Philosophy Of Buddhism A Totalistic Synthesis:

The Philosophy of Buddhism A. Verdu, 2012-12-06 The riddles that world causation pose to the human mind lie at the bottom of all cosmological systems of thought In their origins all philosophical attitudes are conditioned by partiality and perspectivism The philosopher s attempted flight towards the seemingly remote kingdom of truth is often aborted by the binding twines of perspectival language Thus his insights lose themselves in conflicting contradictory manifestos Greek cosmology as it is formally set forth by the pre Socratics is a clear example of this weary pilgrimage of mind s embodied vision from angle to angle from perspective to perspective Not less is to be expected from the systems of Hinduism and mutatis mutandis also of Buddhist thought More confined from the very outset to the study of reality as a study of human existence of its awareness of embodiment of its spatio temporal bondage and of its ultimate ontological status Buddhism gave rise to truly astounding theories of life world causation The process of Buddhist thought as it refers to the nature of the human experience as in the world existence covers a vast range of doctrines from original theories of pluralism and phenomenism with sectional multifarious and relativistic notions of causality through the unitary conceptions of monistic idealism up to the top of universal integrationism and dialectical totalism The Philosophy of Buddhism A.

Signposts to Silence J.S. Krüger, 2018-12-01

Signposts to Silence provides a theoretical map of what it terms metaphysical mysticism the search for the furthest most inclusive horizon the domain of silence which underlies the religious and metaphysical urge of humankind in its finest forms Tracing the footsteps of pioneers of this exploration the investigation also documents a number of historical pilgrimages from a variety of cultural and religious backgrounds Such mountaineers of the spirit who created paths trodden by groups of followers over centuries and in some cases millennia include Lao Tzu and Chuang Tzu Siddhattha and Jesus Sankara and Fa tsang Plato and Plotinus Isaac Luria and Ibn Arabi Aquinas and Hegel Such figures teachings and traditions including the religions of Judaism Christianity and Islam Hinduism Buddhism and Taoism are understood as at their most sublime not final destiny and the end of the road but signposts to a horizon of ultimate silence The hermeneutical method employed in tracking such pioneers involves four steps sound historical critical understanding of the context of the various traditions and figures reconstruction of the subjective intentional structure of such persons and their teachings design by the author of a theoretical map of the overall terrain of metaphysical mysticism on which all such journeys of the spirit are to be located while providing a theoretical context for understanding them tendentially i.e. taking the ultimate drift of their thinking essentially to transcend their subjective intentions drawing out within the space available some political taken in a wide sense implications from the above such as religio political stances as well as ecological and gender implications Continuing the general direction of thought within what the author endorses to be the best in metaphysical mysticism in its historical manifestations the book aims to contribute to peace amongst religions in the contemporary global cultural situation It relativizes all claims to exclusive absolute truth that might be proclaimed by any religious or metaphysical mystical position while providing space for not only tolerating but also affirming the unique value and dignity of each This orientation moves beyond the stances of enmity or indifference or syncretism or homogenisation of all as well as that of mere friendly toleration It investigates the seemingly daunting and inhospitable yet immensely significant Antarctica of the Spirit the meta space of silence behind the various forms of wordy inter relationships It affirms pars pro toto totum pro parte and pars pro parte that each religious mystical and metaphysical orientation in its relative singularity represents or contains the whole and derives value from that and that each represents or contains every other This homoversal solidarity stimulating individual uniqueness is different from and in fact implies criticism of the process of globalisation While not taking part in a scientific argument as such Signposts to Silence aims at promoting an understanding of science and metaphysical mysticism as mutual context for each other and it listens to a number of voices from the domain of science that understand this

Issues in Contemporary Philosophy of Religion Eugene Thomas Long, 2012-12-06 This collection of original articles written by leading contemporary European and American philosophers of religion is presented in celebration of the publication of the fiftieth volume of the International Journal for Philosophy of Religion Following the Editor's Introduction John Macquarrie Adriaan Peperzak and Hent de Vries take up central themes in continental philosophy of religion Macquarrie analyzes postmodernism and its influence in philosophy and theology Peperzak argues for a form of universality different from that of modern philosophy and de Vries analyzes an intrinsic and structural relationship between religion and the media The next three essays discuss issues in analytic philosophy of religion Philip Quinn argues that religious diversity reduces the epistemic status of exclusivism and makes it possible for a religious person to be justified while living within a pluralistic environment William Wainwright plumbs the work of Jonathan Edwards in order to better understand debates concerning freedom determinism and the problem of evil and William Hasker asks whether theological incompatibilism is less inimical to traditional theism than some have supposed Representing the Thomist tradition Fergus Kerr challenges standard readings of Aquinas on the arguments for the existence of God David Griffin analyzes the contributions of process philosophy to the problem of evil and the relation between science and religion Illustrating comparative approaches Keith Ward argues that the Semitic and Indian traditions have developed a similar concept of God that should be revised in view of post Enlightenment theories of the individual and the historical Keith Yandell explores themes in the Indian metaphysical tradition and considers what account of persons is most in accord with reincarnation and karma doctrines Feminist philosophy of religion is represented in Pamela Anderson's article in which she argues for a gender sensitive and more inclusive approach to the craving for infinitude

Philosophy of Religion for a New Century Jeremiah Hackett, Jerald Wallulis, 2004-04-30 Philosophy of Religion for a New Century represents the work of nineteen scholars presented at a conference in honor of Eugene T Long at the University of South Carolina April 5-6 2002 This volume is a good example of philosophy in dialogue there is both respect and genuine disagreement First an account of our present situation in the Philosophy of Religion is given leading to a discussion of the very idea of a Christian Philosophy and the coherence of the traditional concept of God The implications of science and a concern for the environment in our concepts of God are carefully examined A discussion follows on the possibility of speech about God and silence about God Since much of modern European philosophy is concerned with the Death of God theme the positions of Nietzsche and some of his twentieth century interpreters are presented There are presentations on Feminist Approaches to Philosophy of Religion and Comparative Religion is examined in relation to cultures and the demands of rationality The volume concludes with a critical dialogue on the relation of Religious Discourse to the Public Sphere Developing global awareness has led to significant change in the Philosophy of Religion One dimensional approaches have given way to honest dialogue The traditional boundaries between the secular and the religious have shifted and new approaches to traditional problems are required This volume presents examples of these new approaches

Nishida Kitaro's Chiasmatic Chorology John W. M. Krummel, 2015-09-01 Nishida Kitaro 1870-1945 is considered Japan's first and greatest modern philosopher As founder of the Kyoto School he began a rigorous philosophical engagement and dialogue with Western philosophical traditions especially the work of G. W. F. Hegel John W. M. Krummel explores the Buddhist roots of Nishida's thought and places him in connection with Hegel and other philosophers of the Continental tradition Krummel develops notions of self-awareness which place the environment, religion and politics in Nishida's thought and shows how his ethics of humility may best serve us in our complex world

The God Beyond Belief Nick Trakakis, 2006-11-03 This study of Professor William Rowe's defense of atheism on the basis of evil assesses the literature that has developed in response to Rowe's work closely examining two strategies: mystery, the idea that God may have reasons beyond our comprehension for permitting evil, and theodicy explanations as to why God allows evil to flourish The book unearths difficulties in both, concluding that the God of theism must be beyond belief

A Theodicy of Hell C. Seymour, 2013-03-09 In A Theodicy of Hell Charles Seymour tackles one of the most difficult problems facing the Western theistic tradition to show the consonance between eternal punishment and the goodness of God Medieval theology attempted to resolve the dilemma by arguing that any sin, no matter how slight, merits unending torment Contemporary thinkers on the other hand tend to eliminate the retributive element from hell entirely Combining historical breadth with detailed argumentation the author develops a novel understanding of hell which avoids the extremes of both its traditional and modern rivals He then surveys the battery of objections ranged against the possibility of eternal punishment and shows how his freedom view of hell can withstand the attack The work will be of particular importance for those interested in philosophy of religion and theology including academics, students, seminarians, clergy and anyone else with a personal desire to come to terms with this perennially challenging doctrine

Approaches to Metaphysics William Sweet, 2006-02-28 Today when systematic philosophy and reason itself are challenged both outside of and within philosophy, is it still possible to do metaphysics This volume provides a broad perspective on contemporary approaches to the nature and the fundamental questions of metaphysics Drawing on scholars from continental Europe, Asia, Canada, the United States and Great Britain and representing a variety of philosophical cultures and traditions, this volume surveys and extends work in metaphysics and its implications for broader philosophical concerns, e.g. in ethics and social philosophy, in mathematics and logic and in epistemology It also addresses such questions as the role of history and historicity in undertaking metaphysics, the nature of metaphysics, the priority of metaphysics over epistemology and the challenges of empiricism and postmodernism

The Idealist Illusion and Other Essays Maurice Blondel, 2013-03-09 I was very happy when in 1997 Fiachra Long came to spend part of his sabbatical leave at the Archives Maurice Blondel at Louvain-la-Neuve This allowed him to bring together and complete his translation of three important articles from Maurice Blondel, known as the philosopher of Aix-en-Provence These three articles form a unity they make explicit certain aspects of the method used in the great thesis of 1893 Action. This thesis it is well known aroused many polemic debates after its appearance. Thomist theologians accused Blondel of turning back towards Kantian idealism whereas the philosophers of the Revue de metaphysique et de morale accused him on the contrary of falling back on a pre critical realism. The three articles translated here each in its own way attempt to pass beyond these two opposite charges. The Idealist Illusion 1898 underlines the fact that the content of consciousness should be unfurled as it appears by withdrawing from any idealist or realist prejudice before judging the consistency of its content as a whole. In this way Blondel supports the phenomenological method used in his thesis The Elementary Principle of a Logic of the Moral Life 1903 is a very well worked text which shows that the logic of possession and privation is broader than the logic of affirmation and negation. Using these words Blondel develops certain striking laws of action such as that of the parallelogram of contrary forces. The Apologetic Value of Human Holiness Victoria S. Harrison, 2000-11-30 The Apologetic Value of Human Holiness begins by providing the first comprehensive account of the model of human holiness developed by the leading theologian Hans Urs von Balthasar. In so doing the book also provides the first detailed explication of his Christocentric philosophical anthropology. Part 2 argues that von Balthasar anticipates some key developments in late twentieth century Anglo American analytical philosophy and that certain of these developments in particular the internal realism of Hilary Putnam provide powerful support for von Balthasar's theological philosophy. The final part elucidates von Balthasar's core intuition that human holiness is of immense apologetic value for religious faith and concludes with a new internalist theory of religious pluralism. The Apologetic Value of Human Holiness will be seen as an important and original contribution to both Philosophy of Religion and Theology and is likely to prove essential reading in upper level undergraduate and postgraduate courses in both subjects.

Our Knowledge of God K.J. Clark, 1992-08-31 Natural theology is the project of articulating defending and Countering arguments for the existence and nature of God without the aid of special revelation. Philosophical theology which employs the rational methods of natural theology is not restricted to premises that are discernible through observation and reason it may rightly employ premises that are knowable through special revelation. While the project of natural theology may be construed as an attempt to demonstrate God's existence one cannot ignore the importance of using reason or experience to understand determine or assess attributes. One will want to know at the conclusion of a proof in natural God's theology if one has proved the existence of God and not merely the primordial mobilum source of moral obligation or a committee of finite designers while God may be the prime mover and designer of the cosmos none of these attributes alone is sufficient for making a claim to divinity. It is therefore difficult to distinguish sharply the project of natural theology from philosophical theology. The project of classical natural theology has been the attempt to prove God's existence and nature with arguments that employ premises that all rational creatures are obliged to accept. Charles Hartshorne's Concept of God S. Sia, 2013-03-14 Charles Hartshorne's considerable writings have been influential in contemporary religious and philosophical thought. Not only is he regarded as the leading living representative of process thought as well as a much respected interpreter of Whitehead but he has also established himself as an original and creative thinker in his own right. The literature on his philosophy has been rapidly increasing. His thought and influence have also been the subject of a number of conferences and gatherings of scholars. One of Hartshorne's most notable contributions to contemporary philosophy and theology is his concept of God. In his writings he has set out to formulate the idea of deity so as to preserve perhaps increase its religious value while yet avoiding the contradictions which seem inseparable from the idea as customarily defined. The result of his efforts has been the development of the concept of a dipolar God insofar as contrasting metaphysical predicates e.g. relative absolute contingent necessary finite infinite and so on are affirmed as applicable to God although always in an eminent way. Inasmuch as he has elaborated this concept in close dialogue with classical theism he also refers to it as neo-classical. Because of the emphasis he places on the reality of change and becoming in his metaphysics which regards God as the chief exemplification of metaphysical principles the term process has likewise been used to describe his notion of God.

A Relational Metaphysic H.H. Oliver, 2012-12-06. C.S. Peirce's indictment that the chief cause of metaphysics backward condition is that its leading professors have been theologians. Collected Papers 6.3 falls heavily at my door. For it logians was out of reflection upon religious experience and its meaning that the present relational metaphysic was conceived. My hope however is that its scope is sufficiently wider than its theological origins to justify its appearance as a work in philosophy. Having been nurtured in existential philosophy and having reached some measure of maturity with the wise counsel of Professor Dr Fritz Buri of Basel I came to feel that theology as a modern discipline had reached an impasse owing to its overextended commitments to a subject object paradigm of thought. Even those theologians who despaired of these ties seemed unable to find an independent alternative idiom for their ideas. A second tension in my thinking resulted from the inordinate neglect by theologians of the natural world. Also my natural interest in physical understanding seemed unfulfilled within the narrow confines of theology even of philosophical theology as then practiced. As I turned decisively toward the study of modern physics and especially of cosmology a new world seemed to open up to me. After extensive study with prominent astronomers and physicists it began to dawn on me that the new physics has devised conceptual paradigms of thought which could be generalized into a metaphysical system of universal interest.

All Under Heaven John H. Berthrong, 1994-03-22. This book is a study of comparative philosophy and theology. The themes are the critical issues arising from the modern interpretation of Confucian doctrine as they confront the Christian beliefs of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries.

Expanding Process John H. Berthrong, 2008-10-23. Expanding Process explores how comparative philosophy expands our understanding of the critical themes of process change and transformation. John H. Berthrong examines how notions of process manifest and shape the classical Confucianism of Xunzi the early medieval Daoism of the Liezi and Zhu Xi's Song Dynasty daoism. Teaching of The Way. Berthrong links these various Chinese views of process and transformation to contemporary debates in the American process pragmatic and naturalist philosophical movements Stressing how our pluralistic world calls for comparing and even appropriating insights from diverse cultural traditions Berthrong contends that comparative philosophy and theology can broaden the intellectual frontiers and foundations of any serious student of contemporary global thought

Transformations Of The Confucian Way John Berthrong, 2018-10-08 From its beginnings Confucianism has vibrantly taught that each person is able to find the Way individually in service to the community and the world John Berthrong's comprehensive new work tells the story of the grand intellectual development of the Confucian tradition revealing all the historical phases of Confucianism and opening the reader's eyes to the often neglected gifts of scholars of the Han T'ang and the modern periods as well as to the vast contributions of Korea and Japan The author concludes his revelatory study with an examination of the contemporary renewal of the Confucian Way in East Asia and its spread to the West
