

subject index. While a full-length bibliography of historical Bornoana is a research tool which may be expected from such a dedicated editorial board, in the meantime no researcher or librarian should overlook the extensive bibliographies attached individually to some of the present articles — of which the Thambyapillay (his name is spelled differently passim) and Lavers ones are admirable examples of scholarship.

The editor, Professor C.M.B. Brann, has already warned how "in Nigeria, the relatively short history of academic periodicals is punctuated by ephemeral volumes, the first and the last of their kind, often initiated by young scholars in a burst of enthusiasm" (the same can be said for student journals everywhere). But if the University of Maiduguri can turn this maiden issue into a genuine and regular serial (a fate which has eluded too many of its Nigerian predecessors, including the once admirable Journal of the Historical Society of Nigeria, Nigerian Field, and Kano Studies), then Vice-Chancellor Jibril Aminu's hope of "through the Annals of Borno giving readers an insight into this fascinating part of Nigeria and of Africa" can be realised.

Few academic journals originating from Nigeria's younger universities over the past two decades can have been characterised by such an excellent and exciting maiden issue. It is sincerely to be hoped that the editorial board will ensure the continuance of this substantial item of credit to the University of Maiduguri's academic reputation and of furtherance to Nigerianist scholarship everywhere.

Research Priorities in African Literatures ed. by Bernth Lindfors. Oxford: Zell; München; New York; London; Paris: Saur, 1984. pp.222. ISBN 0 905450 17 5. £21.

'Is anything wrong with African literary studies?', asks Albert Gérard in arguably one of the most comprehensive and challenging papers in this collection originally presented at a conference organised by Bernth Lindfors, with the support of the Joint Committee on African Studies of the American Council of Learned Societies, and the Social Sciences Research Council (sic), which took place at the Africa Centre, London, in May 1983.

Both Ngugi wa Thiong'o, the Kenyan writer and the Nigerian critic Chinweizu say yes, in that they see so much contemporary scholarship concerning itself almost exclusively with literatures written in European languages and imbued with Eurocentric if not pervasive colonialist presuppositions and attitudes. Gérard himself acknowledges that too often too much has been said about too little and that not very well (a point reiterated by Alastair Niven in another paper), and argues for more research into African languages and African-language literatures, closer contextual studies, and more controversially, a greater awareness of the methods of Comparative Literature leading to 'a genuine understanding of the collective psychological problems with which the whole of mankind is beset'.

Insofar as this conference was concerned with research priorities it set itself more specifically scholarly objectives than the 1984 London Conference New Directions in African Literature (signalled in part by its reference to literatures rather than literature). African literature like the continent itself is enormous and diverse East Africa's literature is different from West Africa's which is quite different from South Africa's which has different influences on it than North Africa's Africa's literature is based on a widespread heritage of oral literature some of which has now been recorded Arabic influence can be detected as well as European especially French and English Legends myths proverbs riddles and folktales form the mother load of the oral literature This book presents an overview of African literature as well as a comprehensive bibliography primarily of English language sources Accessed by subject author and title indexes      Research in African Literatures, 2003 Vol 1 spring 1970 include A Bibliography of American doctoral dissertations on African literature compiled by Nancy J Schmidt

Comparative Approaches to African Literatures Bernth Lindfors, 1994 Some of the essays in this book notably those concerned with examining Western influences on sub Saharan African writings tracing Shakespearean and Brechtian echoes in Nigerian drama for instance or following the footprints of Sherlock Holmes in Swahili detective fiction fit the traditional definition of comparative literature These are essays that cross national literary boundaries and sometimes transcend language barriers as well They look for correspondences in related literary phenomena from widely dispersed areas of the globe bringing together what is akin from what is akimbo But most of the essays included here involve closer comparisons Two focus on works produced in different languages within the same African nation Yoruba and English in Nigeria Afrikaans and English in South Africa and one presents a taxonomy of dominant literary forms in English in three East African nations Others concentrate on the oeuvre of a single author and on the likely future output of exiled writers who soon will be returning home One essay contrasts discursive tendencies within the same text and another investigates conflicting African and Western religious beliefs A great variety of comparative methodologies is deployed here not all of these are transnational multilingual or pluralistic in scope The last two groups of essays deal with matters of characterization and authorial reputation Studies of the depiction of African Americans politicians and women in a wide range of African literary texts are followed by an assessment of the current standing of anglophone Africa's leading authors In entering such highly contested terrain the comparatist approach adopted has been that of the neutral witness to early African attempts comparatist in their own way to define an African canon of classic texts Authors discussed include Ama Ata Aidoo Ghana Chinua Achebe John Pepper Clark Cyprian Ekwensi D O Fagunwa Wole Soyinka and Amos Tutuola Nigeria Peter Abrahams J M Coetzee Nadine Gordimer Alex La Guma Thomas Mofolo Es'kia Mphahlele and Karel Schoeman South Africa      African Literatures in the Eighties, 2023-12-21 Matatu is a journal on African literatures and societies dedicated to interdisciplinary dialogue between literary and cultural studies historiography the social sciences and cultural anthropology Matatu is animated by a lively interest in African culture and literature including the Afro Caribbean that moves beyond worn out clichés of cultural

Amuta, 2017-06-15 This groundbreaking work first published in 1989 was one of the first to challenge the conventional critical assessment of African literature and remains highly influential today Amuta's key argument is that African literature can be discussed only within the wider framework of the dismantling of colonial rule and Western hegemony in Africa In exploring the possibility of a dialectical alternative critical base he draws upon both classical Marxist aesthetics and the theories of African culture espoused by Fanon Cabral and Ngugi From these explorations Amuta derives a new language of criticism which is then applied to works by modern African writers as diverse as Achebe Ousmane Agostinho Neto and Dennis Brutus Amuta's highly original and innovative approach remains relevant not only for assessing the literature of developing countries but for Marxist and postcolonial theories of literary criticism more generally The author's elegance of argument and clarity of exposition makes this a distinguished and lasting contribution to debates around cultural expression in postcolonial Africa

Research Priorities In African Literatures Introduction

In today's digital age, the availability of Research Priorities In African Literatures books and manuals for download has revolutionized the way we access information. Gone are the days of physically flipping through pages and carrying heavy textbooks or manuals. With just a few clicks, we can now access a wealth of knowledge from the comfort of our own homes or on the go. This article will explore the advantages of Research Priorities In African Literatures books and manuals for download, along with some popular platforms that offer these resources. One of the significant advantages of Research Priorities In African Literatures books and manuals for download is the cost-saving aspect. Traditional books and manuals can be costly, especially if you need to purchase several of them for educational or professional purposes. By accessing Research Priorities In African Literatures versions, you eliminate the need to spend money on physical copies. This not only saves you money but also reduces the environmental impact associated with book production and transportation.

Furthermore, Research Priorities In African Literatures books and manuals for download are incredibly convenient. With just a computer or smartphone and an internet connection, you can access a vast library of resources on any subject imaginable. Whether you're a student looking for textbooks, a professional seeking industry-specific manuals, or someone interested in self-improvement, these digital resources provide an efficient and accessible means of acquiring knowledge. Moreover, PDF books and manuals offer a range of benefits compared to other digital formats. PDF files are designed to retain their formatting regardless of the device used to open them. This ensures that the content appears exactly as intended by the author, with no loss of formatting or missing graphics. Additionally, PDF files can be easily annotated, bookmarked, and searched for specific terms, making them highly practical for studying or referencing. When it comes to accessing Research Priorities In African Literatures books and manuals, several platforms offer an extensive collection of resources. One such platform is Project Gutenberg, a nonprofit organization that provides over 60,000 free eBooks. These books are primarily in the public domain, meaning they can be freely distributed and downloaded. Project Gutenberg offers a wide range of classic literature, making it an excellent resource for literature enthusiasts. Another popular platform for Research Priorities In African Literatures books and manuals is Open Library. Open Library is an initiative of the Internet Archive, a non-profit organization dedicated to digitizing cultural artifacts and making them accessible to the public. Open Library hosts millions of books, including both public domain works and contemporary titles. It also allows users to borrow digital copies of certain books for a limited period, similar to a library lending system. Additionally, many universities and educational institutions have their own digital libraries that provide free access to PDF books and manuals. These libraries often offer academic texts, research papers, and technical manuals, making them invaluable resources for students and researchers. Some notable examples include MIT OpenCourseWare, which offers free access to course materials from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and the Digital Public Library of America, which provides a vast collection of digitized books and historical documents. In conclusion, Research Priorities In African Literatures books and manuals for download have transformed the way we access information. They provide a cost-effective and convenient means of acquiring knowledge, offering the ability to access a vast library of resources at our fingertips. With platforms like Project Gutenberg, Open Library, and various digital libraries offered by educational institutions, we have access to an ever-expanding collection of books and manuals. Whether for educational, professional, or personal purposes, these digital resources serve as valuable tools for continuous learning and self-improvement. So why not take advantage of the vast world of Research Priorities In African Literatures books and manuals for download and embark on your journey of knowledge?
