This book investigates the relationship between context and leadership in post conflict Cambodia Building on the understanding that approaches to leadership are tightly woven within the contexts that leaders operate the authors examine the case of primary school leadership in

Cambodia A low income and post conflict society rocked by civil war and genocide between the 1960s and the 1990s the country is perhaps unsurprisingly faced with numerous challenges as it engages in the process of national rehabilitation and reconstruction particularly in relation to the education system The authors provide a comprehensive historical background to primary school leadership not only in Cambodia but in post conflict environments more broadly informing school leadership preparation development and support and facilitating understanding of the context in which school leaders work This book will be of value to students and scholars of primary school education and education in post conflict countries as well as to practitioners and policy makers

Educational Leadership Relationally Scott Eacott, 2015-01-19 Educational leadership management and administration has a rich history of epistemological and ontological dialogue and debate However in recent times at least since the publication of Colin Evers and Gabriele Lakowski's trilogy knowing exploring and doing educational administration there has been a distinct dearth Educational Leadership Relationally explicitly returns matters of epistemology and ontology to the centre of the discussion Through a sustained and rigorous engagement with contemporary thought and analysis Scott Eacott articulates and defends a relational approach to scholarship in educational leadership management and administration Eacott belongs to a group of scholars in educational administration who could be called meta sociologist This group blends sociology historical revisionism managerial theories and general philosophy to emphasise the relevance of sociological analysis in the field of educational administration Proposing a relational turn Eacott outlines a methodological agenda for constructing an alternative approach to educational leadership management and administration scholarship that might be persuasive beyond the critical frontier The relational research programme is arguably the most ambitious agenda in educational leadership management and administration coming out of Australia since Colin Evers and Gabriele Lakowski's natural coherentism and Richard Bates Critical Theory of Educational Administration As a research agenda it engages with the centrality of administration in constructions of the social world the legitimization of popular labels such as leadership the inexhaustible and inseparable grounding of administrative labour in time and space and overcomes contemporary tensions of individualism collectivism and structure agency to provide a productive rather than merely critical space to theorise educational leadership management and administration
