Rereading The Stone:

Rereading the Stone Anthony C. Yu, 2018-06-05 The eighteenth century Hongloumeng known in English as Dream of the Red Chamber or The Story of the Stone is generally considered to be the greatest of Chinese novels one that masterfully blends realism and romance psychological motivation and fate daily life and mythical occurrences as it narrates the decline of a powerful Chinese family In this path breaking study Anthony Yu goes beyond the customary view of Hongloumeng as a vivid reflection of late imperial Chinese culture by examining the novel as a story about fictive representation Through a maze of literary devices the novel challenges the authority of history as well as referential biases in reading At the heart of Hongloumeng Yu argues is the narration of desire Desire appears in this tale as the defining trait and problem of human beings and at the same time shapes the novel's literary invention and effect According to Yu this focalizing treatment of desire may well be Hongloumeng's most distinctive accomplishment Through close readings of selected episodes Yu analyzes principal motifs of the narrative such as dream mirror literature religious enlightenment and rhetorical reflexivity in relation to fictive representation He contextualizes his discussions with a comprehensive genealogy of qing desire disposition sentiment feeling a concept of fundamental importance in historical Chinese culture and shows how the text ingeniously exploits its multiple meanings Spanning a wide range of comparative literary sources Yu creates a new conceptual framework in which to reevaluate this masterpiece

Ming Erotic Novellas Richard G Wang, 2011-03-13 Richard Wang's Ming Erotic Novellas is path breaking in its attention to a virtually ignored body of literature that certainly influenced the writing of the Jin Ping Mei the Sanyan vernacular stories and most likely Li Yu's fiction Compared to other titles in the field this is the first scholarly monograph in any language to contextualize the erotic novellas of late imperial China Moreover existing studies in this area have tended to concentrate on a limited number of works of Chinese erotic fiction or have only brushed up against these works tangentially during more general discussion of Ming and Qing literature Ming Erotic Novellas adopts a provocative approach to fiction moving beyond the traditional textual analyses of gender politics and the qing cult and examining these erotic novellas as a new genre within the contexts of print culture readership consumption patterns as well as religious dimensions Ming Erotic Novellas focuses on a group of mid to late Ming literary wenyan novellas which are all stories of erotic romance These novellas include a profusion of poems mixed with prose narratives that are characterized by simple literary Chinese with a tendency toward the vernacular Their plots are complex with some running 20 000 characters or more allowing for nuanced character development rich dialogue and psychological description Circulated widely during the Ming the novellas had a significant impact on later erotic and scholarbeauty caizi jiaren novels This particular group of novellas was of great importance in the development of Chinese fiction functioning as a transitional link between the classical tale to the vernacular novel By approaching these works through the lens of a cultural study Wang is able to explore the social functions of the novellas as well as their significance in the development of Chinese fiction in the

Ming cultural context Chinese Theories of Fiction Ming Dong Gu,2007-06-01 In this innovative work Ming Dong Gu examines Chinese literature and traditional Chinese criticism to construct a distinctly Chinese theory of fiction and places it within the context of international fiction theory He argues that because Chinese fiction or xiaoshuo was produced in a tradition very different from that of the West it has formed a system of fiction theory that cannot be adequately accounted for by Western fiction theory grounded in mimesis and realism Through an inquiry into the macrocosm of Chinese fiction the art of formative works and theoretical data in fiction commentaries and intellectual thought Gu explores the conceptual and historical conditions of Chinese fiction in relation to European and world fiction In the process Gu critiques and challenges some accepted views of Chinese fiction and provides a theoretical basis for fresh approaches to fiction study in general and Chinese fiction in particular Such masterpieces as the Jin Ping Mei The Plum in the Golden Vase and the Hongloulou The Story of the Stone are discussed at length to advance his notion of fiction and fiction theory Competing Discourses Maram Epstein,2020-05-11 In the traditional Chinese symbolic vocabulary the construction of gender was never far from debates about ritual propriety desire and even cosmic harmony Competing Discourses maps the aesthetic and semantic meanings associated with gender in the Ming Qing vernacular novel through close readings of five long narratives Marriage Bonds to Awaken the World Dream of the Red Chamber A Country Codger's Words of Exposure Flowers in the Mirror and A Tale of Heroic Lovers Maram Epstein argues that the authors of these novels manipulated gendered terms to achieve structural coherence These patterns are however frequently at odds with other gendered structures in the texts and authors exploited these conflicts to discuss the problem of orthodox behavior versus the cult of feeling Red-Light Novels of the Late Qing Chloë F. Starr,2007 Chloe Starr's book offers a comprehensive literary reading of six nineteenth century Chinese red light novels and assesses how and why they alter our view of late Qing fiction and the authorial self The Scholar and the State Liangyan Ge,2015-01-01 In imperial China intellectuals devoted years of their lives to passing rigorous examinations in order to obtain a civil service position in the state bureaucracy This traditional employment of the literati class conferred social power and moral legitimacy but changing social and political circumstances in the Ming 1368 1644 and Qing 1644 1911 periods forced many to seek alternative careers Politically engaged but excluded from their traditional bureaucratic roles creative writers authored critiques of state power in the form of fiction written in the vernacular language In this study Liangyan Ge examines the novels Romance of the Three Kingdoms The Scholars Dream of the Red Chamber also known as Story of the Stone and a number of erotic pieces showing that as the literati class grappled with its own increasing marginalization its fiction reassessed the assumption that intellectuals proper role was to serve state interests and began to imagine possibilities for a new political order The Individual and Utopia Clint Jones,Cameron Ellis,2016-03-09 Central to the idea of a perfect society is the idea that communities must be strong and bound together with shared ideologies However while this may be true rarely are the individuals that comprise a community given primacy of place as central to a strong communal theory This volume moves away from the dominant current macro level theorising on the subject of identity and its relationship to and with globalising trends focusing instead on the individual's relationship with utopia so as to offer new interpretive approaches for engaging with and examining utopian individuality Interdisciplinary in scope and bringing together work from around the world The Individual and Utopia enquires after the nature of the utopian as citizen demonstrating the inherent value of making the individual central to utopian theorizing and highlighting the methodologies necessary for examining the utopian individual The various approaches employed reveal what it is to be an individual yoked by the idea of citizenship and challenge the ways that we have traditionally been taught to think of the individual as citizen As such it will appeal to scholars with interests in social theory philosophy literature cultural studies architecture and feminist thought whose work intersects with political thought utopian theorizing or the study of humanity or human nature

Fictions of Enlightenment Qiancheng Li, 2003-12-31 Fictions of Enlightenment is the first book to examine the fascinating and intricate relationship between Buddhism and the development of Chinese vernacular fiction Qiancheng Li brings Buddhist models to bear on the vision structure and narrative form of three classics of late imperial literature Journey to the West Tower of Myriad Mirrors and Dream of the Red Chamber arguing that by fashioning their plots after the narratives of certain Mahayana sutras the novelists transformed Buddhist concepts into narrative structures Within the traditional Chinese novel Li even defines a new genre the fiction of enlightenment

Androgyny in Late Ming and Early Qing Literature

Zuyan Zhou, 2003-02-28 The frequent appearance of androgyny in Ming and Qing literature has long interested scholars of late imperial Chinese culture A flourishing economy widespread education rising individualism a prevailing hedonism all of these had contributed to the gradual disintegration of traditional gender roles in late Ming and early Qing China 1550-1750 and given rise to the phenomenon of androgyny Now Zuyan Zhou sheds new light on this important period offering a highly original and astute look at the concept of androgyny in key works of Chinese fiction and drama from the sixteenth to the eighteenth centuries The work begins with an exploration of androgyny in Chinese philosophy and Ming Qing culture Zhou proceeds to examine chronologically the appearance of androgyny in major literary writing of the time yielding novel interpretations of canonical works from The Plum in the Golden Vase through the scholar beauty romances to The Dream of the Red Chamber He traces the ascendance of the androgyny craze in the late Ming its culmination in the Ming Qing transition and its gradual phasing out after the mid Qing The study probes deviations from engendered codes of behavior both in culture and literature then focuses on two parallel areas androgyny in literary characterization and androgyny in literati identity The author concludes that androgyny in late Ming and early Qing literature is essentially the dissident literati's stance against tyrannical politics a psychological strategy to relieve anxiety over growing political inferiority

Rereading Women: Thirty Years of Exploring Our Literary Traditions Sandra M. Gilbert, 2011-05-02 A collection of essays that reexamine literature through a feminist gaze from one of our most versatile and gifted writers Joyce Carol Oates We think back through our mothers if we are women wrote Virginia Woolf In this groundbreaking series of essays Sandra M. Gilbert explores how our literary mothers have influenced us in our writing and in life She considers the effects of these literary mothers by examining her own history and the work of such luminaries as Charlotte Brontë Emily Dickinson and Sylvia Plath In the course of the book she charts her own development as a feminist demonstrates ways of understanding the dynamics of gender and genre and traces the redefinitions of maternity reflected in texts by authors such as Elizabeth Barrett Browning and George Eliot Throughout Gilbert asks major questions about feminism in the twentieth century Why and how did its ideas become so necessary to women in the sixties and seventies What have those feminist concepts come to mean in the new century And above all how have our intellectual mothers shaped our thoughts today bear on writers memoirs autobiographical accounts of reading and interviews with readers Rereading Childhood Books explores how adults remember revisit and sometimes forget these significant books Asking what it means to return to familiar works by well known authors such as Lewis Carroll C S Lewis and Enid Blyton as well as popular and ephemeral material not often considered as part of the canon Alison Waller develops a poetics of rereading and presents a new model for understanding lifelong reading As such she reconceives the history of children s literature through the shared and individual experiences of the readers who carry these books with them throughout their lives

The Substance of Fiction

Sophie Volpp, 2022-06-28 Do the portrayals of objects in literary texts represent historical evidence about the material culture of the past Or are things in books more than things in the world Sophie Volpp considers fictional objects of the late Ming and Qing that defy being read as illustrative of historical things Instead she argues fictional objects are often signs of fictionality themselves calling attention to the nature of the relationship between literature and materiality Volpp examines a series of objects a robe a box and a shell a telescope a plate glass mirror and a painting drawn from the canonical works frequently mined for information about late imperial material culture including the novels The Plum in the Golden Vase and The Story of the Stone as well as the short fiction of Feng Menglong Ling Mengchu and Li Yu She argues that although fictional objects invite readers to think of them as illustrative in fact inconsistent and discontinuous representation disconnects the literary object from potential historical analogues The historical resonances of literary objects illuminate the rhetorical strategies of individual works of fiction and more broadly conceptions of fictionality in the Ming and Qing Rather than offering a transparent lens on the past fictional objects train the reader to be aware of the fallibility of perception A deeply insightful analysis of late Ming and Qing texts and reading practices The Substance of Fiction has important implications for Chinese literary studies history and art history as well as the material turn in the humanities

Retelling/rereading Karl Kroeber, 1992 In this passionate erudite and far ranging book Kroeber renews for our multi cultural age a fundamental argument the stories we tell hear read and see make a difference to the lives we read Jonathan Arac University of Pittsburgh In this highly readable and thoroughly original book Karl Kroeber questions the assumptions about storytelling we have inherited from the exponents of modernism and postmodernism These assumptions have led to overly formalistic and universalizing conceptions of narrative that mystify the social functions of storytelling Even politically correct critics have Eurocentrically defined story as too primitive to be taken seriously as art Kroeber reminds us that the fundamental value of storytelling lies in retelling this paradoxical remaking anew that constitutes story s role as one of the essential modes of discourse His work develops some recent anthropological and feminist criticism to delineate the participative function of audience in narrative performances In depicting how audiences contribute to storytelling transactions Kroeber carries us into a surprising array of examples ranging from a Mesopotamian sculpture to Derek Walcott s Omeros startling juxtapositions such as Cervantes to Vermeer and innovative readings of familiar novels and paintings Tom

Wolfe's comparison of his Bonfire of the Vanities to Vanity Fair is critically analyzed as are the differences between Thackeray's novel and Joyce's Ulysses and Flaubert's Madame Bovary. Other discussions focus on traditional Native American stories, Henry James's The Ambassadors, Calvino's If on a winter's night a traveler, and narrative paintings of Giotto, Holman Hunt, and Roy Lichtenstein. Kroeber deploys the ideas of Ricoeur and Bakhtin to reassess dramatically the field of narrative theory, demonstrating why contemporary narratologists overrate plot and undervalue story's capacity to give meaning to the contingencies of real experience. Retelling: Rereading provides solid theoretical grounding for a new understanding of storytelling's strange role in twentieth-century art and of our need to develop a truly multicultural narrative criticism. □□□
