Research and Development Activity in U.S. Manufacturing Albert N. Link,1981 Monograph using 1977 1978 survey data to analyse issues of industrial research in USA enterprises presents an overview to research and development trends discusses the relation of size of enterprise to Innovation activity in view of investment return and the role of industrial policy support to r and d and includes details of the data analysis approach used Bibliography pp 113 to 120 graphs and questionnaire

Foreign Participation in U.S. Research and Development National Academy of Engineering,Committee on Foreign Participation in U.S. Research and Development,1996-06-05 During the past decade foreign participation in U S research and development through acquisition of R D intensive businesses links with universities and other arrangements has expanded rapidly This emergence of foreign influence has drawn a mixed response some regard the trend as a positive corollary to the expanding involvement of U S owned companies in national markets abroad Others consider it a net liability for Americans that often benefits foreign companies and their home economies at U S expense There exists a large gap in expert and public understanding of the drivers nature and consequences of foreign participation in the nation s technology enterprise This volume seeks to close this gap and reviews The nature of R D activities and how they contribute to economic development The causes scope and nature of foreign involvement in U S based R D activity and the associated costs risks benefits and opportunities of this trend The merits and liabilities of policies to regulate foreign R D participation

Research and Development in Indian Industry Govind Chand Beri,1993     Innovation in the U.S. Service Sector Michael P. Gallagher,Albert N. Link,Jeffrey E. Petrusa,2007-01-24 Using a cutting edge structure where a current description of the service sector and up to date case studies are compared and contrasted with innovative activity in manufacturing this book contributes towards a better theoretical understanding of innovation in the U S service sector The U S service sector is the largest sector in the U S economy and accounts for an increasingly significant share of U S gross domestic product currently 68 percent Both in the United States as well as in other industrialized nations the service sector is a dynamic component of economic activity and growth As pervasive and economically important as the service sector is innovative activity in service sector firms remains somewhat of an enigma it is not well understood and not well defined because it differs dramatically from the traditional model of innovation in manufacturing Innovation in the U S Service Sector fills this void placing emphasis on the United States but with global relevance It is essential reading for all students of business and management economics and political science     Global Competitiveness of U.S. Advanced-technology Manufacturing Industries ,1991

Technological Change & Productivity Growth A. Link,2013-06-17 This volume reviews the literature on productivity growth and relates it to the production function approach to technological change     Industrial Innovation and Firm Performance Mario I. Kafouros,2008-01-01 Examines the impacts of innovation and scientific knowledge on the productivity performance of multinational corporations and the conditions under which companies benefit from their technological discoveries Also investigates the extent to which the research efforts of other companies can contribute to a firm's productivity and how multinationals build on external inventions ideas and knowledge     Manufacturing R&D United States.
