Swing Along Marva Carter, 2008-09-11 Renowned today as a prominent African American in Music Theater and the Arts community composer conductor and violinist Will Marion Cook was a key figure in the development of American music from the 1890s to the 1920s In this insightful biography Marva Griffin Carter offers the first definitive look at this pivotal life s story drawing on both Cook s unfinished autobiography and his wife Abbie s memoir A violin virtuoso Cook studied at Oberlin College his parents alma mater Berlin s Hochschule f r Musik with Joseph Joachim and

New York's national Conservatory of Music with Antonin Dvorak Cook wrote music for a now lost production of Uncle Tom's Cabin for the Chicago World's Fair of 1893 and then devoted the majority of his career to black musical comedies due to limited opportunities available to him as a black composer. He was instrumental in showcasing his Southern Syncopated Orchestra in the prominent concert halls of the United States and Europe even featuring New Orleans clarinetist Sidney Bechet who later introduced European audiences to authentic blues. Once mentored by Frederick Douglass Will Marion Cook went on to mentor Duke Ellington paving the path for orchestral concert jazz. Through interpretive and musical analyses Carter traces Cook's successful evolution from minstrelsy to musical theater. Written with his collaborator the distinguished poet Paul Lawrence Dunbar Cook's musicals infused American Musical Theater with African American music consequently altering the direction of American popular music. Cook's In Dahomey hailed by Gerald Bordman as one of the most important events in American Musical Theater history was the first full length Broadway musical to be written and performed by blacks. Alongside his accomplishments Carter reveals Cook's contentious side a man known for his aggressiveness pride and constant quarrels who became his own worst enemy in regards to his career. Carter further sets Cook's life against the backdrop of the changing cultural and social milieu the black theatrical tradition white audiences reaction to black performers and the growing consciousness and sophistication of blacks in the arts especially music.

The School of Arizona Dranes Timothy Dodge, 2013-09-12 Arizona Dranes 1889-1963 was a true musical innovator whose recordings made for the Okeh label during the years 1926-1928 helped lay the foundations for what would soon be known as gospel music. Her unique blend of ragtime barrelhouse and boogie woogie piano plus her exciting and emotional Pentecostal style of singing influenced the development of gospel music for the next forty years and beyond. The School of Arizona Dranes Gospel Music Pioneer covers the life and career of Dranes and situates her accomplishments in the broader history of African American gospel music and the rise of the Pentecostal movement. Starting with the earliest recordings of the music in the late nineteenth century this book provides a history of African American sacred and gospel music that convincingly demonstrates the revolutionary nature of Dranes's musical accomplishment. Using specific examples the author traces the far reaching influence of Arizona Dranes on African American gospel piano playing and singing.

Blacksound Matthew D. Morrison, 2024-03-05 No book from this past year better explains American popular music than professor Matthew Morrison's Blacksound. A Rolling Stone Best Music Book of 2024. A new concept for understanding the history of the American popular music industry Blacksound explores the sonic history of blackface minstrelsy and the racial foundations of American musical culture from the early 1800s through the turn of the twentieth century. With this namesake book Matthew D. Morrison develops the concept of Blacksound to uncover how the popular music industry and popular entertainment in general in the United States arose out of slavery and blackface. Blacksound as an idea is not the music or sounds produced by Black Americans but instead the material and fleeting remnants of their sounds and performances that have been co-opted and amalgamated into popular music Morrison unpacks the relationship between performance racial identity and intellectual property to reveal how blackface minstrelsy scripts became absorbed into commercial entertainment through an unequal system of intellectual property and copyright laws By introducing this foundational new concept in musicology Blacksound highlights what is politically at stake for creators and audiences alike in revisiting the long history of American popular music

Wind Band Activity In and Around New York ca. 1830-1950 Frank J. Cipolla, Donald Hunsberger, The rich history and tradition of the American wind band was heavily influenced by the influx of immigrants into the New York area during the 19th and 20th centuries With their varied cultural backgrounds building upon their diverse musical experiences and a wide variety of instruments and ensemble instrumentation the seeds for the contemporary American wind band were planted The story of the American wind band is revealed in this diverse collection of essays Fascinating reading for band scholars everywhere
