NASA he contends has devolved from a pioneer of space exploration into a factionalized bureaucracy focused primarily on its own survival. And as a result humans haven't ventured beyond Earth orbit for three decades. Klerkx argues that after its wildly successful Apollo program NASA clung fiercely to the spotlight by creating a government sheltered monopoly with a few Big Aerospace companies. Although committed in theory to supporting commercial spaceflight in practice it smothered vital private sector innovation. In striking descriptions of space milestones spanning the golden 1960s Space Age and the 2003 Columbia tragedy Klerkx exposes the real NASA and envisions exciting public private cooperation that could send humans back to the moon and beyond. Lost in Space Jon Schiller, 2009 The US Space Shuttle delivering supplies to the US Space Station has a mechanical breakdown that prevents its return to the Earth. The remaining two US Space Shuttles are launched as quickly as possible to carry the needed supplies to the Space Station before the people there run out of expendables air water etc. Both aging Shuttles suffer breakdowns one explodes on the launch pad and the other has a breakdown in orbit near the Space Station. This second Shuttle is close enough to the Space Station to be secured by a cable and then winched up to the Space Station docking gate. The hero Dr Donald Richards devises two options for rescuing the stranded astronauts use the new European Space Station Shuttle or use the Soviet Space Shuttle. The US President overrules NASA's recommendation to use the Soviet Space Shuttle for the rescue so Richards negotiates an agreement with the European Space Agency to use their Shuttle to rescue the astronauts. Three Years Lost in Space Mark Goddard, 2016-05-27 Mark Goddard the author of To Space and Back looks back fifty years to the three years he spent on Lost in Space.
