Indigenous War Painting of the Plains Arni Brownstone, 2024-07-23 In the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries the Indigenous peoples of the Great Plains practiced an archival art narrating war exploits in large scale paintings executed on animal hide robes shirts tipi covers and tipi liners Essentially autobiographical the paintings were worn and lived in by the men whose war exploits they portrayed and were made to be read by the public at large Executed in a pictorial narrative style and documenting actual events these paintings blend visual art and history Indigenous War Painting of the Plains is the first comprehensive look at this important North American art form covering the full corpus of war paintings from fourteen tribes across the plains Two impediments have previously made such a book impractical photography alone falls short of rendering war paintings for the printed page and only about half of the surviving works have reliable documentation on their cultural origins Arni Brownstone surmounts these difficulties by producing precise electronic redrawings and by using well documented paintings to inform poorly documented examples bolstered by a careful examination of collection histories Featuring some 300 photographs and electronic redrawings the book focuses on 83 paintings organized into four chapters covering the paintings of tribes associated with a specific geographical sphere of artistic influence Four appendixes feature paintings combined with translations by Indigenous collaborators who had intimate knowledge of the depicted events Offering vivid access to the key works of war painting preserved in 37 museums throughout North America and Europe Indigenous War Painting of the Plains illuminates distinctions between painting styles of different tribes reveals how they influenced one another and changed over time and conveys a deep understanding of how war painting developed in relation to profound social changes in Plains Indian cultures

The Politics of Painting Asato Ikeda, 2018-05-31 This book examines a set of paintings produced in Japan during the 1930s and early 1940s that have received little scholarly attention Asato Ikeda views the work of four prominent artists of the time Yokoyama Taikan Yasuda Yukihiko Uemura Sh en and Fujita Tsuguharu through the lens of fascism showing how their seemingly straightforward paintings of Mount Fuji samurai beautiful women and the countryside supported the war by reinforcing a state ideology that justified violence in the name of the country's cultural authenticity She highlights the politics of apolitical art and challenges the postwar labeling of battle paintings those depicting scenes of war and combat as uniquely problematic Yokoyama Taikan produced countless paintings of Mount Fuji as the embodiment of Japan's national body and spirituality in contrast to the modern West's individualism and materialism Yasuda Yukihiro located Japan in the Minamoto warriors of the medieval period depicting them in the Yamato-e style which is defined as classically Japanese Uemura Shōen sought to paint the quintessential Japanese woman drawing on the Edo period bijin ga beautiful women genre while alluding to noh aesthetics and wartime gender expectations For his subjects Fujita Tsuguharu looked to the rural snow country where it was believed authentic Japanese traditions could still be found Although these artists employed different styles and favored different subjects each maintained close ties with the state and presented what he considered to be the most representative and authentic portrayal of Japan Throughout Ikeda takes into account the changing relationships between visual iconography artistic style and its significance by carefully situating artworks within their specific historical and cultural moments She reveals the global dimensions of wartime nationalist Japanese art and opens up the possibility of dialogue with scholarship on art produced in other countries around the same time particularly Nazi Germany and Fascist Italy The Politics of Painting will be welcomed by those interested in modern Japanese art and visual culture and war art and fascism Its analysis of painters and painting within larger currents in intellectual history will attract scholars of modern Japanese and East Asian studies

Coast Artillery War Game William Chamberlaine, 1913 Blackfoot War Art L. James Dempsey, 2016-01-29 When the Blackfoot Indians were confined to reservations in the late nineteenth century their pictographic representations of warfare kept alive the rituals associated with war which were essential facets of Blackfoot culture Their war ethic served as a unifying force among the four tribes of the Blackfoot nation Siksika Blood and North and South Piegan In this visually stunning survey L. James Dempsey a member of the Blood tribe plumbs the breadth and depth of warrior representational art He has mined archival resources and museum collections and interviewed many tribal members to provide a uniquely Native perspective on the importance of warrior art in Blackfoot history and culture Filled with 160 images of startling beauty and power Blackfoot War Art tells how pictographs served as a record of both tribal and personal accomplishment This singular historical record of all available information on Blackfoot warrior pictography depicts painted robes war tepee covers liners and doors and painted panels Dempsey provides descriptions and a great deal of other information about the pieces included here His survey focuses especially on recent paintings that scholars have overlooked In revealing changing trends in the representation of war Dempsey skillfully weaves together pictures people and histories to convey a fascinating view of this warrior art from a Blood perspective Realism in Literature and Art Clarence Darrow, 1899 A Persian Pearl Clarence Darrow, 1902 Annual Report New York State Museum, 1906 These reports are made up of the reports of the director geologist paleontologist botanist and entomologist and museum Bulletins and Memoirs issued as advance sections of the reports N Y State Museum Bulletin 66 p 241 The History of Modern Painting Richard Muther, 1907 Picturing War in France, 1792-1856 Katie Hornstein, 2018-02-06 From the walls of the Salon to the pages of weekly newspapers war imagery was immensely popular in postrevolutionary France This fascinating book studies representations of contemporary conflict in the first half of the 19th century and explores how these pictures provided citizens with an imaginative stake in wars being waged in their name As she traces the evolution of images of war from a visual form that had previously been intended for mostly elite audiences to one that was enjoyed by a much broader public over the course of the 19th century Katie Hornstein carefully considers the influence of emergent technologies and popular media such as lithography photography and panoramas on both artistic style and public taste With close readings and handsome reproductions in various media from monumental battle paintings to popular prints Picturing War in France 1792-1856 draws on contemporary art criticism war reporting and the burgeoning illustrated press to reveal the crucial role such images played in shaping modern understandings of conflict

Kiowa Belief and Ritual Benjamin R. Kracht, 2017-07 Directed by anthropologist Alexander Lesser in 1935 the Santa Fe Laboratory of Anthropology sponsored a field school in southwestern Oklahoma that focused on the neighboring Kiowas During two months graduate students compiled more than 1 300 pages of single spaced field notes derived from cross interviewing thirty five Kiowas These eyewitness and first generation reflections on the horse and buffalo days are undoubtedly the best materials available for reconstructing pre reservation Kiowa beliefs and rituals The field school compiled massive data resulting in a number of publications on this formerly nomadic Plains tribe though the planned collaborative ethnographies never materialized The extensive Kiowa field notes which contain invaluable information remained largely unpublished until now In Kiowa Belief and Ritual Benjamin R. Kracht reconstructs Kiowa cosmology during the height of the horse and buffalo culture from field notes pertaining to cosmology visions shamans sorcery dream shields tribal bundles and the now extinct Sun Dance ceremony These topics are interpreted through the Kiowa concept of a power force permeating the universe Additional data gleaned from the field notes of James Mooney and Alice Marriott enrich the narrative Drawing on more than thirty years of field experiences Kracht's discussion of how Indigenous notions of power are manifested today significantly enhances the existing literature concerning Plains religions

I Will Tell No War Stories Howard Mansfield, 2024-04-16 When Howard Mansfield grew up World War II was omnipresent and hidden This was also true of his father's time in the Air Force Like most of his generation it was a rule not to talk about what he'd experienced in war You're not getting any war stories from me he'd say Cleaning up the old family house the year before his father's death Mansfield was surprised to find a short diary of the bombing missions he had flown Some of the missions were harrowing Mansfield began to fill in the details and to be surprised again this time by a history he thought he knew I Will Tell No War Stories is about undoing the forgetting in a family and in a society that has hidden the horrors and cataclysm of a world at war Some part of that forgetting was necessary for the veterans otherwise how could they come home how could they find peace I Will Tell No War Stories is also about learning to live with history a theme Mansfield explored in earlier books like In the Memory House which The New York Times called a wise and beautiful book and The Same As Twice said by the Times to be filled with insight and eloquence a brilliant book
