Silken Captive:

Silken Captive Julia Fitzgerald, 1985 Desert Passions Hsu-Ming Teo, 2012-11-15 The Sheikh E M Hull's best selling novel that became a wildly popular film starring Rudolph Valentino kindled sheik fever across the Western world in the 1920s. A craze for all things romantically Oriental swept through fashion film and literature spawning imitations and parodies without number. While that fervor has largely subsided, tales of passion between Western women and Arab men continue to enthrall readers of today's mass market romance novels. In this groundbreaking cultural history Hsu Ming Teo traces the literary lineage of these desert romances and historical bodice rippers from the twelfth to the twenty-first century and explores the gendered cultural and political purposes that they have served at various historical moments. Drawing on high literature, erotica, and popular romance fiction and films, Teo examines the changing meanings of Orientalist tropes such as crusades and conversion, abduction by Barbary pirates, sexual slavery, the fear of renegades, the Oriental despot and his harem, the figure of the powerful Western concubine, and fantasies of escape from the harem. She analyzes the impact of imperialism, decolonization, sexual liberation, feminism, and American involvement in the Middle East on women's Orientalist fiction. Teo suggests that the rise of female-authored romance novels dramatically transformed the nature of Orientalism because it feminized the discourse, made white women central as producers, consumers, and imagined actors, and revised, reversed, or collapsed the binaries inherent in traditional analyses of Orientalism. A Hundred Sonnets John Charles Earle, 1870

White Women Captives in North Africa K. Bekkaoui, 2010-11-24 A fascinating anthology of narratives from the period 1735-1830 by European women who recount their enslavement in North Africa. The first such collection, it includes an extensive introduction which links the discourse on contemporary Western women captives in Iran, Afghanistan, and Iraq with that of former white captives in North Africa. Roméo Et Juliette Charles Gounod, 1911 The Silken Web Bert

Brunet, 1998 A natural history of Australian spiders providing an overview of spiders, their evolution, anatomy, predators, and their silk and its uses. The book then groups Australian spiders according to their uses of silk rather than in the more traditional taxonomic order. Romeo Et Juliette Jules Barbier, 1911 Windows onto Jewish Legal Culture Hanina

Ben-Menahem, Arye Edrei, Neil S. Hecht, 2020-06-30 This book opens windows onto various aspects of Jewish legal culture. Rather than taking a structural approach and attempting to circumscribe and define every element of Jewish law, Windows onto Jewish Legal Culture takes a dynamic and holistic approach, describing diverse manifestations of Jewish legal culture and its general mind set without seeking to fit them into a single structure. Jewish legal culture spans two millennia and evolved in geographic centers that were often very distant from one another, both geographically and socio-culturally. It encompasses the Talmud and talmudic literature, the law codes, the rulings of rabbinical courts, the responsa literature, decisions taken by communal leaders, study of the law in talmudic academies, the local study hall, and the home. But Jewish legal culture reaches well beyond legal and quasi-legal institutions; it addresses and is reflected in every aspect of daily life.

from meals and attire to interpersonal and communal relations Windows onto Jewish Legal Culture gives the reader a taste of the tremendous weight of Jewish legal culture within Jewish life Among the facets of Jewish legal culture explored are two of its most salient distinguishing features namely toleration and even encouragement of controversy and a preference for formalistic formulations These features are widely misunderstood and Jewish legal culture is often parodied as hair splitting argument for the sake of argument In explaining the epistemic imperatives that motivate Jewish legal culture however this book paints a very different picture Situational constraints and empirical considerations are shown to provide vital input into legal determinations at every level and the legal process is revealed to be attentive to context and sensitive to cultural concerns
