Ruins Of Allegory:

The Ruins of Allegory Catherine Gimelli Martin, 1998 In a reexamination of the allegorical dimensions of PARADISE LOST Catherine Martin presents Milton's poem as a prophecy foretelling the end of one culture and its replacement by another Maintaining a dialogue with a critical tradition that extends from Johnson and Coleridge to the best contemporary Milton scholarship Martin sets PARADISE LOST in both the early modern and the postmodern worlds Ruins of Modernity Julia Hell, Andreas Schönle, 2010-03-19 This interdisciplinary work uses the concept of the ruin as an approach to the study of modernity asking whether there is an intrinsic logic of ruin at work in modernity Ruins in the Literary and Cultural Imagination Efterpi Mitsi, Anna Despotopoulou, Stamatina Dimakopoulou, Emmanouil Aretoulakis, 2019-11-28 This book focuses on literal and metaphorical ruins as they are appropriated and imagined in different forms of writing Examining British and American literature and culture in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries the book begins in the era of industrial modernity with studies of Charles Dickens Thomas Hardy Henry James and Daphne Du Maurier It then moves on to the significance of ruins in the twentieth century against the backdrop of conflict waste and destruction analyzing authors such as Beckett and Pinter Kurt Vonnegut Robert Lowell Anne Sexton and Leonard Cohen The collection concludes with current debates on ruins through discussions of Walter Benjamin and Bertolt Brecht as well as reflections on the refugee crisis that take the ruin beyond the text offering new perspectives on its diverse legacies and conceptual resources The Poetics of Ruins in Renaissance Literature Andrew Hui, 2017-01-02 The Renaissance was the Ruin naissance the birth of the ruin as a distinct category of cultural discourse one that inspired voluminous poetic production For humanists the ruin became the material sign that marked the rupture between themselves and classical antiquity In the first full length book to document this cultural phenomenon Andrew Hui explains how the invention of the ruin propelled poets into creating works that were self aware of their absorption of the past as well as their own survival in the future Mexico's Ruins Raúl Rodríguez-Hernández, 2012-02-01 At face value the concept of modernity seems to reference a stream of social and historical traffic headed down a utopian one way street named progress Mexico's Ruins examines modernity in twentieth century Mexican culture as a much more ambiguous concept arguing that such a single minded notion is inadequate to comprehend the complexity of modern Mexico's national projects and their reception by the nation's citizenry Instead through the trope of modernity as ruin author Raúl Rodríguez Hernández explores the dilemma presented by the etymology of ruins a simultaneous falling down and rising up a confluence of opposing forces at work on the skyline of the metropolis since 1968 He focuses on artists and writers of the generaci n de medio siglo like Juan García Ponce and envisions both the tales of modernity and their storytellers in a new light The arts literature and architecture of twentieth century Mexico are all examined in this cross cultural and interdisciplinary book The Architecture of Ruins Jonathan Hill, 2019-03-25 The Architecture of Ruins Designs on the Past Present and Future identifies an alternative and significant history of architecture from the sixteenth century to the twenty first century in which a building is designed occupied and imagined as a ruin This design practice conceives a monument and a ruin as creative interdependent and simultaneous themes within a single building dialectic addressing temporal and environmental questions in poetic psychological and practical terms and stimulating questions of personal and national identity nature and culture weather and climate permanence and impermanence and life and death Conceiving a building as a dialogue between a monument and a ruin intensifies the already blurred relations between the unfinished and the ruined and envisages the past the present and the future in a single architecture Structured around a collection of biographies this book conceives a monument and a ruin as metaphors for a life and means to negotiate between a self and a society Emphasising the interconnections between designers and the particular ways in which later architects learned from earlier ones the chapters investigate an evolving interdisciplinary design practice to show the relevance of historical understanding to design Like a history a design is a reinterpretation of the past that is meaningful to the present Equally a design is equivalent to a fiction convincing users to suspend disbelief We expect a history or a novel to be written in words but they can also be delineated in drawing cast in concrete or seeded in soil The architect is a physical novelist as well as a physical historian Like building sites ruins are full of potential In revealing not only what is lost but also what is incomplete a ruin suggests the future as well as the past As a stimulus to the imagination a ruin s incomplete and broken forms expand architecture s allegorical and metaphorical capacity indicating that a building can remain unfinished literally and in the imagination focusing attention on the creativity of users as well as architects Emphasising the symbiotic relations between nature and culture a building designed occupied and imagined as a ruin acknowledges the coproduction of multiple authors whether human non human or atmospheric and is an appropriate model for architecture in an era of increasing climate change

Mapping Discord Jeffrey N. Peters,2004 Mapping Discord examines a series of allegorical maps published in France during the seventeenth century that cast in spatial terms a number of heated aesthetic and social debates It discusses the convergence of map making and literary creation in the context of early modern cartographic practice and demonstrates that the unique language of allegorical cartography raises important theoretical questions about the relations between rationalist discourses of science and the figural designs of imaginative writing In detailed analyses of the imaginary maps that appeared in seventeenth century novels and stories as well as of maps atlases and geographic treatises produced by professional scholars and engineers of the period Mapping Discord considers the ideological structure and uses of cartographic language and argues that allegorical maps have much to tell us about the potential capacity of every map to operate as a visual metaphor for power Illustrated Jeffrey N Peters is Associate Professor of French at the University of Kentucky

To the Collector Belong the Spoils Annie Pfeifer, 2023-02-15 To the Collector Belong the Spoils rethinks collecting as an artistic revolutionary and appropriative modernist practice which flourishes beyond institutions like museums or archives Through a constellation of three author collectors Henry James Walter Benjamin and Carl Einstein Annie Pfeifer examines the relationship between literary modernism and twentieth century practices of collecting objects From James s paper hoarding to Einstein s mania for African art and Benjamin s obsession with old Russian toys she shows how these authors literary techniques of compiling gleaning and reassembling constitute a modernist style of collecting that reimagines the relationship between author and text source and medium Placing Benjamin and Einstein in surprising conversation with James sharpens the contours of collecting as aesthetic and political praxis underpinned by dangerous passions An apt figure for modernity the collector is caught between preservation and transformation order and chaos the past and the future Positing a shadow history of modernism rooted in collection citation and paraphrase To the Collector Belong the Spoils traces the movement s artistic innovation to its preoccupation with appropriating and rewriting the past By despoiling and decontextualizing the work of others these three authors engaged in a form of creative plunder that evokes collecting s long history in the spoils of war and conquest As Pfeifer demonstrates more than an archive or taxonomy modernist collecting practices became a radical creative endeavor the artist as collector the collector as artist

Memory and Complicity Debarati Sanyal, 2015-03-02 Since World War II French and Francophone literature and film have repeatedly sought not to singularize the Holocaust as the paradigm of historical trauma but rather to connect its memory with other memories of violence namely that of colonialism These works produced what Debarati Sanyal calls a memory in complicity attuned to the gray zones that implicate different regimes of violence across history as well as those of different subject positions such as victim perpetrator witness and reader spectator Examining a range of works from Albert Camus Primo Levi Alain Resnais and Jean Paul Sartre to Jonathan Littell Assia Djebar Giorgio Agamben and Boualem Sansal Memory and Complicity develops an inquiry into the political force and ethical dangers of such implications contrasting them with contemporary models for thinking about trauma and violence and offering an extended meditation on the role of aesthetic form especially allegory within acts of transhistorical remembrance What are the political benefits and ethical risks of invoking the memory of one history in order to address another What is the role of complicity in making these connections How does complicity rather than affect based discourses of trauma shame and melancholy open a critical engagement with the violence of history What is it about literature and film that have made them such powerful vehicles for this kind of connective memory work As it offers new readings of some of the most celebrated and controversial novelists filmmakers and playwrights from the French speaking world Memory and Complicity addresses these questions in order to reframe the way we think about historical memory and its political uses today

Weimar Germany Steve Choe, 2014-07-31 Weimar cultural critics and intellectuals have repeatedly linked the dynamic movement of the cinema to discourses of life and animation Correspondingly recent film historians and theorists have taken up these discourses to theorize the moving image both in analog and digital But many important issues are overlooked Combining close readings of individual films with detailed interpretations of philosophical texts all produced in Weimar Germany immediately following the Great War Afterlives Allegories of Film and Mortality in Early Weimar Germany shows how these films teach viewers about living and dying within a modern mass mediated context Choe places relatively underanalyzed films such as F W Murnau's The Haunted Castle and Arthur Robison's Warning Shadows alongside Martin Heidegger's early seminars on phenomenology Sigmund Freud's Reflections upon War and Death and Max Scheler's critique of resentment It is the experience of war trauma that underpins these correspondences and Choe foregrounds life and death in the films by highlighting how they allegorize this opposition through the thematics of animation and stasis
