell is General Director of the Institute of Economic Affairs London The Oxford Handbook of Identities in Organizations Andrew D. Brown, 2020-01-16 Conceived as the meanings that individuals attach to their selves a substantial stockpile of theory related to identities accumulated across the arts social sciences and humanities over many decades continues to nourish contemporary research on self identities in organizations In times which are more reflexive narcissistic and fluid the identities of participants in organizations are increasingly less fixed and less certain making identity issues both more salient and more interesting Particular attention has been given to processes of identity construction often styled identity work Research has focused on how why and when such processes occur and their implications for organizing and individual group and organizational outcomes This has resulted in a burgeoning stream of research from discursive dramaturgical symbolic socio cognitive and psychodynamic perspectives that most often casts individuals efforts to fabricate identities as intentional relational and consequential Seemingly intractable debates centred on the nature of identities their relative stability or fluidity whether they are best regarded as coherent or fractured positive or not and how they are fabricated within relations of power combined with other conceptual issues continue to invigorate the field However these debates have also led to some scepticism regarding the future potential of identities research Yet as the chapters in this Handbook demonstrate there are considerable grounds for optimism that identity as root metaphor nexus concept and means to bridge levels of analysis has significant potential to generate multiple compelling streams of theorizing in organization and management studies Culture and Commerce in Conrad's Asian Fiction Andrew Francis, 2015-04-23 Andrew Francis Culture and Commerce in Conrad s Asian Fiction is the first book length critical study of commerce in Conrad s work It reveals not only the complex connections between culture and commerce in Conrad s Asian fiction but also how he employed commerce in characterization moral contexts and his depiction of relations at a point of advanced European imperialism Conrad's treatment of commerce Arab Chinese and Malay as well as European is explored within a historically specific context as intricate and resistant to traditional readings of commerce as simple and homogeneous Through the analysis of both literary and non literary sources this book examines capitalism colonialism and globalization within the commercial political and social contexts of colonial Southeast Asia Managing Britannia Robert Protherough, John Pick, 2016-07-06 For more than thirty years the solution to all Britain's problems has been better management As a result management schools dominate higher education and managers are at work everywhere developing strategies and systems and quantifying outcomes There are now more managers on the rail network than train drivers yet the benefits of modern management of railways schools hospitals and universities are elusive This is because management does not exist the academic study of management science and the assumption that there are universal management skills are bogus This book shows how modern management practices have all but destroyed politics education culture and religion modern management is the cause of our national malaise Representations of Loss in Irish Literature Deirdre Flynn, Eugene O'Brien, 2018-07-30 This is the first book on Irish literature to focus on the theme of loss and how it is represented in Irish writing It focuses on how literature is ideally suited to expressions and understanding of the nature of loss given its ability to access and express emotions sensations feelings and the visceral and haptic areas of experience Dealing with feelings and with sensations poems novels and drama can allow for cathartic expressions of these emotions as well as for a fuller understanding of what is involved in loss across all situations. The main notion of loss being dealt with is that of death but feelings of loss in the wake of immigration and of the loss of certainties that defined notions of identity are also analysed This volume will be of interest to scholars students and researchers in Irish Studies loss memory trauma death and cultural studies Guilty Money Ranald C Michie, 2015-09-30 This is an engaging study of the place occupied by the City of London within British cultural life during the Victorian and Edwardian periods Michie uses both literary and popular novels to examine socio economic representations during this period The Business of News in England, 1760-1820 Victoria E. English Corpus Linguistics: Crossing Paths ,2015-06-24 The chapters in this collected volume illuminate the dynamic success story of English corpus linguistics over the past few decades The book is organised in three parts The chapters in Part I set the scene by addressing fundamental issues such as the balance between automated and manual analyses and the urgent call for more communication and collaboration across subjects and research areas The studies in Part II highlight patterns in Present day English from a cross linguistic perspective and identify and analyse stylistic trends in recent English Part III is devoted to aspects of the rich variation and long term change characteristic of early English Two themes cut across the chapters in the book One of them is the impressive volume and diversity of digitised material available for English corpus linguists today and the issues that arise for researchers wishing to combine different data sources in their analyses The other theme concerns the benefits that advances made in English corpus linguistics may offer to other disciplines

Representations and Renegotiations of the Nation in Anglophone Cameroonian Literature Priscillia M. Manjoh,2018 Guided by postcolonial theory and the ideas of some Western and African philosophers this study s in depth analysis of the novels of three Anglophone Cameroonian authors addresses the question of how principles of nation formation and nationalism are influenced by both colonialism and pre colonial in situ constituents The analysis focuses on how nations represented in the imaginary worlds constructed by the novelists are dominated by aspects such as ethnicity corruption authoritarianism nepotism solidarity and communitarianism which marginalize the masses leaving them in misery and abject poverty Tracing the historical settings of the novels from 1948 till present day the study delineates the writers representation of the Anglophones of Cameroon as being marginalized as well as suffering from self marginalization and also demonstrates how postcolonial misery in Africa is not caused solely by colonialism but by several other aspects This study reads the works of these Anglophone novelists not only as representing aspects in a nation but as tools of renegotiating a better society and a way forward for this nation
