Rushden The Early Fine Wares:

Rushden Peter John Woods, B. C. Hastings, 1984 In an easy to read question and answer format this book sets out all the commonly asked questions about back problems and how to treat them The author explains that most back problems are caused by the stiffness of a spinal link or vertebra a totally reversible condition Late Iron Age and Roman Settlement at Bozeat Quarry, Northamptonshire: Excavations 1995-2016 Rob Atkins, 2018-05-31 MOLA formerly Northamptonshire Archaeology has undertaken intermittent archaeological work within Bozeat Quarry Northamptonshire over a twenty year period from 1995 2016 covering an area of 59ha This volume presents excavation findings including evidence of a Late Iron Age and Roman Settlement A Neolithic and Bronze Age Landscape in Northamptonshire Jan Harding, Frances Healy, 2013-01-15 The Raunds Area Project investigated more than 20 Neolithic and Bronze Age monuments in the Nene Valley From c 5000 BC to the early 1st millennium cal BC a succession of ritual mounds and burial mounds were built as settlement along the valley sides increased and woodland was cleared Starting as a regular stopping place for flint knapping and domestic tasks first the Long Mound and then Long Barrow the north part of the Turf Mound and the Avenue were built in the 5th millennium BC With the addition of the Long Enclosure the Causewayed Ring Ditch and the Southern Enclosure there was a chain of five or six diverse monuments stretched along the river bank by c 3000 cal BC Later a timber platform the Riverside Structure was built and the focus of ceremonial activity shifted to the Cotton Henge two concentric ditches on the occupied valley side From c 2200 cal BC monument building accelerated and included the Segmented Ditch Circle and at least 20 round barrows almost all containing burials at first inhumations then cremations down to c 1000 cal BC by which time two overlapping systems of paddocks and droveways had been laid out Finally the terrace began to be settled when these had gone out of use in the early 1st millennium cal BC Early Neolithic, Iron Age and Roman settlement at Monksmoor Farm, Daventry, Northamptonshire Tracy Preece, 2019-04-30 MOLA Museum of London Archaeology has undertaken archaeological work at Monksmoor Farm on the north eastern edge of Daventry in six different areas Finds presented here include two early Neolithic pits a middle Iron Age settlement and two late Iron Age settlements

Prehistoric Pottery for the Archaeologist Alex M. Gibson, 1997-01-01 The first general handbook and reference guide for the study of British prehistoric pottery has now been revised and updated for a second edition The work contains a thorough survey of the chronological development of pottery throughout prehistory and into the Roman period as well as chapters on the development of pottery studies from both typological and scientific viewpoints and on the materials and methods used for the manufacture of pottery The main part of the book is an extensively illustrated glossary in which pottery styles and types materials and technology are explained in detail Much of the data contained has been yielded by the authors personal research projects including microscopy and experimental studies and fieldwork with contemporary traditional potters An Iron Age Settlement and Roman Complex Farmstead at Brackmills, Northampton Chris Chinnock, 2023-12-28

MOLA undertook archaeological excavations at Brackmills Northampton investigating part of a large Iron Age settlement and Roman complex farmstead The remains were very well preserved having in places been shielded from later truncation by colluvial deposits Earlier remains included a late Bronze Age early Iron Age pit alignment Early Fine Wares in Roman Britain Paul R. Arthur, Geoff Marsh, 1978 Journal of Roman Pottery Studies Steven Willis, 2021-07-07 The Journal of Roman Pottery Studies continues to present a range of important new research in the field by both established and early career scholars Volume XVIII has a strong theme on pottery production with papers on kiln sites mortaria and late Roman pottery production in East Anglia and at a small town in Belgium A major new third century assemblage from civitas Cananefatium in South Holland is presented The second part of an important gazetteer of less common samian ware fabrics and types in northern and western Britain covers fabrics from Central and East Gaul British and Irish Archaeology, 1994 The Oxford Handbook of Roman Britain Martin Millett, Louise Revell, Alison Moore, 2016-08-04 This book provides a twenty first century perspective on Roman Britain combining current approaches with the wealth of archaeological material from the province This volume introduces the history of research into the province and the cultural changes at the beginning and end of the Roman period The majority of the chapters are thematic dealing with issues relating to the people of the province their identities and ways of life Further chapters consider the characteristics of the province they lived in such as the economy and settlement patterns This Handbook reflects the new approaches being developed in Roman archaeology and demonstrates why the study of Roman Britain has become one of the most dynamic areas of archaeology The book will be useful for academics and students interested in Roman Britain Kingdom, Civitas, and County Stephen Rippon, 2018 This book explores the development of territorial identity in the late prehistoric Roman and early medieval periods Over the course of the Iron Age a series of marked regional variations in material culture and landscape character emerged across eastern England that reflect the development of discrete zones of social and economic interaction The boundaries between these zones appear to have run through sparsely settled areas of the landscape on high ground and corresponded to a series of kingdoms that emerged during the Late Iron Age In eastern England at least these pre Roman socio economic territories appear to have survived throughout the Roman period despite a trend towards cultural homogenization brought about by Romanization Although there is no direct evidence for the relationship between these socio economic zones and the Roman administrative territories known as civitates they probably corresponded very closely The fifth century saw some Anglo Saxon immigration but whereas in East Anglia these communities spread out across much of the landscape in the Northern Thames Basin they appear to have been restricted to certain coastal and estuarine districts The remaining areas continued to be occupied by a substantial native British population including much of the East Saxon kingdom very little of which appears to have been Saxon By the sixth century a series of regionally distinct identities that can be regarded as separate ethnic groups had developed which corresponded very closely to those that had emerged during the late prehistoric and Roman periods These ancient regional identities survived through to the Viking incursions whereafter they were swept away following the English re conquest and replaced with the counties with which we are familiar today Iron Age, Roman and Anglo-Saxon Settlement along the Empingham to Hannington Pipeline in Northamptonshire and Rutland Simon Carlyle, Jason Clarke, Andy Chapman, 2017-02-10 Reports on excavations by Northamptonshire Archaeology now MOLA in the south east Midlands region Nineteen sites were investigated dating primarily to the Iron Age Roman and Anglo Saxon periods

Excavations at Stanground South, Peterborough William A Boismier, Edmund Taylor, Yvonne Wolframm-Murray, 2021-02-25 This volume is a report of archaeological excavations at Stanground South undertaken by MOLA between September 2007 and November 2009 on behalf of Persimmon Homes East Midlands Ltd and in accordance with a programme of works overseen by CgMs Heritage The work involved five areas of set piece excavation and a series of strip map and record areas A Study of the Deposition and Distribution of Copper Alloy Vessels in Roman Britain Jason Lundock, 2015-08-31 This book collects together data concerning copper alloy vessels from Roman Britain and relates this evidence to prevailing theories of consumption identity and culture change in Britain during this time Verulamium I M Stead, V Rigby, 2014-06-15 The King Harry Lane site immediately outside the walls of Verulamium was extensively excavated between 1965 and 1968 prior to large scale housing development The Roman road to Silchester was located with adjacent settlement that started about AD 70 as occupation from the Roman town spread along a major route but ceased abruptly in the middle of the third century AD apparently when the town walls were built The extensive Iron Age cemetery which was discovered by chance during excavation of the settlement contained 472 burials all cremations apart from 17 inhumations and can be assigned to the period AD 1 60 Seven rectilinear ditched enclosures were identified each with a prominent and rich central burial surrounded by less imposing graves None of the burials was particularly exotic in terms of quality and type of grave goods locally produced pottery predominated but fine tableware from Roman Gaul occurred in about a quarter of the burials Metalwork was dominated by the 237 brooches but knives mirrors and toilet instruments also occurred No weapons were found The burial record contained with three third and fourth century Roman cemeteries which were not investigated in detail But a new chapter in the history of Verulamium St Albans was represented by an Anglo Saxon cemetery which was probably used from the middle decades of the seventh century into the eighth century This cemetery with its 29 burials 22 of them with grave goods was fully excavated Rushden P. J. Wodds, B. C. Hastings, 19?? The Small Towns of Roman Britain Barry C. Burnham, J. S. Wachter, 1990-01-01 The Small Towns of Roman Britain surveys a wide range of Roman town sites answering many questions about their character and the archaeological problems they raise The past thirty years have seen a dramatic increase in the quality of the evidence on these sites gained from fieldwork excavation and aerial archaeology Because there is almost no documentary or epigraphic material of any real value on the small towns this archaeological evidence provides a heretofore unavailable perspective Authors Barry Burnham and John

Walker have organized the information in a manner that is both useful to scholars and stimulating to history buffs or walkers interested in touring these sites Each site is illustrated with a site plan and many aerial photographs are provided as well Introductory chapters provide an overview of the origins development and morphology of the towns the special religious governmental or industrial significance of many sites and the economic functions common to all A comprehensive bibliography completes the volume This is the eagerly awaited companion volume to John Wachter's watershed study The Towns of Roman Britain which was highly praised for its clean prose excellent illustrations and fascinating story a most important contribution to scholarship while remaining eminently attractive to the general reader Barry Cunliffe Times Literary Supplement The Small Towns of Roman Britain surveys a wide range of Roman town sites answering many questions about their character and the archaeological problems they raise The past thirty years have seen a dramatic increase in the quality of the evidence on these sites gained from fieldwork excavation and aerial archaeology Because there is almost no documentary or epigraphic material of any real value on the small towns this archaeological evidence provides a heretofore unavailable perspective Authors Barry Burnham and John Walker have organized the information in a manner that is both useful to scholars and stimulating to history buffs or walkers interested in touring these sites Each site is illustrated with a site plan and many aerial photographs are provided as well Introductory chapters provide an overview of the origins development and morphology of the towns the special religious governmental or industrial significance of many sites and the economic functions common to all A comprehensive bibliography completes the volume This is the eagerly awaited companion volume to John Wachter's watershed study The Towns of Roman Britain which was highly praised for its clean prose excellent illustrations and fascinating story a most important contribution to scholarship while remaining eminently attractive to the general reader Barry Cunliffe Times Literary Supplement The Catuvellauni Keith Branigan, 1985 The Antiquaries Journal ,2000 Bulletin of Local History ,1979
