The Construction of Space in Early China Mark Edward Lewis,2012-02-01 This book examines the formation of the Chinese empire through its reorganization and reinterpretation of its basic spatial units the human body the household the city the region and the world The central theme of the book is the way all these forms of ordered space were reshaped by the project of unification and how at the same time that unification was constrained and limited by the necessary survival of the units on which it was based Consequently as Mark Edward Lewis shows each level of spatial organization could achieve order and meaning only within an encompassing superior whole the body within the household the household within the lineage and state the city within the region and the region within the world empire while each level still contained within itself the smaller units from which it was formed The unity that was the empire s highest goal avoided collapse back into the original chaos of nondistinction only by preserving within itself the very divisions on the basis of family or region that it claimed to transcend Prince Alexis: or, 'Beauty and the beast'. prince Alexis (fict.name.),1882 Western Field ,1904
