Military Control in Pakistan Mazhar Aziz, 2007-10-24 This volume examines the role of the military the most influential actor in Pakistan and challenges conventional wisdom on the causes of political instability in this geographically important nuclear state It rejects views that ethnic and religious cleavages and perceived economic or political mismanagement by civilian governments triggers military intervention in Pakistan The study argues instead that the military intervenes to remove civilian governments where the latter are perceived to be undermining the military's institutional interests Mazhar Aziz shows that the Pakistani military has become a parallel state and given the extent of its influence will continue to define the nature of governance within the polity Overall Military Control in Pakistan is a timely reminder and an important resource for both scholars and policy makers clearly demonstrating the need to refocus attention on the problem of an influential military whilst drawing appropriate conclusions about issues ranging from democratic norms political representation and civilian military relations

Jamal,2018-03-14 Within the global phenomenon of the re emergence of religion into issues of public debate one of the most salient issues confronting contemporary Muslim societies is how to relate the legal and political heritage that developed in pre modern Islamic polities to the political order of the modern states in which Muslims now live This work seeks to develop a framework for addressing this issue The central argument is that liberal theory and in particular justice as discourse can be normatively useful in

Muslim contexts for relating religion law and state Just as Muslim contexts have developed historically and continue to develop today the same is the case with the requisites of liberal theory and this may allow for liberal choices to be made in a manner that is not a renunciation of Muslim heritage
