People on the Move in a Changing Climate Etienne Piguet, Frank Laczko, 2013-10-17 Policymakers around the world are increasingly concerned about the likely impact of climate change and environmental degradation on the movement of people This book takes a hard look at the existing evidence available to policymakers in different regions of the world How much do we really know about the impact of environmental change on migration How will different regions of the world be affected in the future Is there evidence to show that migration can help countries adapt to environmental change What types of research have been conducted how reliable is the evidence These are some of the questions considered in this book which presents for the first time a synthesis of relevant research findings for each major region of the world Written by regional experts the book provides a comprehensive overview of the key findings of existing studies on the linkages between environmental change and the movement of people More and more reports on migration and the environment are being published but the information is often scattered between countries and within regions and it is not always clear how much of this information is based on solid research This book brings this evidence together for the first time highlighting innovative studies and research gaps In doing this the book seeks to help decision makers draw lessons from existing studies and to identify priorities for further research
