Painter X for Photographers Martin Addison, 2012-09-10 The only Painter book written directly for photographers

Appalachian Pastoral Michael S. Martin, 2022-10-15 This project overall attempts to recast Appalachian literature in terms of a lost tradition of texts that are generally out of print

though of central importance to understanding the history of the region and its current environmental and cultural challenges The epilogue will also consider the way that ecological based literary criticism offers a vital language for how antebellum travel writers sought to frame the region from a 19th century environmental point of view The book aims to resituate the field of Appalachian Studies to an earlier historic genesis in the 19th century and bring to light several books which have received scant scholarly attention in the canon of Appalachian and American literature respectively The book centers on the argument that mid 19th century travel writers going through or from the Appalachian region drew on familiar versions of 18th century European mainly British landscape aesthetics that would help make the readerly experience less alien to their erudite regional and Northern audiences These travel writers such as Philip Pendleton Kennedy and David Hunter Strother consciously appropriated such aesthetic tropes as the pastoral as a way to further dramatic the effect in their nonfiction accounts of Appalachia while the reader could find such references comforting as they considered whether to domesticate or tour the Appalachian region

The Phenomenology of Paint Adam Geczy, 2025-05-29 Analyzing the different modes of appearance and application of the most ubiquitous medium in art and ritual this book examines the aesthetics anthropology ethnography and history of paint The result is a clearly articulated account of both the materiality and phenomenology of paint as substance and idea Beginning with paint as ritual in prehistoric and ancient times it discusses the provenance politics and chemistry of pigments the role of concealment and beautification as paint is applied to bodies the stories and practices of hiding paint by artists and efforts to isolate paint as an essential quantity ending on the philosophical question as to whether paint is separable from colour A phenomenology of paint is in many respects an ontology of the ways we seek to represent and mediate our existence it is the medium for both covering house paint make up to revealing art By exploring paint in a multitude of roles from bodily substances to chemical engineering this study provides a fresh understanding of ritual and representation through this medium that reveals through covering

Structures of Image Collections Howard F. Greisdorf, Brian C. O'Connor, 2007-12-30 Human beings have always had a penchant for collecting images The challenge today is that almost anything and everything in the world is available as a viewable image Consequently say O Connor and Greisdorf image collections can no longer be the result of ad hoc processes rooted in antiquated methodologies To this end they present the reader with an interdisciplinary approach to the principles practices and belief systems underlying categorization and image management The book is divided into three parts defining the nature of images describing how images are used and explaining how and why images are collected including the mechanics of storage and accessibility Individual chapters contain a historical perspective on the subject matter and supporting research Liberally enhanced with illustrations from the authors own collections For anyone who cognitively engages with image collections either vocationally or avocationally

Artists in China Philip Tinari, 2007 Artists in China is an unfiltered documentation of the current state of China s artistic resurgence memorably illustrated with hundreds of color photographs Fifty of the most important artists working in Beijing Shanghai and Guangzhou present themselves through their artwork and open the doors of their living and working spaces Entering into the interior worlds of the artists allows the reader to develop not only a professional portrait of each but also a personal one so that they are no longer simply a line on an incomprehensible list of names Artists in China has more than four hundred large format images that convey the atmosphere of the artists eclectic spaces that canvas the intriguing variety of artwork currently being produced by Chinese painters sculptors photographers installation and video artists Art journalist Philip Tinari has written brief essays on the artists featured in the book placing the activity of each within the context of the rapidly expanding world of Chinese art

Feathering Custer W. S. Penn, 2004-12-01 The noted Nez Perce fiction writer and critic W S Penn turns his wry and penetrating gaze on the state of modern Native life and literature and considers how modern scholarship has affected the ways Natives and others see themselves and their world The result is a uniquely frank witty and unsettling critique of contemporary theory and its ability to come to terms with the real lives and literatures of Natives in North America Key to this critique is the troubling issue of what properly constitutes a traditional Indian identity and an Indian literature within Native communities and in the academy In confronting this issue Penn exposes some of the sillier uses of the serious language of diversity as well as the impact of identity politics on Native professors And yet Penn argues the storytelling traditions so central to Native communities remain very much alive today hidden in the corners of the literary canon

Photographers will inspire you to get creative with your personal or commercial photographs The Mistral Catherine Tatiana Dunlop, 2024-10-14 An in depth look at the hidden power of the mistral wind and its effect on modern French history Every year the chilly mistral wind blows through the Rh ne valley of southern France across the Camargue wetlands and into the Mediterranean Sea Most forceful when winter turns to spring the wind knocks over trees sweeps trains off their tracks and destroys crops Yet the mistral turns the sky clear and blue as it often appears in depictions of Provence The legendary wind is central to the area's regional identity and has inspired artists and writers near and far for centuries This force of nature is the focus of Catherine Dunlop's The Mistral a wonderfully written examination of the power of the mistral wind and in particular the ways it challenged central tenets of nineteenth century European society order mastery and predictability As Dunlop shows while the modernizing state sought liberation from environmental realities through scientific advances land modification and other technological solutions the wind blew on literally crushing attempts at control and becoming increasingly integral to regional feelings of place and community Understanding Shutter Speed Bryan

Peterson, 2011-01-19 The first book in the Understanding Photography series Understanding Exposure was a runaway best seller with more than 250 000 copies sold Now author Bryan Peterson brings his signature style to another important photography topic shutter speed With clear jargon free explanations of terms and techniques plus compelling before and after photos that pair a mediocre image created using the wrong shutter speed with a great image created using the right shutter speed this is the definitive practical guide to mastering an often confusing subject Topics include freezing and implying motion panning zooming exposure Bogen Super Clamps and rendering motion effects with Photoshop all with helpful guidance for both digital and film formats Great for beginners and serious amateurs Understanding Shutter Speed is the definitive handy guide to mastering shutter speed for superb results Photography Beyond Technique: Essays from F295 on the Informed Use of Alternative and Historical Photographic Processes Tom Persinger, 2014-02-24 Photography is not dying and has not died It has been an ever changing medium since its earliest days and while near obsession with the technology of the day may have defined photography over the course of its existence photography is so much more than hardware and software Photography is communication whether chemical or digital tangible or ephemeral in form Photography Beyond Technique is a compelling selection of essays and images that reveal the thoughts and methods of some of today's most exciting contemporary photographers. These artists employ alternative historical or handmade processes and techniques and they share a comprehensive view of the medium that the choice of photographic process is just as important as the selection of subjects. While other books concentrate solely on process or theory or artistic intent, none focus on photography in which these decisions are considered inseparable. These 20 essays, originally presented at the annual F295 symposium and seminar series, provide a thought-provoking read for anyone interested in photography as an art form and as a medium through which to view the world. Includes Looking Backward, Seeing Forward, Reframing Visual History by Robert Hirsch, Mystery, Memory and Narrative by Martha Casanave, Finding Confidence, Combining Process with Purpose by Mark Osterman, Photograph Material and Metaphor by Jerry Spagnoli.

Fieldnotes on a Study of Young People's Perceptions of Crime and Justice Avi Brisman, 2022-07-25 This book is an ethnographic examination of the young people who serve voluntarily as judges, advocates, and other court personnel at the Red Hook Youth Court (RHYC) in Brooklyn, New York, a juvenile diversion program designed to prevent the formal processing of juvenile offenders, usually first-time offenders for low-level offenses such as fare evasion, truancy, vandalism, within the juvenile justice system. Focusing on the nine-to-ten week long unpaid training program that the young people undergo prior to becoming RHYC members, this book offers a detailed description of young people's experiences learning about crime, delinquency, justice, and law. Combining moments of self-reflection and autobiographical elements into largely uncooked fieldnotes, the book seeks to demonstrate the hegemonic operations of a court, the Red Hook Community Justice Center (RHCJC), a multi-jurisdictional problem-solving court and community center where the RHYC is housed, the processes in which it secures belief in formal justice and the rule of law, ensures consent to be governed, and reproduces existing social structures. An accessible and compelling read, this book will appeal to students and scholars of criminology, law, sociology, and youth justice, as well as to those undertaking ethnographic research on young people, crime, and justice.
