Lost in Space Rob Kitchin, James Kneale, 2005-12-23 Science fiction one of the most popular literary cinematic and televisual genres has received increasing academic attention in recent years For many theorists science fiction opens up a space in which the here and now can be made strange or remade where virtual reality and cyborg are no longer gimmicks or predictions but new spaces and subjects Lost in space brings together an international collection of authors to explore the diverse geographies of spaceexploring imagination nature scale geopolitics modernity time identity the body power relations and the representation of space The essays explore the writings of a broad selection of writers including J G Ballard Frank Herbert Marge Piercy Kim Stanley Robinson Mary Shelley and Neal Stephenson and films from Bladerunner to Dark City The Fly The Invisible Man and Metropolis Horror in Space Michele Brittany, 2017-11-21 In sharp contrast to many 1960s science fiction films with idealized views of space exploration Ridley Scott's Alien 1979 terrified audiences depicting a harrowing and doomed deep space mission The Alien films launched a new generation of horror set in the great unknown inspiring filmmakers to take Earth bound franchises like Leprechaun and Friday the 13th into space This collection of new essays examines the space horror subgenre with a focus on such films as Paul W S Anderson's Event Horizon Duncan Jones' Moon Mario Bava's Planet of the Vampires and John Carpenter's Ghosts of Mars Contributors discuss how filmmakers explored the concepts of the final girl survivor the uncanny valley the isolationism of space travel religion and supernatural phenomena J.G. Ballard's Surrealist Imagination Jeannette Baxter, 2016-12-05 Making the case that J G Ballard's fictional and non fictional writings must be read within the framework of Surrealism Jeannette Baxter argues for a radical revisioning of Ballard that takes account of the political and ethical dimensions of his work Ballard's appropriation of diverse Surrealist aesthetic forms and political writings Baxter suggests are mobilised to contest official narratives of postwar history and culture and offer a series of counter historical and counter cultural critiques Thus Ballard's work must be understood as an exercise in Surrealist historiography that is politically and ethically engaged Placing Ballard's illustrated texts within this critical framework permits Baxter to explore the effects of photographs drawings and other visual symbols on the reading experience and the production of meaning Ballard's textual spectacles raise a variety of questions about the shifting role of the reader and the function of the written text within a predominantly visual culture while acknowledging the visual contexts of Ballard's Surrealist writings allows a very different historical picture of the author and his work to emerge To Seek Out New Worlds J. Weldes, 2003-05-01 This volume explores the science fiction world politics intertext Through detailed analyses of such texts as Blade Runner Stalker Star Trek and Buffy the Vampire Slayer the chapters in this volume examine the complex and sometimes contradictory relations between world politics both as discipline and as practice and discourses of science fiction Offering a novel combination of popular culture analysis with major theoretical and empirical issues concerning world politics Science Fiction and World Politics provides insights into the discursive constitution of both science fiction and world politics while highlighting the occasional challenges that the science fiction world politics intertext launches at our common sense

The Empire's of J. G. Ballard David

Ian Paddy, 2015-08-25 J G Ballard once declared that the most truly alien planet is Earth and in his science fiction he abandoned the traditional imagery of rocket ships traveling to distant galaxies to address the otherworldliness of this world. The Empires of J G Ballard is the first extensive study of Ballard's critical vision of nation and empire of the political geography of this planet. Paddy examines how Ballard's self-perceived status as an outsider and exile the Sheppertonian from Shanghai generated an outlook that celebrated worldliness and condemned parochialism. This book brings to light how Ballard wrestled with notions of national identity and speculated upon the social and psychological implications of the post-war transformation of older models of empire into new imperialisms of consumerism and globalization. Presenting analyses of Ballard's full body of work with its tales of reverse colonization, psychological imperialism, the savagery of civilization, estranged Englishmen abroad and at home, and multinational communities built on crime, The Empires of J G Ballard offers a fresh perspective on the fiction of J G Ballard. The Empires of J G Ballard: An Imagined Geography offers a sustained and highly convincing analysis of the imperial and post-imperial histories and networks that shape and energise Ballard's fictional and non-fictional writings. To what extent can Ballard be considered an international writer? What happens to our understanding of his post-war science fictions when they are opened up to the language and logics of post-colonialism? And what creative and critical roles do the spectres of empire play in Ballard's visions of modernity? Paddy follows these and other fascinating lines of enquiry in a study that is not only essential reading for Ballard students and scholars but for anyone interested in the intersections of modern and contemporary literature, history and politics.

Jeanette Baxter Anglia Ruskin University Shanghai made my father arriving in England after WW2. He was a person of the world who'd witnessed extremes of human experience and remained the outsider observing life from his home in Shepperton. 1930s Shanghai, Paris of the East was a mix of international sophistication and violence, unfettered capitalism and acute poverty. American cars, martinis and Coca-Cola, a place marked by death and war. It had a profound influence on my father and his imagination. Dr Paddy's fascinating book explores my father's fiction within an international context and offers a profound reading of a man who always kept his eyes and mind open to the world.

Theory and Methods Chris Philo, 2017-05-15 This volume tackles the complex terrain of theory and methods seeking to exemplify the major philosophical social theoretic and methodological developments some with clear political and ethical implications that have traversed human geography since the era of the 1960s when spatial science came to the fore. Coverage includes Marxist and humanistic geographies and their many variations over the years as well as ongoing debates about agency structure and the concepts of time space place and scale. Feminist and other positioned geographies alongside poststructuralist and posthumanist geographies are all evidenced as well as writings that push against the very limits of what human geography has embraced over these fifty plus years. The volume combines readings that are well known and widely accepted as classic with readings that while less familiar are valuable in how they illustrate different possibilities for theory and method within the discipline. The volume also includes a substantial introduction by the editor contextualising the readings and in the process providing a new interpretation of the last half century of change within the thoughts and practices of human geography.
