Local Citizenship in the Global Arena Sally Findlow, 2016-11-03 Local Citizenship in the Global Arena proposes a reconsideration of both citizenship and citizenship education moving away equally from prevailing global citizenship and fundamental British values approaches towards a curriculum for education that is essentially about creating cosmopolitan included and inclusive politically engaged citizens of communities local national and global Viewing education as both problem and solution Findlow argues that today's climate of rapid and unpredictable geopolitical and cultural re-scoping requires an approach to citizenship education that both reflects and shapes society paying attention to relationships between the local and global aspects of political voice equality and community Drawing on a range of international examples she explores the importance and possibilities of a form of education that instead of promoting divisive competition educates about citizenship in its various forms and encourages the sorts of open and radical thinking that can help young people cross ideological and physical borders and use their voice in line with their own and others real long term interests Successive chapters develop this argument by critically examining the key elements of citizenship discourses through the interrelated lenses of geopolitical change nationalism the competition fetish critical pedagogy multiculturalism protest politics feminism and ecology and highlighting ways in which the situationally diverse lived realities of citizenship have been mediated by different forms of education The book draws attention to how we think of education s place in a world of combined globalisation localism anti state revolt and xenophobia It will be of key interest to academics researchers and postgraduate students in the fields of education political science philosophy sociology social policy cultural studies and anthropology
