Hollis Frampton Michael Zryd, 2023-05-09 Hollis Frampton was an American filmmaker, photographer and theorist who bridged the experimental film and contemporary art worlds in the 1960s and 1970s Best known for avant garde films including Zorns Lemma 1970 and nostalgia 1971 Frampton spent his later years working on the unfinished epic Magellan a monumental cycle that used the metaphor of Ferdinand Magellan's circumnavigation of the world to rethink the nature and meanings of history, modernity and cinema Frampton's career was cut short by cancer at age 48 with his vast ambitions for the project left incomplete This book is a groundbreaking and comprehensive account of this remarkable figure's work in its totality from Frampton's earliest films through Magellan Michael Zryd explores the connections linking Frampton's art and thought to other media forms, histories and cultural frameworks He foregrounds Frampton's notion of the infinite cinema which redefined the parameters of the medium to encompass all forms of moving image and sound media across the past and future of cinematic possibility Zryd analyzes Frampton's ambivalent relationship with modernism and the Enlightenment showing how the artist navigated between attraction to radical artistic investigation and awareness of this tradition's implication in colonialism and other oppressive power structures Shedding new light on Frampton's project of exploring and critiquing how cinema attempts to capture and understand the world this book also considers his significance for contemporary art The Photographic Object 1970 Mary Statzer, 2016-01-26 In 1970 photography curator Peter C Bunnell organized the exhibition Photography into Sculpture for the Museum of Modern Art in New York bringing together twenty three photographers and artists from across the United States as well as Vancouver, British Columbia whose work challenged accepted practices and categories The Photographic Object 1970 serves as an exhibition catalogue after the fact an oral history and critical reading of exhibitions and experimental photography during the 1960s and 70s It proposes precedents for contemporary artists who continue to blur the boundaries between photography and other art mediums Provided by publisher

On the Camera Arts and Consecutive Matters Hollis Frampton, 2015-01-30 The collected writings of artist and filmmaker Hollis Frampton including all the essays from the long unavailable Circles of Confusion along with rare additional material As Hollis Frampton's photographs and celebrated experimental films were testing the boundaries of the camera arts in the 1960s and 1970s his provocative and highly literate writings were attempting to establish an intellectually resonant form of discourse for these critically underexplored fields It was a time when artists working in diverse disciplines were beginning to pick up cameras and produce films and videotapes well before these practices were understood or embraced by institutions of contemporary art This collection of Frampton s writings presents his critical essays many written for Artforum and October along with additional material including lectures correspondence interviews and production notes and scripts It replaces and supersedes the long unavailable Circles of Confusion published in 1983 Frampton ranged widely over the visual arts in his writing and the texts in this collection display his unique approaches to photography film and video as well as the plastic and literary arts They include critically acclaimed essays on Edward Weston and Eadweard Muybridge as well as appraisals of contemporary photographers the influential essay For a Metahistory of Film along with scripts textual material and scores for his films writings on video that constitute a prehistory of the digital arts a dialogue with Carl Andre his friend and former Phillips Andover classmate from the early 1960s and two inventive almost unclassifiable pieces that are reminiscent of Borges Joyce and Beckett

Photography and Its Violations John Roberts, 2014-10-14 Theorists critique photography for objectifying its subjects and manipulating appearances for the sake of art In this bold counterargument John Roberts recasts photography's violating powers of disclosure and aesthetic technique as part of a complex social ontology that exposes the hierarchies divisions and exclusions behind appearances The photographer must arrive unannounced and get in the way of the world Roberts argues committing photography to the truth claims of the spectator over the self interests and sensitivities of the subject Yet even though the violating capacity of the photograph results from external power relations the photographer is still faced with an ethical choice whether to advance photography's truth claims on the basis of these powers or to diminish or veil these powers to protect the integrity of the subject Photography's acts of intrusion and destabilization then constantly test the photographer at the point of production in the darkroom and at the computer especially in our 24 hour digital image culture In this game changing work Roberts refunctions photography's place in the world politically and theoretically restoring its reputation as a truth producing medium

Gracia, 2006-11-13 Aristotle analyzed the popular art of his time the tragedies and epics Why should philosophers today not do likewise Perhaps we can learn something from children's stories by subverting the dominant paradigm of adult authority and admitting with Socrates that we don't know all the answers Perhaps Batman has ethical lessons to teach that generalize beyond the pages of comic books Is it better to like Mozart than it is to like Madonna Kurt Cobain gave voice to the attitude of a generation singing Here we are now entertain us Is entertainment a bad thing or could it actually have value and not just instrumental value

American Pop Art in France Liam Considine, 2019-10-28 Pop art was essential to the Americanization of global art in the 1960s yet it engendered resistance and adaptation abroad in equal measure especially in Paris From the end of the Algerian War of Independence and the opening of Ileana Sonnabend s gallery for American Pop art in Paris in 1962 to the silkscreen poster workshops of May 68 this book examines critical adaptations of Pop motifs and pictorial devices across French painting graphic design cinema and protest aesthetics Liam Considine argues that the transatlantic dispersion of Pop art gave rise to a new politics of the image that challenged Americanization and prefigured the critiques and contradictions of May 68
