Pacific Asia:

Pacific Asia? Melvin Gurtov, 2002 Emphasizing human and environmental security over traditional power politics Mel Gurtov offers a provocative reinterpretation of security in the Asia Pacific region The author questions a number of prevailing assumptions such as the China threat a U S centered balance of power and the necessity of a greater Japanese security role He argues instead for a cooperative framework for future security that focuses on people s basic needs is sensitive to Asian nationalism and gradually replaces military power with developmental priorities With its concise appraisals of the security policies of the United States China Japan the two Koreas and the ASEAN countries this work will be a valued reference for policymakers scholars and students alike

Recentring Pacific Asia Brantly Womack, 2023-08-17 The Pacific Rim of Asia Pacific Asia is now the world s largest and most cohesive economic region and China has returned to its center China s global outlook is shaped by its regional experience first as a pre modern Asian center then displaced by Western oriented modernization and now returning as a central producer and market in a globalized region Developments since 2008 have been so rapid that future directions are uncertain but China s presence population and production guarantee it a key role As a global competitor China has awakened American anxieties and the US China rivalry has become a major concern for the rest of the world However rather than facing a power transition between hegemons the US and China are primary nodes in a multi layered interconnected global matrix that neither can control Brantly Womack argues that Pacific Asia is now the key venue for working out a new world order

Pacific Asia in the 1990s Masahide Shibusawa, Zakaria Haji Ahmad, Brian Bridges, 2025-03-03 First published in 1992 Pacific Asia in the 1990s explores the main economic and political trends among the Pacific Asian countries in the second half of the 1980s It suggests where the potential problems lie and where the opportunities are This book is an unusual collaborative venture in that it combines the complementary viewpoints of a Japanese author a Malaysian author and someone from outside the region The authors examine the broad patterns of economic interdependence and security linkages both within the region and with external partners then analyse in detail the political economy of the newly industrializing economies the patterns of complementarity and competition in Southeast Asia the dilemma of reform or retrenchment facing China and the smaller regional socialist states and the paradoxes of Japan s attempts to define its role in the region and the world

Financial Reporting In The Pacific Asia Region Ronald Ma, 1997-10-13 There is a dearth of good books on accounting in China East Asia and Southeast Asia This book makes a valuable contribution towards filling the gap The chapters in Part I of the book deal with the cultural influence and economic significance of East and Southeast Asia and the interrelationships between these matters and accounting in Pacific Asia Part II comprises chapters on accounting in individual countries comprising China Japan Korea Taiwan and Southeast Asia written by academics who work and research in these countries In particular the authors focus on the extent of the harmonisation of domestic standards with international accounting standards and on the development of the accounting profession Part III deals with the problems of and prospects for accounting harmonisation in the region Entrepreneurship in Pacific Asia Leo Paul Dana, 1999 Entrepreneurs are now internationalising and many more are likely to internationalise in the future Yet most small firms expand in an opportunistic fashion because entrepreneurs seldom have the time and resources to gather reliable data about opportunities in foreign countries Leo Paul Dana has conducted extensive international field research with a view to compiling key information on the business environment throughout Pacific Asia Thus the book is not just another how to guide It reflects what is happening in an important region of our global economy With this book businessmen and business analysts investors academics and business students will gain invaluable insights into the conditions and opportunities for enterprise in these countries in this region The Russian Far East and Pacific Asia M. J. Bradshaw, 2013-07-04 This major study assesses prospects for economic recovery in the Russian Far East evaluating foreign trade and investment political and economic forces patterns of resource supply and needs in Pacific Asia and potential competitors It concludes that this unfulfilled potential has as much to do with conditions in Russia as the downturn caused by the Asian crisis

Economic and Social Development in Pacific Asia Chris Dixon, David W. Smith, 2002-09-26 First published in 1993 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Urbanization And Urban Policies In Pacific Asia Roland J Fuchs, 2019-09-18 This book is the outcome of the Conference on Population Growth Urbanization and Urban Policies in the Asia Pacific Region held in Honolulu during 8-12 April 1985 It provides wide attention among development planners urban managers and scholars in the field of urban and development planning Cultural Governance and Resistance in Pacific Asia William A. Callahan, 2006-05-03 This text examines the politics of culture and the culture of politics in Pacific Asia through case studies on the South Pacific China South Korea Thailand and Southeast Asia The contexts and cultures of the chapters are wide ranging and Callahan skilfully ties them together with the objective of analyzing the relation between the state's cultural governance and resistance to it The themes covered include governmentality and cultural production popular culture and resistance East West relations gender identity and democracy civil society social movements and democracy national and transnational identity production Cultural Governance and Resistance in Pacific Asia addresses the dynamics between Asian studies and cultural studies and the overlap between comparative politics and international relations and as such will appeal to students and scholars of Asian studies cultural studies comparative politics sociology and anthropology alike The "Population Problem" in Pacific Asia Stuart Gietel-Basten, 2019-06-07 Despite the twenty-first century's often being referred to as the Asian Century indicating hope for economic growth and the rebalancing of the global order population aging and stagnation present an existential threat to the success of China and other territories of Pacific Asia namely Japan Taiwan Hong Kong Singapore and South Korea This book argues that the population problem rooted in low fertility has thus far been largely considered in a linear way low fertility leads to population stagnation and rapid aging so fixing low fertility should correct the problem However a multi-dimensional lens is essential to appreciating the scale and nature of the issue and indeed to determining whether it is an issue at all Stuart Gietel Basten examines how the issue of low fertility has been constructed how blame has been apportioned and why policies designed to tackle it have yielded few results Drawing on an array of primary and secondary sources as well as examples from scholarly and popular literature The Population Problem in Pacific Asia takes a comparative approach to fertility in the region and locates mainland China in its regional context It serves as a useful resource for government workers stakeholders and students and scholars in sociology demography geography economics and area studies Media and Politics in Pacific Asia Duncan

McCargo,2003 Media and Politics in Pacific Asia is the first book to provide a detailed account of the political influences exerted by both domestic and international media in Pacific Asia Duncan McCargo argues that the media are political actors and institutions in their own right and that as such they can play a variety of political roles some of which support processes of demographic transition and consolidation and some which do just the opposite Drawing on first hand research in Hong Kong Indonesia Japan and Thailand and employing comparative examples that include Burma Malaysia and the Phillipines Duncan McCargo examines the various influences of the Media as agents of stability restraint and change He also analyses pressures on the media from a range of state non state and market forces and sets out to problematize simplistic readings of issues such as media freedom ownership partisanship profitability regulation and public interest The result is an in depth and fascinating study of the interplay between the media and the political process Written in a clear and accessible style with numerous examples this highly original book will be useful to academics students journalists and general readers interested in Asian studies media and politics Ultra-Low Fertility in Pacific Asia Paulin Straughan,Angelique Chan,Gavin

Jones,2008-09-25 This book brings together work on the low fertility countries of East Asia with an analysis of trends in fertility what we know about their determinants and consequences the policy issues and how these are being addressed in the various countries Pacific Century Mark Borthwick,2007-01-02 Looking at both Southeast and East Asia this richly illustrated third edition stresses broad cross cutting themes of regional history with an emphasis on the interactions between cultures and nations Global Geopolitical Change and the Asia-Pacific Dennis Rumley,1996 This work looks at events which have had fundamental implications for the geopolitical relations in and with the Asia Pacific region It covers issues such as regional definition the emergence of regional integration the role of Japan China Russia and India and security and trade The Mid-Pacific Magazine ... Alexander Hume Ford,1918 The Mid-Pacific Magazine ,1920 Mercantile

Trust Review of the Pacific ,1929 China. Pacific and Indian Oceans. Australia. India. Central Asia Arthur Mee,1908
