Representing Race Ideology Identity And The Media:

Representing "race" Robert Ferguson, 1998 Productive media analysis is like an iceberg argues Robert Ferguson The vast bulk beneath water is the intellectual historical and analytical base without which media analysis may become superficial mechanical or glib Representing Race argues that the study of race and the media cannot be seriously undertaken without engaging with theories of ideology and without awareness of contemporary theoretical work such as approaches to Orientalism and critical discourse analysis Drawing on examples from newspapers film radio and television Ferguson demonstrates the close relationship between representations of normality and racism Providing an overview and assessment of existing research in the area Representing Race is a challenge to intellectual complacency and a warning against the temptation to normalise the very term race

Media Studies Pieter J. Fourie, 2010-06 Exploring the media as an institution this volume also introduces the topics of media regulation and content The nature of communications policy is explained following overviews of internal and external media regulation Strategic ways of managing the media are discussed in addition to the guide's analysis of the ways that media presents issues of identity race gender sexual orientation the environment AIDS and terrorism

Media Representations of September 11 Steven Chermak Ph.D., Frankie Y. Bailey, Michelle Brown, 2003-10-30 The terrorist attacks on September 11th were unique and unprecedented in many ways but the day will stand in our memories particularly because of our ability to watch the spectacle unfold The blazing towers crumbling into dust black smoke rising from the Pentagon the unrecognizable remains of a fourth airplane in a quiet Pennsylvania field these images while disturbing and surreal provide an important vehicle for interdisciplinary dialogue within media studies showing us how horrific national disasters are depicted in various media Each contributor to this volume offers a fresh engaging perspective on how the media transformed the 9 11 crisis into an ideological tour de force examining why certain readings of these events were preferred and discussing the significance of those preferred meanings Yet the contributors do not limit themselves to such standard news mediums such as newspapers and television This anthology also covers comic books songs advertising Web sites and other non traditional media outlets Using a wide range of interdisciplinary approaches contributors explore such topics as the amount of time dedicated to coverage how the attacks were presented in the United States and abroad how conflicting viewpoints were addressed and how various artistic outlets dealt with the tragedy Offering a unique approach to a topic of enduring interest and importance this volume casts a new light on considerations of that day

Racial and Ethnic Identities in the Media Eleftheria Arapoglou, Yiorgos Kalogeras, Jopi Nyman, 2016-07-30 This volume examines the role and representation of race and ethnicity in the media with particular emphasis on the United States It highlights contemporary work that focuses on changing meanings of racial and ethnic identity as they are represented in the media television and film digital and print media are under examination Through fourteen innovative and interdisciplinary case studies written by a team of internationally based contributors the volume identifies ways in which ethnic racial and national identities have been produced reproduced stereotyped and contested It showcases new emerging theoretical approaches in the field and pays particular attention to the role of race ethnicity and national identity along with communal and transnational allegiances in the making of identities in the media The topics of the chapters range from immigrant newspapers and gangster cinema to ethnic stand up comedy and the use of race in advertising

Screens Fade to Black David J. Leonard,2006-06-30 The triple crown of Oscars awarded to Denzel Washington Halle Berry and Sidney Poitier on a single evening in 2002 seemed to mark a turning point for African Americans in cinema Certainly it was hyped as such by the media eager to overlook the nuances of this sudden embrace In this new study author David Leonard uses this event as a jumping off point from which to discuss the current state of African American cinema and the various genres that currently compose it Looking at such recent films as Love and Basketball Antwone Fisher Training Day and the two Barbershop films all of which were directed by black artists and most of which starred and were written by blacks as well Leonard examines the issues of representation and opportunity in contemporary cinema In many cases these films which walk a line between confronting racial stereotypes and trafficking in them made a great deal of money while hardly playing to white audiences at all By examining the ways in which they address the American Dream racial progress racial difference blackness whiteness class capitalism and a host of other issues Leonard shows that while certainly there are differences between the grotesque images of years past and those that define today s era the consistency of images across genre and time reflects the lasting power of racism as well as the black community s response to it

Korean Kirogi Families Young A. Jung,2024-05-15 Based on multi sited ethnographic fieldwork at Fairfax County Virginia and Daechi dong Seoul Korea Korean Kirogi Families explores the dynamics of emplaced transnational families through analyses of the categories of social capital sense of place sense of belonging and mothering among so called Korean kirogi families A Korean kirogi wild goose family is a distinct kind of transnational migrant family that splits their household to educate the children in an English speaking country temporarily Using mixed research methods including ethnographic fieldwork in depth interviews and textual analyses of media representations and historical documents this book examines kirogi families in a historical and transnational context Much of the research focuses on mothers and children who live in McLean and Centreville of Fairfax School District located in Virginia just a few miles from Washington DC Young A Jung argues that these educational transnational families construct distinct types of sense of belonging including structural belonging relational belonging school district belonging and narrative belonging In the global migration era when transnational migration continuously reshapes our communities Korean Kirogi Families reveals how recent education migrants are changing the suburban landscape of America

HBO's Treme and Post-Katrina Catharsis Dominique Gendrin, Catherine Dessinges, Shearon Roberts, 2017-04-07 Ten years after Hurricane Katrina outsiders will have two versions of the Katrina experience One version will be the images they recall from news coverage of the aftermath The other will be the intimate portrayal of the determination of New Orleans residents to rebuild and recover their lives HBO's Treme offers outsiders an inside look into why New Orleanians refused to abandon a place that many questioned should not be rebuilt after the levees failed This critically acclaimed series expanded the boundaries of television making in its format plot casting use of music and realism in fictionalized TV However Treme is not just a story for the outside gaze on New Orleans It was a very local collaborative experience where the show's creators sought to enlist the city in a commemorative project Treme allowed many in the city who worked as principals extras and who tuned in as avid viewers to heal from the devastation of the disaster as they experimented with art imitating life imitating art This book examines the impact of HBO's Treme not just as television making but in the sense in which television provides a window to our worlds The book pulls together scholarship in media communications gender area studies political economy critical studies African American studies and music to explain why Treme was not just about television

Documentary as Exorcism Robert Beckford, 2014-01-16 Documentary as Exorcism is an interdisciplinary study that builds upon the insights of postcolonial studies critical race theory theological and religious studies and media and film studies to showcase the role of documentary film as a system of signifying capable of registering complex theological ideas while pursuing the authentic aims of documentary filmmaking Robert Beckford marries the concepts of theology as visual practice and theology as political engagement to develop a new mode of documentary filmmaking that embeds emancipation from oppression in its aesthetic In various documentaries made for Channel 4 and the BBC Beckford narrates the complicit relationship of Christianity with European expansion slavery and colonialism as a historic manifestation of evil In light of the cannibalistic practices of colonialism that devoured black life and the church's role in the subjugation and theological legitimation of black bodies Beckford characterises this form of historic Christian faith as colonial Christianity and its malevolent or occult practices as a form of bewitchment that must be exorcised He identifies and exorcises the evil practices of colonialism and their present impact upon African Caribbean Christian communities in Britain in films such as Britain's Slave Trade and Empire Pays Back through a deliberate process of encoding decoding The emancipatory impact of this form of documentary filmmaking is demonstrated by its ability to bring issues such as reparations to the public square for debate and its capacity to change a corporation's trade policies for the good of Africans

Processes of Transposition, 2015-06-29 The essays collected in this book focus on the multi-faceted relationship between German/Austrian literature and the cinema screen. Scholars from Ireland, Great Britain, Germany, Switzerland, Luxembourg, Portugal, USA, and Canada present critical readings of a wide range of transpositions of German language texts to film while also considering the impact of cinema on German literature, exploring intertextualities as well as intermedialities. The forum of discussion thus created encompasses cinematic narratives based on Goethe's Faust, Kleist's Marquise of O, Kubrick's film version of Schnitzler's Dream Story, and Caroline Link's Oscar-winning adaptation of Stefanie Zweig's novel Nowhere in Africa. The wide-ranging analyses of the complex interaction between literature and film presented here focus on literary works by Anna Seghers, Hans Magnus Enzensberger, Nicola Rhon, Günter Grass, Heinrich Böll, Elfriede Jelinek, Rolf Dieter Brinkmann, Erich Hackl, Thomas Brussig, Sven Regener, Frank Goosen, and Robert Schneider, as well as on adaptations by filmmakers such as Friedrich Wilhelm Murnau, Max Mack, Josef von Sternberg, Max W. Kimmich, Fred Zinnemann, Paul Wegener, Alexander Kluge, Volker Schlöndorff, Hans-Jürgen Pohland, Hendrik Handloegten, Michael Haneke, Christoph Stark, Karin Brandauer, Joseph Vilsmaier, Leander Haußmann, and Doris Dörrie.
