Time John Brinckerhoff Jackson, 1994-01-01 J B Jackson a pioneer in the field of landscape studies here takes us on a tour of American landscapes past and present showing how our surroundings reflect important changes in our culture Because we live in urban and industrial environments that are constantly evolving says Jackson time and movement are increasingly important to us and place and permanence are less so We no longer gain a feeling of community from where we live or where we assemble but from common work hours habits and customs Jackson examines the new vernacular landscape of trailers parking lots trucks loading docks and suburban garages which all reflect this emphasis on mobility and transience he redefines roads as scenes of work and leisure and social intercourse as places rather than as means of getting to places he argues that public parks are now primarily for children older people and nature lovers while more mobile or gregarious people seek recreation in shopping malls in the street and in sports arenas he traces the development of dwellings in New Mexico from prehistoric Pueblo villages to mobile homes and he criticizes the tendency of some environmentalists to venerate nature instead of interacting with it and learning to share it with others in temporary ways Written with his customary lucidity and elegance this book reveals Jackson's passion for vernacular culture his insights into a style of life that blurs the boundaries between work and leisure between middle and working classes and between public and private spaces

Cultural Practices of Place Sarah Earnshaw, 2025-11-03 The notion of sense of place developed across disciplines to study the range of experiential relational and emotive attachments between people and spatial constellations This collection proposes a sense of placing to render visible complex cultural practices of meaning making in around and through place while also encouraging reflection on the epistemes of position Whether as physical location social orientation or facet of differentiation relations of place are a central consideration of Cultural Studies yet this has not been afforded sustained engagement as a means to analyse dynamics of cultural power Unpicking the practices that determine while being determined by the heres theres and somewheres in between the contributions showcase engagement with diverse media through which senses are placed and places are sensed Gathering perspectives from sociology law philosophy human geography literature and cultural studies the volume is an interdisciplinary endeavour to practice a dialogic placing across often siloed academic work

A sense of place Lez Cooke, 2018-02-28 This pioneering study examines regional British television drama from its beginnings on the BBC and ITV in the 1950s to the arrival of Channel Four in 1982 It discusses the ways in which regionalism regional culture and regional identity have been defined outlines the history of regional broadcasting in the UK and includes two detailed case studies of Granada Television and BBC English Regions Drama representing contrasting examples of regional television drama during what is often described as the golden age of British television The conclusion brings the study up to date by discussing recent developments in regional drama production and by considering future possibilities Written in a scholarly but accessible style the book uncovers a forgotten history of British television drama that will be of interest to lecturers and students of media and cultural studies as well as the general reader with an interest in the history of British television

Making Sense of Place Ian Convery, Gerard Corsane, Peter Davis, 2014 Essays dealing with the question of how sense of place is constructed in a variety of locations and media The term sense of place is an important multidisciplinary concept used to understand the complex processes through which individuals and groups define themselves and their relationship to their natural and cultural environments and which over the last twenty years or so has been increasingly defined theorized and used across diverse disciplines in different ways Sense of place mediates our relationship with the world and with each other it provides a profoundly important foundation for individual and community identity It can be an intimate deeply personal experience yet also something which we share with others It is at once recognizable but never constant rather it is embodied in the flux between familiarity and difference Research in this area requires culturally and geographically nuanced analyses approaches that are sensitive to difference and specificity event and locale The essays collected here drawn from a variety of disciplines including but not limited to sociology history geography outdoor education museum and heritage studies health and English literature offer an international perspective on the relationship between people and place via five interlinked sections Histories Landscapes and Identities Rural Sense of Place Urban Sense of Place Cultural Landscapes Conservation Biodiversity and Tourism Ian Convery is Reader in Conservation and Forestry National School of Forestry University of Cumbria Gerard Corsane is Senior Lecturer in Heritage Museum and Gallery Studies International Centre for Cultural and Heritage Studies Newcastle University Peter Davis is Professor of Museology International Centre for Cultural and Heritage Studies Newcastle University Contributors Doreen Massey Ian Convery Gerard Corsane Peter Davis David Storey Mark Haywood Penny Bradshaw Vincent O'Brien Michael Woods Jesse Heley Carol Richards Suzie Watkin Lois Mansfield Kenesh Djušipov Tamara Kudaibergenova Jennifer Rogers Eunice Simmons Andrew Weatherall Amanda Bingley Michael Clark Rhiannon Mason Chris Whitehead Helen Graham Christopher Hartworth Joanne Hartworth Ian Thompson Paul Cammack Philippe Dub Josie Baxter Maggie Roe Lyn Leader Elliott John Studley Stephanie K Hawke D Jared Bowers Mark Toogood Owen T Nevin Peter Swain Rachel M Dunk Mary Ann Smyth Lisa J Gibson Stefaan Dondeyne Randi Kaarhus Gaia Allison Ellie Lindsay Andrew Ramsay

Sense of Place and Sense of Planet Ursula K. Heise, 2008-09-29 Sense of Place and Sense of Planet analyzes the relationship between the imagination of the global and the ethical commitment to the local in environmentalist thought and writing from the 1960s to the present Part One critically examines the emphasis on local identities and communities in North American environmentalism by establishing conceptual connections between environmentalism and ecocriticism on one hand and theories of globalization transnationalism and cosmopolitanism on the other. It proposes the concept of eco cosmopolitanism as a shorthand for envisioning these connections and the cultural and aesthetic forms into which they translate. Part Two focuses on conceptualizations of environmental danger and connects environmentalist and ecocritical thought with the interdisciplinary field of risk theory in the social sciences, arguing that environmental justice theory and ecocriticism stand to benefit from closer consideration of the theories of cosmopolitanism that have arisen in this field from the analysis of transnational communities at risk. Both parts of the book combine in depth theoretical discussion with detailed analyses of novels, poems, films, computer software, and installation artworks from the US and abroad that translate new connections between global, national, and local forms of awareness into innovative aesthetic forms combining allegory, epic, and views of the planet as a whole with modernist and postmodernist strategies of fragmentation, montage, collage, and zooming.

Sense of Place and Place Attachment in Tourism Ning Chris Chen, C. Michael Hall, Girish Prayag, 2021-06-03

Place is integral to tourism. In tourism, almost all issues can ultimately be traced back to human place interactions and human place relationships. Sense of place, also referred to as place attachment, topophilia, and community sentiment, has received significant attention in tourism studies because it both contributes to and is affected by tourism. This book, written by notable authors in the field, examines sense of place and place attachment in terms of a typology of sense of place, place attachment, that includes genealogical, historical, narrative, cultural, economic, ideological, cosmological, and dynamic elements. Dimensions of place attachment, such as place identity, place dependence, and affective attachment, are discussed, as well as place marketing, place making, and destination management. Complete with a range of illustrative international cases and examples ranging from Santa Claus to the importance of place in indigenous and traditional cultures, this book represents a substantial addition to knowledge on the inseparable relationship between tourism and place and will be of great interest to all upper-level students and researchers of Tourism.

Sense of Place, Identity and the Revisioning of Curriculum Terry Locke, 2023-08-12

This book explores intersections between sense of place, the formation of identity, indigeneity, and colonisation, literature, and literary study, the arts, and a revisioned school curriculum for the Anthropocene. Underpinning the book is a conviction that sense of place is central to the fostering of the change of heart required to secure the survival of human life on earth. It offers a coherent overview of seemingly disparate realities on a geographically and historically sprawling canvas. The book is a work of literary non-fiction, drawing on a range of sources: literary works and criticism, theoretical research, empirical studies, and artworks. Of its very nature, the book enacts an extensive cultural critique. After establishing a cross-disciplinary foundation for sense of place, the book describes its relationship to identity with reference to such terms as attachment, dispossession, reclamation, and representation. It shows how a hopeful narrative for planet stewardship can be developed by the uptake of indigenous and traditional discourses of place It concludes with the envisioning of a place conscious curriculum and ways in which an activist agenda might be pursued in the Anthropocene Sense of Place in Natural Resource Recreation and Tourism

Jennifer Farnum,2005 Understanding sense of place and related concepts often presents challenges for both managers and researchers Inconsistent application of terms questions regarding their origin and a lack of awareness of research findings contribute to the ambiguity of these concepts This integrative review of research provides relevant current information on the role of sense of place in natural resourcebased recreation and tourism Special focus is given to the foundations of place attachment how place attachment may differ among user types and the relation of place attachment to other psychological phenomena such as attitudes The role of theory in place attachment also is addressed and gaps in theoretical and empirical work are identified This review provides specific recommendations for managers and others wanting to better understand the dynamics of sense of place Mapping the Invisible Landscape Kent C. Ryden,1993 Any landscape has an unseen component a subjective component of experience memory and narrative which people familiar with the place understand to be an integral part of its geography but which outsiders may not suspect the existence ofOCountless they listen and read carefully This invisible landscape is make visible though stories and these stories are the focus of this engrossing book

Traveling across the invisible landscape in which we imaginatively dwell Kent RydenOChimself a most careful listener and readerOCOasks the following questions What categories of meaning do we read into our surroundings What forms of expression serve as the most reliable maps to understanding those meanings Our sense of any place he argues consists of a deeply ingrained experiential knowledge of its physical makeup an awareness of its communal and personal history a sense of our identity as being inextricably bound up with its events and ways of life and an emotional reaction positive or negative to its meanings and memories Ryden demonstrates that both folk and literary narratives about place bear a striking thematic and stylistic resemblance Accordingly Mapping the Invisible Landscape examines both kinds of narratives For his oral materials Ryden provides an in depth analysis of narratives collected in the Coeur d Alene mining district in the Idaho panhandle for his consideration of written works he explores the OC essay of place OCO the personal essay which takes as its subject a particular place and a writer s relationship to that place Drawing on methods and materials from geography folklore and literature Mapping the Invisible Landscape offers a broadly interdisciplinary analysis of the way we situate ourselves imaginatively in the landscape the way we inscribe its surface with stories Written in an extremely engaging style this book will lead its readers to an awareness of the vital role that a sense of place plays in the formation of local cultures to an understanding of the many layered ways in which place interacts with individual lives and to renewed appreciation of the places in their own lives and landscapes The Relationship Between Physical Setting and Sense of Place Kim M. Nitz,1984

Creating a Sense of Place in School Environments Sun-Young Rieh,2020-04-01 Creating a Sense of Place in School Environments guides its readers to the characteristics that tend to generate a sense of place through children s vivid descriptions of their school and provides a body of critical information that can be employed to design a better school environment that can imprint cherished childhood memories The childhood school environment calls for special attention regarding the sense of place it creates The sense of place in childhood both affects children s current quality of life and frames their lasting world view It is well known that children s cognitive development is closely related to their place attachment to their surroundings and that children s adaptation to a given environment depends on how such place attachment can be created Therefore it is natural that people s identity in the world is the accumulation of their experience of place while in childhood Cross checking between the imprint of adults memories of places in school and children s current lived experience of their favorite school place confirmed that certain spatial configurations which the author herein refers to as place generators can generate positive attributes of physical settings that construct a sense of place and last as lifelong memories It is an ideal read for academics students and professionals Language and a Sense of Place Chris Montgomery, Emma Moore, 2017-05-25 This book explores twenty first century approaches to place by bringing together a range of language variation and change research
