Rugby Bill Stott, 2004 Whether you think of them as burly brutes or gentle giants rugby players are a very special breed This book reveals the appeal of the rugby an incurable love of mud Jungle Green & Rugby C W (Tasi) Woodard, 2022-12-08 The author s family heritage is traced back to convict stock with the mother s side Irish and the father s English Tasi was born on a remote Bass Strait Island at the end of the great depression and before the initiation of World War Two virtually living off the land with little schooling Mother nature and necessity was his education On horseback with a gun in hand trapping fishing and hunting while mainly dairy farming with his father and two elder siblings was the norm Amidst the conveniences of today Tasi never experienced electricity or even riding in a car and all this within the first ten years of his life The author was always going to be a soldier with his families military history detailing ten members which involved service in World War One and World War Two He was the only member that joined during peace time though his military service which covered almost twenty six years included overseas involvement in the warring campaign of The Malayan Emergency and two tours of Viet Nam Tasi s post military service included involvement in the 100th anniversary 2018 of the battles on the Western Front with a presentation to the Mayor of Montbrehain France the village reclaimed in General Monash s last conflict of World War One utilising the Australian Imperial Forces Dawn Services at both Gallipoli Turkey and Villers Bretonneux France which upon invitation included a wreath laying ceremony at Menin Gate Ypres Belgium on behalf of Australia Interlaced within this is the author s rugby career over forty years in both service and civilian capacity The book details the many stories of his involvement as a player captain and captain coach of local and representative military rugby in both the northern and southern hemispheres This then transpired into a tenure of involvement within Queensland Rugby Union Insightfully at another layer Tasi also shares the creation and his Australian involvement with the development of the Veterans and Golden Oldies Rugby movement up to an international level The travelling experience of the author covers six continents with much of it being rugby related though also covers numerous other sporting experiences It involves some of the world s great and renowned sporting identities with Tasi being entertained by some This book is factual historical political sporting humorous and sad which reaches out to an age group from the 1930s into the twenty first century My Grumpy Wolf: A Grumpy Sunshine Age Gap Shifter Romance Shelley Munro, He refused to fall in love Maia is excited to score a rugby contract to play for a women s team and when it places her in the same small country town as her childhood crush she isn t sure what reaction to expect But it certainly isn t his grumpy rejection and watching Henry s back as he flees her presence Wolf shifter Henry lost his mate when a madman murdered her and he isn t about to risk his heart again despite the attraction simmering between him and the younger shiny bright Maia The age gap is too large He s best to continue his solitary life rather than gamble with love In a shocking twist someone attacks Maia and Henry finds he can t ignore this beautiful woman who brings out his protective instincts He can t walk away even though history seems to be repeating itself She needs him and he s falling in love And that s where his problems begin

Americans in British Literature, 1770-1832 Christopher Flynn,2017-03-02 American independence was inevitable by 1780 but British writers spent the several decades following the American Revolution transforming their former colonists into something other than estranged British subjects Christopher Flynn s engaging and timely book systematically examines for the first time the ways in which British writers depicted America and Americans in the decades immediately following the revolutionary war Flynn documents the evolution of what he regards as an essentially anthropological if also in some ways familial interest in the former colonies and their citizens on the part of British writers Whether Americans are idealized as the embodiments of sincerity and virtue or anathematized as intolerable and ungrateful louts Flynn argues that the intervals between the acts of observing and writing and between writing and reading have the effect of distancing Britain and America temporally as well as geographically Flynn examines a range of canonical and noncanonical works sentimental novels of the 1780s and 1790s prose and poetry by Wollstonecraft Blake Coleridge and Wordsworth and novels and travel accounts by Smollett Lennox Frances Trollope and Basil Hall Together they offer a complex and revealing portrait of Americans as a breed apart which still resonates today

A Mother's Heart Loza Maybe,2021-01-23 The Heart Of A Mother Mothers are our first heros from birth They did an incredible deed by just that Keeping us They could have got rid of us before we were even a person Before we could even develop But they didn t No matter what the situation was at home they chose to keep us To raise us To love us Take care of us All through the struggles and dramas that life brings along every single day So for once let s just say something like this Mama mom mommy and Mother I love and respect you Thank you for everything you ve given me You gave me so much Life is the first And love is the second Care is the third So much more follows Because there is so many things you ve done for me So many And I am grateful for everything Even though sometimes I won t seem it Sometimes I ll be a burden I ll scream at you I ll say a whole lot of things that you won t appreciate because I m still young But as time progresses I ll grow I want you to know that I love you My angel My hero my superwoman my everything good in my life And I m not just talking about just biological moms I m talking about the one who raised you The one who had and still has to listen to your whining and complaining The one who disciplines you everytime you do something wrong but always stands up for you everytime something wrong is being done to you That s your mom A mom who loves and adores you even though you re full of mistakes and you re just a brat sometimes Your mother It doesn t even really have to be female A mom is someone who has the heart of a mother

If This Is the Highway (I'll Take the Dirt Road) Joel Swadling,2021-09-22 An actor presenter producer and director David Branson was a dazzling fountain of energy whose artistic endeavors throughout Australia enlivened and advanced the careers of many performing artists In this book many of those share intriguing encounters with this particularly individual figure of inspiration reflecting upon and revealing how he and they helped to shape the grass roots avant garde of the performing arts in Australia Author Joel Swadling who worked with Branson highlights how Branson gained fame throughout Australia as one of the founders of Splinters Theatre of Spectacle a twelve year experiment in multimedia cross discipline outdoor ritual and through other endeavors After Branson's death the avant garde excitement of Canberra faded for a time without his spirit and guidance If This Is the Highway I'll Take the Dirt Road celebrates and illuminates the impact of one of the avant garde's most talented titans Calm Waters & No Horizon Marina de Nadous, 2015-07-28 This sacred romance between two lovers fills the pages of an English housewife's on going diary continuing on from Marina de Nadous previous books The Celestial Sea Dry Dock and Setting Sail Calm Waters No Horizon continue the tale of Mouse and her lover Adrian who find themselves embracing an illicit but powerful connection they cannot deny Continuing their journey of self discovery they plead for understanding from those who have become entangled in their moral dilemma Set against the beautiful backdrop of coastal New Zealand Mouse and Adrian record their lengthy correspondence which details an intense spiritual passion and magical connection Mouse struggles as to which parts of her romance to share with the blank pages of her diary and she begins to realise that even the smallest details have consequences The reader accompanies the protagonists every move and thought following the deep intimacy and magical parallel Mouse and Adrian share within the hurly burly of domestic life Mouse's diary draws on her thoughts about emigration a mother's domestic world family life intimacy and adventure The ultimate escape from the trials of everyday life Calm Waters No Horizon are thought provoking deeply poetic and will appeal to readers who enjoy romance spiritual possibility and sacred love Sick On You Andrew Matheson, 2016-08-02 MOJO magazine's 2015 Book of the Year the outrageous true story of the Hollywood Brats the greatest punk band you've never heard of brilliantly told by founding member Andrew Matheson With only a guitar a tatty copy of the Melody Maker and his template for the perfect band Andrew Matheson set out in 1971 to make music history His band the Hollywood Brats were pre punk prophets uncompromising ultrathin wild and untamable Thrown into the crazy world of the 1970s London music scene the Brats recorded one genius but ignored album and ultimately fell foul of the crooks who ran a music industry that just wasn't quite ready for the punk revolution Directly inspiring Malcolm McLaren the Sex Pistols and the Clash the Hollywood Brats imploded too soon to share in the glory Sick On You is a startling funny and incredibly entertaining period memoir about never quite achieving success despite flying so close to greatness God Is Samoan Matt Tomlinson, 2020-03-31 Christian theologians in the Pacific Islands see culture as the grounds on which one understands God In this pathbreaking book Matt Tomlinson engages in an anthropological conversation with the work of contextual theologians exploring how the combination of Pacific Islands culture and Christianity shapes theological dialogues Employing both scholarly research and ethnographic fieldwork the author addresses a range of topics from radical criticisms of biblical stories as inappropriate for Pacific audiences to celebrations of traditional gods such as Tagaloa as inherently Christian figures This book presents a symphony of voices engaged critical prophetic from the contemporary Pacific's leading religious thinkers and suggests how their work articulates with broad social transformations in the region. Each chapter in this book focuses on a distinct type of culturally driven theological dialogue. One type is between readers and texts in which biblical scholars suggest new ways of reading and even rewriting the Bible so it becomes more meaningful in local terms. A second kind concerns the state of the church and society. For example, feminist theologians and those calling for prophetic action on social problems propose new conversations about how people in Oceania should navigate difficult times. A third kind of discussion revolves around identity, emphasizing what makes Oceania unique and culturally coherent. A fourth addresses the problems of climate change and environmental degradation to sacred lands by encouraging eco-theological awareness and interconnection. Finally, many contextual theologians engage with the work of other disciplines, prominently anthropology, as they develop new discourse on God, people, and the future of Oceania. Contextual theology allows people in Oceania to speak with God and fellow humans through the idiom of culture in a distinctly Pacific way. Tomlinson concludes, however, that the most fruitful topic of dialogue might not be culture but rather the nature of dialogue itself. Written in an accessible, engaging style and presenting innovative findings, this book will interest students and scholars of anthropology, world religion, theology, globalization, and Pacific studies.

Mooi Street and Other Moves Paul Slabolepszy, 2017-06-01. A collection of six plays by South Africa's leading playwright and actor featuring works written between 1984 and 1993. "...And Then What Happened?" Victor Kelley, 2013-06-20. Most people in our country become fascinated by stories reported by favorite newscasters. Walter Cronkite and Ed Murrow being two prime examples that had wide audiences who accepted their comments and reported their news and views as gospel. Chicago, on the other hand, began a love affair with a street reporter named Studs Terkel. 1912-2008, whose 45-year career of recording interviews with a wide spectrum of street people and common folk who were asked for their views on what they liked, hated, living circumstances, and an abundance of topics that they tolerated but despised. Racial views being a prime topic of comments. The people Terkel sought out were the homeless, streetwalkers, prostitutes, cops, firemen, celebrities, doctors, teachers, businessmen, and a full spectrum of people in the building trades. Usually, those he chose to interview were more than pleased to be asked for their comments and would pour out stories that made Terkel's hour-long radio broadcasts on Chicago's WFMT a fascinating listening experience. As if the person being interviewed hadn't bared enough of his/her soul to the reporter, Terkel would wait until their story was finished, before then asking them, "and then what happened?" The shock of this quest invariably resulted with additional startling stories coming out of the mouths of the victims Studs had chosen to interview. In fact, these comments asked the people he interviewed after the first part of the story they rendered, revealed secrets and things that the person had never mentioned to anybody. They were like icing added to a cake and turned out to be the fascination that brought the reporter abundant listeners, as well as rendering Studs Terkel just about every book award and citation ever given to a single person in the United States. Studs Terkel's interviews gained him the top echelon of reporters during the 45 years that his radio and then television shows were in demand by Chicagoans from 1952-1997. His variety of stories was the catalyst that prompted Victor Kelley to publish his own version of events that fascinated readers of his eight books.

A Spook's Progress Maritz Spaarwater, 2012-07-05 From the 1960s Maritz Spaarwater was an intelligence agent for the South African government first for Military Intelligence and later for National Intelligence. In the late 1980s he was among the first to start official discussions overseas with the exiled leadership of the ANC and he became involved in the negotiations that led to the 1994 election. This is his story. A Spook's Progress plays out in a range of locations from army bases in Namibia to the NIS offices in Pretoria from the dusty streets of Freetown to the luxury of Geneva. Threaded through the narrative are encounters with people such as Sam Nujoma, Kenneth Kaunda, Niel Barnard, Roelf Meyer, Chris Hani, Thabo Mbeki and Jacob Zuma. An honest depiction of day to day life as a spy, the book delves into the relationship between intelligence agents and their political masters and reveals their behind the scenes role in facilitating the transition. At times serious, at times ironic and satirical, A Spook's Progress is a fascinating and frank account of an intelligence agent's life and work and his shift from making war to making peace.

Pal's & Neighbours Sep Burgess, 2012-05-03 This is the story of the lifestyle of three lads: Alan, Ron and Ken. They were all born and bred in a working class neighbourhood area of the Manchester and Salford dock lands during the hard times of the 1920s-30s and the war years of the 1940s. From meeting in the infants class on their very first day at school during the 1920s, the story follows them through the following years which includes the buildup to the war, the eventual outbreak of war, the air raids and the many roles played by them and their families amid the many colourful characters of the neighbourhood during the Manchester and Salford disastrous 1940 Christmas Blitz and beyond. Ken achieved his lifelong ambition to fly and as a RAF Sunderland pilot in Coastal Command he patrolled the North Atlantic and Norwegian Sea convoy routes involving him and his crew in many dangerous and harrowing engagements with the enemy and the unforgiving waters below. Ron also declared unfit for military service because of poor eyesight, dedicated himself after the Blitz to the rescue and welfare of the many terror-stricken, lost or abandoned homeless animals roaming the streets of Salford amid all the destruction. His dedication and with local help eventually led to the vital opening of an animal sanctuary. During the course of this fiction wrapped around a fact story, it highlights the spirit of the many real, unsung heroes that emerged in my Salford dock lands neighbourhood at a time when people pulled together regardless of the dangers and cost to themselves.
