BOOK VII

Next, said I, compare our nature in respect of education and its lack 514 to such an experience as this. Picture men dwelling in a sort of subterranean cavern with a long entrance open to the light on its entire width. Conceive them as having their legs and necks fettered from childhood, so that they remain in the same spot, able to look forward only, and prevented by the fetters from turning their heads. Picture b further the light from a fire burning higher up and at a distance behind them, and between the fire and the prisoners and above them a road along which a low wall has been built, as the exhibitors of puppet shows have partitions before the men themselves, above which they show the puppets.

All that I see, he said.

See also, then, men carrying past the wall implements of all kinds that rise above the wall, and human images and shapes of ani- c mals as well, wrought in stone and wood and every material, some of 515 these bearers presumably speaking and others silent.

A strange image you speak of, he said, and strange prisoners.

Like to us, I said. For, to begin with, tell me do you think that these men would have seen anything of themselves or of one another except the shadows cast from the fire on the wall of the cave that fronted them?

How could they, he said, if they were compelled to hold their b heads unmoved through life?

And again, would not the same be true of the objects carried past them?

Surely.

If then they were able to talk to one another, do you not think that they would suppose that in naming the things that they saw they were naming the passing objects?

Necessarily.

And if their prison had an echo from the wall opposite them, when one of the passers-by uttered a sound, do you think that they

Old Testament Conceptual Metaphors and the Christology of Luke's Gospel Gregory R. Lanier,2018-08-23

Extensive scholarship has been devoted to Jesus depiction in the Gospels and how such depiction is influenced by the Old Testament Gregory R Lanier presents a newcase for the importance of conceptual metaphor arguing that the Gospel of Luke employs certain metaphors reflected in Israel s traditions such as horn of salvation dawn from on high mother bird gathering Jerusalem s children and crushing stone in order to portray the identity of Jesus as both an agent of salvation and more provocatively the one God of Israel Setting his argument at the intersection of three sub fields of New Testament scholarship early Christology the use of Israel s Scriptures in the New Testament and contemporary metaphor theory Lanier suggests ways to overcome the low high binary and perceive the Gospel s Christology as multi faceted Applying metaphor theory to the influence of the Old Testament metaphors on Luke s Christology Lanier adds methodological rigor to the tracing of such influences in cases where standard criteria for quotations and allusions echoes are stretched thin Christian Grace and Pagan Virtue J. Warren Smith,2011-01-27 Warren Smith examines the neglected biblical liturgical and theological foundations of Ambrose s thought on ethics Earlier studies have found little that was distinctively Christian in Ambrose s image of the virtuous person Smith shows that although like the pagans he emphasized moderation courage justice and prudence for Ambrose these characteristics were shaped by the church s beliefs about God s salvific economy Milton's

Canada Douglas Ord,2003 The National Gallery of Canada Ideas Art and Architecture examines the National Gallery as an institution a collection and a series of sites for the display of the nation s art Douglas Ord explores how throughout the gallery's development art has consistently been linked to notions of religious truth, national spirit and hallowed atmosphere culminating in Moshe Safdie's design for the institution's current building. Integrating accounts of political intrigue and public controversy with philosophy, art theory and architectural analysis, Ord provides vivid accounts of successive directors' struggles to obtain a permanent home for the nation's art and sheds light on the place and the role of art in Canada. Contemporary Perspectives on the History of Philosophy Peter A. French, Theodore Edward Uehling, Howard K. Wettstein, 1983. Contemporary Perspectives on the History of Philosophy was first published in 1983. Minnesota Archive Editions uses digital technology to make long unavailable books once again accessible and are published unaltered from the original University of Minnesota Press editions. The authors of the 27 papers in Volume 8, Midwest Studies in Philosophy, have established reputations as historians of philosophy, but their vantage point here is from contemporary perspectives; they use contemporary analytic skills to examine problems and issues considered by past philosophers. The papers, arranged in historical order, fall into six groups: ancient philosophy: the Pythagoreans, Plato and Aristotle; the seventeenth century rationalists: Descartes, Leibniz and Spinoza; the empiricists: Locke, Berkeley and Hume; Kant; the nineteenth century: Hegel, Schopenhauer and Mill; and in conclusion, an essay on Wittgenstein's Tractatus and two broad retrospective papers entitled Old Analyses of the Physical World and New Philosophies of Language and Moral Crisis and the History of Ethics.

Hagia Sophia and the Byzantine Aesthetic Experience Nadine Schibille, 2016-04-22. Paramount in the shaping of early Byzantine identity was the construction of the church of Hagia Sophia in Constantinople 532-537 CE. This book examines the edifice from the perspective of aesthetics to define the concept of beauty and the meaning of art in early Byzantium. Byzantine aesthetic thought is re-evaluated against late antique Neoplatonism and the writings of Pseudo-Dionysius that offer fundamental paradigms for the late antique attitude towards art and beauty. These metaphysical concepts of aesthetics are ultimately grounded in experiences of sensation and perception and reflect the ways in which the world and reality were perceived and grasped, signifying the cultural identity of early Byzantium. There are different types of aesthetic data: those present in the aesthetic object and those found in aesthetic responses to the object. This study looks at the aesthetic data embodied in the sixth-century architectural structure and interior decoration of Hagia Sophia as well as in literary responses (ekphrasis) to the building. The purpose of the Byzantine ekphrasis was to convey by verbal means the same effects that the artefact itself would have caused. A literary analysis of these rhetorical descriptions recaptures the Byzantine perception and expectations and at the same time reveals the cognitive processes triggered by the Great Church. The central aesthetic feature that emerges from sixth-century ekphrasis of Hagia Sophia is that of light. Light is described as the decisive element in the experience of the sacred space and light is simultaneously associated with the notion of wisdom. It is argued that the concepts of light and wisdom are interwoven programmatic elements that underlie the unique architecture and non-figurative decoration of Hagia Sophia. A similar concern for the phenomenon of light and its epistemological dimension is reflected in other contemporary monuments testifying to the pervasiveness of these aesthetic values in early Byzantium

Humanism and Artificial Intelligence Rosa Fioravante, Antonino Vaccaro, 2025-04-04 This book contributes to the debate on humanism in AI by providing a so far lacking comprehensive account of the significant challenges posed by AI to organizations from a humanistic perspective It does so in two ways by discussing ethical challenges of AI using humanistic assumptions normative implications and underpinning theoretical stances and by focusing on those challenges that can be considered well suited to be tackled from a humanistic perspective as they are more urgent for humanistic led organizations as well as those willing to become so This new perspective allows for new and important discussions making the book an important read for philosophers of technology and AI

The Genesis of Plato's Thought Russell Tuttle, 2017-07-05 It is often said that to understand Plato we must understand his times Many readers who might accept without question this saying of historical criticism may still wonder why we should think it necessary to begin our enquiry as far back as Homer and beyond In the case of Plato there is an even greater need to pursue the argument back to the very beginnings of the historical period in which he lived and worked It is quite impossible to understand the genesis of Plato's ideas without understanding the profound change that Greek society underwent in the post Homeric period that preceded him This change in social structure created a mercantile progressive Greek society one which laid the foundations for all the subsequent history of Europe and the West The Genesis of Plato's Thought is particularly highly regarded because it departs vigorously from the traditional abstract static view of Plato's thought Winspear's volume on Plato's thought traces in a realistic fashion the deep reaching social and economic roots of Plato's concept of the state and society Winspear believes that nowhere can the social roots of philosophy be more sharply seen and more firmly apprehended than when one is dealing with the origins of Western philosophy among the Greeks His book contains the body of information which any reader should have if they wish to approach Plato as a historical figure To make the book useful to a wide circle of readers brief biographical identifications for the various important figures of Greek life are introduced in the text

Philosophy in Dialogue Gary Alan Scott, 2007-08-13 Traditional Plato scholarship in the English speaking world has assumed that Platonic dialogues are merely collections of arguments Inevitably the question arises If Plato wanted to present collections of arguments why did he write dialogues instead of treatises Concerned about this question some scholars have been experimenting with other more contextualized ways of reading the dialogues This anthology is among the first to present these new approaches as pursued by a variety of scholars As such it offers new perspectives on Plato as well as a suggestive view of Plato scholarship as something of a laboratory for historians of philosophy generally The essays gathered here each examine vital aspects of Plato's many methods considering his dialogues in relation to Thucydides and Homer narrative strategies and medical practice images and metaphors They offer surprising new research into such much studied works as The Republic as well as revealing views of lesser known dialogues like the Cratylus and Philebus With reference to thinkers such as Heidegger Gadamer and

Sartre the authors place the Platonic dialogues in an illuminating historical context Together their essays should reinvigorate the scholarly examination of the way Plato's dialogues work and should prompt a reconsideration of how the form of Plato's philosophical writing bears on the Platonic conception of philosophy

Aristotle's Voice Jasper Neel, 2013-11-14 In this book Jasper Neel's sure to be controversial resituating of Aristotle centers around three questions that have been constants in his twenty two years of teaching experience What does it mean to teach writing What should one know before teaching writing And if there is such a thing as research in the teaching of writing what is it Believing that all composition teachers are situated politically and socially both as part of the institution in which they teach and as beings with lived histories Neel examines his own life and the life of composition studies as a discipline in the context of Aristotle Neel first situates the Rhetoric as a political document he then situates the Rhetoric in the Aristotelian system and describes how professional discourse came to know itself through Aristotle's way of studying the world finally he examines the operation of the Rhetoric inside itself before arguing the need to turn to Aristotle's notion of sophistry as a way of negating his system By pointing out the connections among Aristotelian rhetoric the contemporary university and the contemporary writing teacher Neel shows that Aristotle's frightening social theories are as alive today as are Aristotelian notions of discourse Neel explains that by their very nature teachers must speak with a professional voice It is through showing how to hear one's professional voice that Neel explores the notion of professional discourse that originates with Aristotle In maintaining that one must pay a high price in order to speak through Aristotle's theory or to assume the role of professional he argues that no neutral ground exists either for pedagogy or for the analysis of pedagogy Neel concludes this discussion by proposing that Aristotelian sophistry is both an antidote to Aristotelian racism sexism and bigotry and a way of allowing Aristotelian categories of discourse to remain useful Finally as an Aristotelian a teacher and a writer Neel responds both to Aristotle and to professionalism by rethinking the influence of the past and reviving the voice of Aristotelian sophistry

Oxford Studies in Ancient Philosophy XXXII David Sedley, 2007-04-26 Oxford Studies in Ancient Philosophy is a volume of original articles on all aspects of ancient philosophy The articles may be of substantial length and include critical notices of major books OSAP is now published twice yearly in both hardback and paperback This volume features six pieces about Aristotle and five about Plato and Socrates The serial Oxford Studies in Ancient Philosophy OSAP is fairly regarded as the leading venue for publication in ancient philosophy It is where one looks to find the state of the art That the serial which presents itself more as an anthology than as a journal has traditionally allowed space for lengthier studies has tended only to add to its prestige it is as if OSAP thus declares that since it allows as much space as the merits of the subject require it can be more entirely devoted to the best and most serious scholarship Michael Pakaluk Bryn Mawr Classical Review

The Forms of the Affects Eugenie Brinkema, 2014-05-12 What is the relationship between a cinematic grid of color and that most visceral of negative affects disgust How might anxiety be a matter of an interrupted horizontal line or grief a figure of blazing light Offering a bold corrective to the emphasis on embodiment and experience in recent affect theory Eugenie Brinkema develops a novel mode of criticism that locates the forms of particular affects within the specific details of cinematic and textual construction Through close readings of works by Roland Barthes Hollis Frampton Sigmund Freud Peter Greenaway Michael Haneke Alfred Hitchcock Søren Kierkegaard and David Lynch Brinkema shows that deep attention to form structure and aesthetics enables a fundamental rethinking of the study of sensation In the process she delves into concepts as diverse as putrescence in French gastronomy the role of the tear in philosophies of emotion Nietzschean joy as a wild aesthetic of repetition and the psychoanalytic theory of embarrassment Above all this provocative work is a call to harness the vitality of the affective turn for a renewed exploration of the possibilities of cinematic form

Meditation as Spiritual Therapy Matthew McWhorter, Matthew R. McWhorter, 2024 Christian persons today might seek spiritual development and ponder the benefit of mindfulness exercises but also maintain concerns if they perceive such exercises to originate from other religious traditions Such persons may not be aware of a long tradition of meditation practice in Christianity that promotes personal growth This spiritual tradition receives a careful formulation by Christian monastic authors in the twelfth century One such teaching on meditation is found in the treatise De consideratione written by St Bernard of Clairvaux d 1153 to Pope Eugene III d 1153 In textual passages where St Bernard exhibits a clear concern for the mental health of the Pope due to numerous ongoing ecclesial political and military problems St Bernard reminds Eugene III of his original monastic vocation and the meditation exercises associated with that vocation The advice that St Bernard gives to Eugene III can be received today in a way that provides a structure for Christian meditation practice which is relevant for personal development spiritual direction and civil psychotherapy that integrates a client s spirituality into the course of treatment St Bernard thus might be interpreted as a teacher of a kind of Christian mindfulness that can benefit both a person s mental health as well as a person s relationship with God Meditation as Spiritual Therapy examines the historical context of Bernard s work his purpose for writing it as well as the numerous Christian sources he drew upon to formulate his teaching Bernard s teaching on the course of meditation itself is explored in depth and in dialogue with his other treatises letters and sermons Lastly a contemporary summary of Bernard s teaching is provided with reflections concerning the relationship of this teaching to contemporary spiritual direction and spiritually integrated civil psychotherapy
