Pagan Celtic Ireland Barry Raftery, 1994 Reflecting this new generation of scholarship Professor Barry Raftery presents the most convincing and up to date account yet published of Ireland in the millennium before the coming of Christianity

Ireland's Immortals Mark Williams, 2018-12-04 A sweeping history of Ireland's native gods from Iron Age cult and medieval saga to the Celtic Revival and contemporary fiction Ireland's Immortals tells the story of one of the world's great mythologies The first account of the gods of Irish myth to take in the whole sweep of Irish literature in both the nation's languages the book describes how Ireland's pagan divinities were transformed into literary characters in the medieval Christian era and how they were recast again during the Celtic Revival of the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries A lively narrative of supernatural beings and their fascinating and sometimes bizarre stories Mark Williams's comprehensive history traces how these gods known as the Tatha D Danann have shifted shape across the centuries We meet the Morrigan crow goddess of battle the fire goddess Brigit who moonlights as a Christian saint the fairies who inspired J R R Tolkien's elves and many others Ireland's Immortals illuminates why these mythical beings have loomed so large in the world's imagination for so long

The Lives of Prehistoric Monuments in Iron Age, Roman and Medieval Europe Marta Díaz-Guardamino, Leonardo García Sanjuán, David Wheatley, 2015 The essays in this collection examine the life histories of carefully chosen megalithic monuments stelae and statue menhirs and rock art sites of various European and Mediterranean regions during the Iron Age and Roman and Medieval times By focusing on the concrete interaction between people monuments and places the volume offers an innovative outlook on a variety of debated issues Prominent among these is the role of ancient remains in the creation institutionalization contestation and negotiation of social identities and memories as well as their relationship with political economy in early historic European societies

The Oxford Handbook of the European Iron Age Colin Haselgrove, Katharina Rebay-Salisbury, Peter S. Wells, 2023-09-22 The Oxford Handbook of the European Iron Age presents a broad overview of current understanding of the archaeology of Europe from 1000 BC through to the early historic periods exploiting the large quantities of new evidence yielded by the upsurge in archaeological research and excavation on this period over the last thirty years Three introductory chapters situate the reader in the times and the environments of Iron Age Europe Fourteen regional chapters provide accessible syntheses of developments in different parts of the continent from Ireland and Spain in the west to the borders with Asia in the east from Scandinavia in the north to the Mediterranean shores in the south Twenty six thematic chapters examine different aspects of Iron Age archaeology in greater depth from lifeways economy and complexity to identity ritual and expression Among the many topics explored are agricultural systems settlements landscape monuments iron smelting and forging production of textiles politics demography gender migration funerary practices social and religious rituals coinage and literacy and art and design

Out of the Mist
Medieval French on the Move Leah Tether, Patrick Moran, Anne Salamon, 2025-03-17 When Keith Busby published his field shaping Codex and Context in 2002 the work was referred to as groundbreaking and monumental It prompted scholars of medieval literature to return to manuscripts in their droves However Busby's Codex and Context would also enact another more gradual movement His formulation of the term medieval Francophonia to describe the presence power and effect of French outside France would filter steadily into academic enquiry The term and concept are now widely recognised and applied in global scholarship including in multiple major projects dedicated to the topic This volume brings together a series of cutting edge studies of medieval Francophonia covering in one place and for the first time the fullest scope of the concept's remit with contributions on history historiography language literature culture society and authority At the same time as offering a timely contribution to the field this volume pays tribute to Busby's life work not only to pioneer medieval Francophonia but also and moreover to encourage the study of the medieval through material philology Each of the studies here written by Busby's friends and colleagues thus roots its approach in a material context

The Indo-European Puzzle Revisited Kristian Kristiansen, Guus Kroonen, Eske Willerslev, 2023-05-11 This book examines the impact of ancient DNA research and scientific evidence on our understanding of the emergence of Indo European languages in prehistory Offering cutting edge contributions from an international team of scholars it considers the driving forces behind the Indo European migrations during the 3rd and 2nd millennia BC The volume explores the rise of the world's first pastoral nomads the Yamnaya Culture in the Russian Pontic steppe including their social organization expansions and the transition from nomadism to semi sedentism when entering Europe It also traces the chariot conquest in the late Bronze Age and its impact on the expansion of the Indo Iranian languages into Central Asia In the final section the volumes consider the development of hierarchical societies and the origins of slavery A landmark synthesis of recent exciting discoveries the book also includes an extensive theoretical discussion regarding the integration of linguistics genetics and archaeology and the importance of interdisciplinary research in the study of ancient migration

Economic Zooarchaeology Peter Rowley-Conwy, Dale Serjeantson, Paul Halstead, 2017-05-31 Economic archaeology is the study of how past peoples exploited animals and plants using as evidence the remains of those animals and plants The animal side is usually termed zooarchaeology the plant side archaeobotany What distinguishes them from other studies of ancient animals and plants is that their ultimate aim is to find out about human behaviour the animal and plant remains are a means to this end The 33 papers present a wide array of topics covering many areas of archaeological interest Aspects of method and theory animal bone identification human palaeopathology prehistoric animal utilisation in South America and the study of dog cemeteries are covered The long running controversy over the milking of animals and the use of dairy products by humans is discussed as is the ecological impact of hunting by farmers with studies from Serbia and Syria For Britain coverage extends from Mesolithic Star Carr via the origins of agriculture and the farmers of Lismore Fields through considerations of the Neolithic and Bronze Age Outside Britain papers discuss Neolithic subsistence in Cyprus and Croatia Iron Age society in Spain Medieval and post medieval animal utilisation in northern Russia and the claimed finding of a modern red deer skeleton in Egypt's Eastern Desert In exploring these themes this volume celebrates the life and work of Tony Legge zoo archaeologist and teacher Inter- and Intracultural Differences in European History Textbooks Carol Morgan, 2005 Papers from a conference held in Feb 2002 at the University of Bath Archaeology and Folklore Amy Gazin-Schwartz, Cornelius J. Holtorf, 2005-06-23 Archaeology and Folklore explores the complex relationship between the two disciplines to demonstrate what they might learn from each other This collection includes theoretical discussions and case studies drawn from Western Europe the Mediterranean and North They explore the differences between popular traditions relating to historic sites and archaeological interpretations of their history and meaning Ideal Homes Rena Maguire, 2024-04-01 The purpose of archaeology is to reconstruct and present the past as it was lived warts and all Too often that ideal has been restricted to the affairs and structures of the great and often not so good ignoring what happened after the battles were won or lost Everyday life carried on for the vast majority of people who cooked built walls and fences herded and tended animals and made pottery metal tools and foodstuffs Each of these domestic tasks required tools and equipment and each object tells a story of the user's identity both regional and personal This volume presents a selection of worldwide studies of domestic objects and lives from Scottish ceramics to Mayan urban zones Each of these chapters demonstrate the commonalities humans share when there is no place like home enhancing archaeological knowledge of the realities of life in the past Redefining Irishness in a Coastal Maine City, 1770-1870 Kay Retzlaff, 2021-11-18 Redefining Irishness in a Coastal Maine City 1770 1870 Bridget's Belfast examines how Irish immigrants shaped and reshaped their identity in a rural New England community Forty percent of Irish immigrants to the United States settled in rural areas Achieving success beyond large urban centers required distinctive ways of performing Irishness Class status and gender were more significant than ethnicity Close reading of diaries newspapers local histories and public papers allows for nuanced understanding of immigrant lives amid stereotype and the nineteenth century evolution of a Scotch Irish identity Rewriting History Dennis Harding, 2020-01-09 In Rewriting History Dennis Harding addresses contemporary concerns about information and its interpretation His focus is on the archaeology of prehistoric and early historic Britain and the transformation over two centuries and more in the interpretation of the archaeological heritage by changes in the prevailing political social and intellectual climate Far from being topics of concern only to academics the way in which seemingly innocuous issues such as cultural diffusion or social reconstruction in the remote past are studied and presented reflects important shifts in contemporary thinking that challenge long accepted conventions of free speech and debate Some issues are highly controversial such as the proposals for the Stonehenge World Heritage sites Others challenge long held popular myths like the deconstruction of the Celts and by extension the Picts Some traditional tenets of scholarship have yet remained unchallenged such as the classical definition of civilization itself Why should it matter Are the shifting attitudes of successive generations not symptomatic of healthy and vibrant debate Are there grounds for believing that current changes are of a more disquieting character denying the basic assumptions of rational argument and freedom of enquiry that have been the foundation of western scholarship since the Enlightenment

Re writing History offers Harding s personal evaluation of these issues which will resonate not only with practitioners and academics of archaeology but across a wide range of disciplines facing similar concerns

International Congress of Roman Frontier Studies 20 Ángel Morillo Cerdán,Norbert Hanel,Esperanza Martín,2009 This massive three volume set publishes the proceedings of the 2006 Limes conference which was held in Leon a total of 138 contributions Naturally these cover a vast range of topics related to Roman military archaeology and the Roman frontiers The archaeology of the Roman military in Spain and contributions by Spanish scholars are prominent whilst other themes include the internal frontiers the end of the frontiers and the barbarians in the empire the fortified town in the late Roman period soldiers on the move and the early development of frontiers Further sessions had a regional focus Majority of essays in English some in Spanish German and Italian

Hillforts: Britain, Ireland and the Nearer Continent Gary Lock,Ian Ralston,2019-06-27 The Atlas of Hillforts of Britain and Ireland project 2012 2016 compiled a massive database on hillforts by a team drawn from the Universities of Oxford Edinburgh and Cork This volume outlines the history of the project offers preliminary assessments of the online digital Atlas and presents initial research studies using Atlas data

The Atlantic Celts Simon James,1999 The Celtic peoples of the British Isles hold a fundamental place in our national consciousness In this book Simon James surveys ancient and modern ideas of the Celts and challenges them in the light of revolutionary new thinking on the Iron Age peoples of Britain Examining how ethnic and national identities are constructed he presents an alternative history of the British Isles proposing that the idea of insular Celtic identity is really a product of the rise of nationalism in the eighteenth century He considers whether the Celticness of the British Isles is a romantic fantasy even a politically dangerous falsification of history which has implications in the current debate on devolution and self government for the Celtic regions

Landscape, Memory and History Pamela J. Stewart,Andrew Strathern,2003-05-20 How do people perceive the land around them and how is that perception changed by history This book explores this question from an anthropological angle assessing the connections between place space identity nationalism history and memory in a variety of different settings around the world Taking historical change and memory as key themes it is a broad study that will appeal to a readership across the social sciences Contributors from North America Australia New Zealand Taiwan and Europe explore a wide variety of case studies that includes seascapes in Jamaica the Solomon Islands the forests of Madagascar Aboriginal and European notions of landscape in Australia place and identity in 19th century maps and the bogs of Ireland contemporary concerns over changing landscapes in Papua New Guinea and representations of landscape and history in the poetry of the Scottish Borders

Archaeology and Ancient History Eberhard W. Sauer,2004-07-31 Challenging both traditional and fashionable theories this collection of pieces from an international range of contributors explores the separation of the human past into history archaeology and their related sub disciplines Each case study challenges the validity of this separation and asks how we can move to a more holistic approach in the study of the relationship between history and archaeology While the focus is on the ancient world particularly Greece and Rome the lessons learned in this book make it an essential addition to all studies of history and archaeology

Continental Connections Hugo Anderson-Whymark, Duncan Garrow, Fraser Sturt, 2015-02-26 The prehistories of Britain and Ireland are inescapably entwined with continental European narratives The central aim here is to explore cross channel relationships throughout later prehistory investigating the archaeological links material social cultural between the areas we now call Britain and Ireland and continental Europe from the Mesolithic through to the end of the Iron Age Since the separation from the European mainland of Ireland c 16 000 BC and Britain c 6000 BC their island nature has been seen as central to many aspects of life within them helping to define their senses of identity and forming a crucial part of their neighbourly relationship with continental Europe and with each other However it is important to remember that the surrounding seaways have often served to connect as well as to separate these islands from the continent In approaching the subject of continental connections in the long term and by bringing a variety of different archaeological perspectives associated with different periods to bear on it this volume provides a new a new synthesis of the ebbs and flows of the cross channel relationship over the course of 15 000 years of later prehistory enabling fresh understandings and new insights to emerge about the intimately linked trajectories of change in both regions

Reflections of Roman Imperialisms Marko A. Janković, Marko Jankovic, 2018-06-11 The papers collected in this volume provide invaluable insights into the results of different interactions between Romans and Others Articles dealing with cultural changes within and outside the borders of Roman Empire highlight the idea that those very changes had different results and outcomes depending on various social political economic geographical and chronological factors Most of the contributions here focus on the issues of what it means to be Roman in different contexts and show that the concept and idea of Roman ness were different for the various populations that interacted with Romans through several means of communication including political alliances wars trade and diplomacy The volume also covers a huge geographical area from Britain across Europe to the Near East and the Caucasus but also provides information on the Roman Empire through eyes of foreigners such as the ancient Chinese
