Historical Romance Fiction Lisa Fletcher, 2016-04-22 The first book length study of romance novels to focus on issues of sexuality rather than gender Historical Romance Fiction moves the ongoing debate about the value and appeal of heterosexual romance onto new ground testing the claims of cutting edge critical theorists on everything from popular classics by Georgette Heyer to recent bodice rippers to historical fiction by John Fowles and A S Byatt Beginning with her nomination of I love you as the romance novel's defining speech act Lisa Fletcher engages closely with speech act theory and recent studies of performativity The range of texts serves to illustrate Fletcher's definition of historical romance as a fictional mode dependent on the force and familiarity of the speech act I love you and permits Fletcher to provide a detailed account of the genre's history and development in both its popular and literary manifestations Written from a feminist and anti homophobic perspective Fletcher's subtle arguments about the romantic speech act serve to demonstrate the genre's dependence on repetition Romance can only quote and the shaky ground on which the romance's heterosexual premise rests Her exploration of the subgenre of cross dressing novels is especially revealing in this regard With its deft mix of theoretical arguments and suggestive close readings Fletcher's book will appeal to specialists in genre speech act and performativity theory and gender studies

A THOUSAND WINDS THAT BLOW Nancy Morse, 2021-06-28

Lakota warrior Black Moon has fought long and hard against the Long Knives but in the aftermath of the Battle of the Little Bighorn his people are forced onto agencies where they live at the mercy of the white man The death of a beloved friend plunges him into a well of uncertainty over his ability to keep the people safe when a new enemy the Northern Pacific Railroad threatens their future It is an enemy unlike any he has ever fought Its weapon was progress and it could not be stopped To safeguard her family from this dangerous new threat Katie strikes a bargain with the government but it is a bargain that comes with a very high price As Black Moon struggles against the most important battle he will ever fight the one within himself peace and acceptance come from a most unexpected source Kine weekly, 1919 Herd Register
