Building the Modern Church Robert Proctor, 2016-05-23 Fifty years after the Second Vatican Council architectural historian Robert Proctor examines the transformations in British Roman Catholic church architecture that took place in the two decades surrounding this crucial event Inspired by new thinking in theology and changing practices of worship and by a growing acceptance of modern art and architecture architects designed radical new forms of church building in a campaign of new buildings for new urban contexts A focussed study of mid twentieth century church architecture Building the Modern Church considers how architects and clergy constructed the image and reality of the Church as an institution through its buildings The author examines changing conceptions of tradition and modernity and the development of a modern church architecture that drew from the ideas of the liturgical movement The role of Catholic clergy as patrons of modern architecture and art and the changing attitudes of the Church and its architects to modernity are examined explaining how different strands of post war architecture were adopted in the field of ecclesiastical buildings The church building s social role in defining communities through rituals and symbols is also considered together with the relationships between churches and modernist urban planning in new towns and suburbs Case studies analysed in detail include significant buildings and architects that have remained little known until now Based on meticulous historical research in primary sources theoretically informed fully referenced and thoroughly illustrated this book will be of interest to anyone concerned with the church architecture art and theology of this period A History of the Church through its Buildings Allan

Doig, 2020-12-10 The History of the Church through its Buildings takes the reader to meet people who lived through momentous religious changes in the very spaces where the story of the Church took shape Buildings are about people the people who conceived designed financed and used them Their stories become embedded in the very fabric itself and as the fabric is changed through time in response to changing use relationships and beliefs the architecture becomes the standing history of passing waves of humanity This process takes on special significance in churches where the arrangement of the space places members of the community in relationship with one another for the performance of the church s rites and ceremonies Moreover architectural forms and building materials can be used to establish relationships with other buildings in other places and other times Coordinated systems of signs symbols and images proclaim beliefs and doctrine and in a wider sense carry extended narratives of the people and their faith Looking at the history of the church through its buildings allows us to establish a tangible connection to the lives of the people involved in some of the key moments and movements that shaped that history and perhaps even a degree of intimacy with them Standing in the same place where the worshippers of the past preached and taught or in a space they built as a memorial touching the stone they placed or marking their final resting place holding a keepsake they treasured or seeing a relic they venerated probably comes as close to a shared experience with these people as it is possible to come Perhaps for a fleeting moment at such times their faces may come more clearly into focus

Water, Doors and Buildings: Studies in the History of Construction James Campbell, Nina Baker, Michael Driver, Michael Heaton, Michael Tutton, Christine Wall, David Yeomans, Sabine Kuban, 2019 This volume presents 50 peer reviewed papers presented at the Sixth Annual Conference of the Construction History Society held at Queens College Cambridge from 5-7 April 2019 which cover a wide variety of topics on aspects of construction history with a section devoted entirely to papers on water engineering

The Everyday Experiences of Reconstruction and Regeneration David Adams, Peter Larkham, 2019-04-09 Set within a wider British and international context of post war reconstruction The Everyday Experiences of Reconstruction and Regeneration focuses on such debates and experiences in Birmingham and Coventry as they recovered from Second World War bombings and post war industrial collapse Including numerous images Adams and Larkham explore the initial development of the post Second World War reconstruction projects which so substantially changed the face of the cities and provided radical new identities Exploring these cities throughout the post war period brings into sharp focus the duality of contemporary approaches to regeneration which often criticise mid twentieth century poorly conceived planning and architectural projects for producing inhuman and unsympathetic schemes while proposing exactly the type of large scale regeneration that may potentially create similar issues in the future This book would be beneficial for academics and students of planning and urban design particularly those with an interest in post catastrophe or large scale reconstruction projects within cities

Sustaining Cathedrals Leslie J. Francis, Stephen G. Parker, 2025-09-01 In an age when churches seem to be struggling and new initiatives remain fragile cathedrals are displaying signs of resilience The field of cathedral studies has emerged to test the sustainability of this resilience This volume draws together the work of 19 individuals who are shaping the field of cathedral studies intent on describing what they see and keen to identify what could be Together they position cathedrals at the heart of Anglican ecclesiology and maintain that properly supported cathedrals serve as episcopal theological resource churches where sacred space and common ground collide Here faithful disciples can be nurtured and sustained and here the low threshold welcomes in the hungry crowds whom the disciples are called for feed and to nurture Insightful and thought provoking this book will be of interest to practitioners scholars and students of religious studies cathedral studies theology and sociology The chapters in this book were originally published in the Journal of Beliefs Values The Image of Christ in Modern Art Richard Harries, 2016-03-03 The Image of Christ in Modern Art explores the challenges presented by the radical and rapid changes of artistic style in the 20th century to artists who wished to relate to traditional Christian imagery In the 1930s David Jones said that he and his contemporaries were acutely conscious of the break by which he meant the fragmentation and loss of a once widely shared Christian narrative and set of images In this highly illustrated book Richard Harries looks at some of the artists associated with the birth of modernism such as Epstein and Rouault as well as those with a highly distinctive understanding of religion such as Chagall and Stanley Spencer He discusses the revival of confidence associated with the rebuilding of Coventry Cathedral after World War II and the commissioning of work by artists like Henry Moore Graham Sutherland and John Piper before looking at the very testing last quarter of the 20th century He shows how here and even more in our own time fresh and important visual interpretations of Christ have been created both by well known and less well known artists In conclusion he suggests that the modern movement in art has turned out to be a friend not a foe of Christian art Through a wide and beautiful range of images and insightful text Harries explores the continuing challenge present from the beginning of Christian art as to how that which is visual can in some way indicate the transcendent Transfiguration vol. 6:2. Nordic Journal of Christianity and the Arts , British Design Christopher Breward, Fiona Fisher, Ghislaine Wood, 2015-10-22 British Design brings together leading international scholars designers and journalists to provide new perspectives on British design in the last sixty years and how it at once looked back to the past with the continuation of traditions that spoke to Britain's design heritage and looked forwards with the embrace of modernist and postmodernist style The book responds to and develops new ways of understanding the recent history of design in Britain with case studies on designed spaces and objects including domestic interiors retail spaces schools and university buildings and transport The contributors address significant moments and phenomena in the historical and social history of British design from the rise and fall of the English Country House style and the Brutalist architectural boom of the 1960s to the modern shopping space and consider the work of key contemporary designers ranging from Tommy Roberts to Thomas Heatherwick British Design provides new criticism and analysis on how design from the immediate post war period to the present day has developed and changed how we live and how we interact with the spaces in which we live British Design is split into 13 chapters and is richly illustrated with 65 images 16 of which are in full colour Spatial Recall Marc Treib, 2013-09-13 Architecture and designed landscapes serve as grand mnemonic devices that record and transmit vital aspects of culture and history Spatial Recall casts a broad net over the concept of memory and gives a variety of perspectives from twelve internationally noted scholars practicing designers and artists such as Juhani Pallasmaa Adriaan Geuze Susan Schwartzberg Georges Descombes and Esther da Costa Meyer Essays range from broad topics of message and audience to specific ones of landscape production Beautifully illustrated Spatial Recall is a comprehensive view of memory in the built environment how we have read it in the past and how we can create it in the future Please note this book is now printed digitally Modern Playhouses Alistair Fair,2018-03-09

Modern Playhouses is the first detailed study of the major programme of theatre building which took place in Britain between the 1950s and the 1980s Drawing on a vast range of archival material much of which had never previously been studied by historians it sets architecture in a wide social and cultural context presenting the history of post war theatre buildings as a history of ideas relating not only to performance but also to culture citizenship and the modern city During this period more than sixty major new theatres were constructed in locations from Plymouth to Inverness Aberystwyth to Ipswich The most prominent example was the National Theatre in London but the National was only the tip of the iceberg Supported in many cases by public subsidies these buildings represented a new kind of theatre conceived as a public service Theatre was ascribed a transformative role serving as a form of productive recreation at a time of increasing affluence and leisure New theatres also contributed to debates about civic pride urbanity and community Ultimately theatre could be understood as a vehicle for the creation of modern citizens in a consciously modernizing Britain Yet while recognizing as contemporaries did that the new theatres of the post war decades represented change Modern Playhouses also asks how radically different these buildings really were and what their mainstream architecture reveals of the history of modern British architecture and of post war Britain Sacred Modernity Lorenzo Grieco,2025-09-30 This book examines mid 20th century Anglican church architecture in Britain from the 1935 to the 1975 exploring how it was shaped by liturgical changes social shifts and artistic influences It investigates the theoretical foundations of modern Anglican church design and the contributions of various denominations to shared worship spaces Amidst the rise of research groups publications and photographic documentation the book highlights the subject's significance in this period Inspired by the liturgical reformation within the Church of England it analyzes churches in their urban contexts and the communities they served revealing the complex interplay between architects engineers artists local authorities and clergy The book also addresses post war church reconstruction the adaptation of existing buildings and the integration of new construction technologies It explores how churches accommodated secular functions alongside sacred spaces to reduce maintenance costs and foster communal identity As secularization grew particularly affecting the Church of England it also considers the transformation of redundant churches into secular venues Adopting a cross disciplinary approach the book situates Anglican church architecture within broader religious urban and social contexts offering a comprehensive perspective for scholars and practitioners alike Britten's Unquiet Pasts Heather Wiebe,2012-10-04 Heather Wiebe's book looks to the music of Benjamin Britten to elucidate a British postwar vision of cultural renewal
