Sentencing Reform In Overcrowded Times A Comparative Perspective:

Sentencing Reform in Overcrowded Times Michael Tonry, Kathleen Hatlestad, 1997-04-24 Sentencing and corrections issues are much the same in every Western country and increasingly efforts are being made to import policies and practices that have succeeded elsewhere This volume brings together articles on sentencing reform in the United States other English speaking countries Australia Canada England Wales New Zealand South Africa and Western Europe by leading national and international authorities on sentencing policy practices and institutions Short timely and readable the articles originally appeared in the journal Overcrowded Times Together they fill a major gap in the academic and policy literatures and will be essential reading for students scholars and practitioners in the field Sentencing and Society Cyrus Tata, Neil Hutton, 2017-03-02 Combining the latest work of leading sentencing and punishment scholars from twelve different countries this major new international volume answers key questions in the study of sentencing and society It presents not only a rigorous examination of the latest legal and empirical research from around the world but also reveals the workings of sentencing within society and as a social practice Traditionally work in the field of sentencing has been dominated by legal and philosophical approaches Distinctively this volume provides a more sociological approach to sentencing so allowing previously unanswered questions to be addressed and new questions to be opened This extensive collection is drawn from around one third of the papers presented at the First International Conference on Sentencing and Society Almost without exception the chapters have been revised cross referenced and updated The overall themes and findings of the international volume are set out by the opening Introduction and the closing Reflections chapters Research findings on particular penal policy questions are balanced with an analysis of fundamental conceptual issues making this international volume essential reading for sentencing and punishment scholars criminal justice policy makers and graduate students The Handbook of Crime & Punishment Michael H. Tonry, 2000 Consisting of 28 articles this comprehensive reference work on the study of crime examines its causes effects trends and institutions current philosophies of punishment and ways of controlling crime

Understanding Public Attitudes to Criminal Justice Mike Hough, Julian Roberts, 2005-11-16 Which factors shape public opinion of criminal justice How do the views of the public influence criminal justice policy and practice This book provides an introduction to public attitudes towards criminal justice It explores the public's lack of confidence in criminal justice processes and summarizes findings on public attitudes towards the three principal components of the criminal process the police the courts and the prison system It examines the importance that people attach to different criminal justice functions such as preventing crime prosecuting and punishing offenders and protecting the public Topics include Youth justice and public opinion Public perception of restorative justice Penal populism and media treatment of crime The reliability of public opinion polls The drivers of public opinion Understanding Public Attitudes to Criminal Justice provides an international perspective on the issues surrounding criminal justice and public opinion drawing on research from the UK the

United States and Canada and a range of other countries including South Africa Australia and New Zealand Key reading for students in criminology criminal justice and media studies this book is also of value to researchers and those with an interest in crime and the media

The Future of Imprisonment Michael H. Tonry, 2004 The imprisonment rate in America has grown by a factor of five since 1972 In that time punishment policies have toughened compassion for prisoners has diminished and prisons have gotten worse a stark contrast to the origins of the prison 200 years ago as a humanitarian reform a substitute for capital and corporal punishment and banishment So what went wrong How can prisons be made simultaneously more effective and more humane Who should be sent there in the first place What should happen to them while they are inside When how and under what conditions should they be released The Future of Imprisonment unites some of the leading prisons and penal policy scholars of our time to address these fundamental questions Inspired by the work of Norval Morris the contributors look back to the past twenty five years of penal policy in an effort to look forward to the prison twenty first century future Their essays examine the effects of current high levels of imprisonment on urban neighborhoods and the people who live in them They reveal how current policies came to be as they are and explain the theories of punishment that guide imprisonment decisions Finally the contributors argue for the strategic importance of controls on punishment including imprisonment as a limit on government power chart the rise and fall of efforts to improve conditions inside analyze the theory and practice of prison release and evaluate the tricky science of predicting and preventing recidivism A definitive guide to imprisonment policies for the future this volume convincingly demonstrates how we can prevent crime more effectively at lower economic and human cost

Critical Issues in Crime and Justice Dan Okada, Mary Maguire, Alexa Sardina, 2018-09-10 Critical Issues in Crime and Justice Thought Policy and Practice provides an incisive overview of issues and perspectives in criminal justice and criminology designed to expand upon key areas of study With contributed essays from leading scholars in the field the Third Edition illustrates the breadth of research policy and practice implications in areas such as crime theory law enforcement jurisprudence corrections and criminal justice organization and management New to this edition are chapters on wrongful convictions human trafficking and mental illness and criminal justice three critical issues facing contemporary policing courts and corrections The coverage of concepts insights voices and perspectives will challenge criminal justice and criminology students to synthesize what they have learned question standard interpretations and begin to create new directions and visions for their future careers as professionals in the field

The Law and Practice of the International Criminal Court Carsten Stahn, 2015 The International Criminal Court has significantly grown in importance and impact over the decade of its existence This book assesses its impact providing a comprehensive overview of its practice It shows how the Court has contributed to major developments in international criminal law and identifies the ways in which it is in need of reform

Integrating a Victim Perspective within Criminal Justice Adam Crawford, Jo Goodey, 2019-11-12 As numerous academic and political commentators have noted the implications of introducing a victim's perspective into the delicate balance between state and offender is likely to be a key issue in the future of criminal justice. This book seeks to outline the contours of the relevant debates drawing together contributions from prominent international and national commentators from areas including criminology, law, philosophy, social policy, politics and sociology. Critical Issues in Crime and Justice Mary Maguire, Dan Okada, 2014-11-11. A comprehensive provocative overview of the origins and present state of issues and perspectives in criminal justice and criminology from leading scholars in the field. In this important book of essays leading scholars explore the gamut of topics in criminal justice and criminology examining both historical and contemporary material to illustrate the past and present of each topic covered. Drawing on a wide range of sources Mary Maguire and Dan Okada illustrate the breadth of research policy and practice implications in key areas of the field such as crime theory, law enforcement, jurisprudence, corrections and criminal justice organization and management. The coverage of concepts, insights, voices and perspectives is geared toward students with a background in criminal justice or criminology courses to challenge them to synthesize what they have learned to question standard interpretations and to begin to create new directions and visions for their future careers as professionals in the field.

Changing Attitudes to Punishment Julian Roberts, Mike Hough, 2013-01-11. Throughout the western world public opinion has played an important role in shaping criminal justice policy. At the same time opinion polls repeatedly demonstrate that the public knows little about crime and justice and holds negative views of the criminal justice system. This book consisting of chapters from leading authorities in the field is concerned to address this problem and draws upon research in a number of different countries to address the issues arising from this state of affairs. Its main aims are to explore the changing and evolving nature of public attitudes to sentencing to examine the factors that influence public opinion and to bring together recent international research which has demonstrated ways in which public attitudes can be changed to propose specific strategies to respond to the crisis in public confidence in criminal justice.

Race, Law and Society Ian Haney López, 2017-05-15. Race, Law and Society draws together some of the very best writing on race and racism from the law and society tradition yet it is not intended to merely reprint the greatest hits of the past. Instead from its introduction to its selection of articles this anthology is designed as a how to manual, a guide for scholars and students seeking templates for their own work in this important but also tricky area. Race, Law and Society pulls together leading exemplars of the sorts of social science scholarship on race, society and law that will be essential to racial progress as the world begins to travel the twenty-first century.

Decisions to Imprison Rasmus H. Wandall, 2016-05-13. Rasmus Wandall uses quantitative and qualitative methods from studies carried out in Denmark to address the formal and informal norms and ideologies that are used to generate decisions to imprison. Focusing on the operations of the courtroom participants his work investigates how court decision making is organized to allow the sentencing procedure to be open to more than its formal legal framework while at the same time keeping the sentencing within the boundaries of law and legal validity. The author uses the theory of law's operational closure developed by Niklas Luhmann. The theory provides an advantageous point of departure to capture the close and subtle interactions between law's need for validity and for contextual openness in every legal operation including court decision making. Law and Society Steven Vago, 2015-07-14. For one semester undergraduate courses in Law and Society, Sociology of Law, Introduction to Law, and a variety of criminal justice courses offered in departments of Sociology, Criminal Justice, and Political Science. Examines the interplay between law and society. Law and Society 10e provides an informative, balanced, and comprehensive analysis of the interplay between law and society. This text presents an overview of the most advanced interdisciplinary and international research, theoretical advances, ongoing debates, and controversies. It raises new levels of awareness on the structure and functions of law and legal systems and the principal players in the legal arena and their impact on our lives. In addition, it looks at the legal system in the context of race, class, and gender, and considers multicultural and cross-cultural issues in a contemporary and interdisciplinary context. Parental Incarceration and the Family Joyce A. Arditti, 2012-05-28. Over the past 15 years, much pioneering work has been done on the social demography of young men's sexual activities, contraceptive use, and fertility experiences. But how do men develop and manage their identities in these areas? In Sex, Men, and Babies, William Marsiglio and Sally Hutchinson provide a compelling and insightful portrait of young men who are capable of anticipating, creating, and fathering human life. Based on in-depth interviews with a diverse sample of 70 single men aged 16-30, this is the most comprehensive qualitative study of its kind. Through intimate stories and self-reflections, these men talk about sex, romance, relationships, birth control, pregnancies, miscarriages, abortions, visions of fathering, and other issues related to men's self-awareness and the many ways they construct, explain, and change their identities as potential fathers. The interviews also provide valuable insights about how young men experience responsibilities associated with sex and the full range of procreative events. Accessibly written for a wide audience and raising a host of issues relevant to debates about unplanned pregnancy, childbearing among teens and young adults, and women's and children's well-being, Sex, Men, and Babies is the fullest account available today on how young men conceptualize themselves as procreative beings. Lessons from this study can inform interventions designed to encourage young men to be more aware of their abilities and responsibilities in making babies. Penal Populism and Public Opinion Julian V. Roberts, 2003. The five countries examined are the United States, the United Kingdom, Canada, Australia, and New Zealand. Sentencing and Sanctions in Western Countries Michael Tonry, Director of the Institute of Criminology, University of Cambridge; Richard Frase, Director of the Institute of Criminology, University of Minnesota Law School, 2001-03-12. This collection of original essays surveys the evolution of sentencing policies and practices in Western countries over the past twenty-five years. Contributors address plea bargaining, community service, electronic monitoring, standards of use of incarceration, and legal perspectives on sentencing policy developments among other topics. Sentencing and Sanctions in Western Countries provides a range of scholars and students' excellent cross-national knowledge of sentencing laws and practices when and why they have changed over time and with what effects Sentencing and Sanctions in Western Countries Michael H. Tonry, Richard S. Frase, 2001 11 The Project of Sentencing Reform

Central Prison Gregory S. Taylor, 2021-04-07 Gregory S Taylor's Central Prison is the first scholarly study to explore the prison's entire history from its origins in the 1870s to its status in the first decades of the twenty-first century Taylor addresses numerous features of the state's vast prison system including chain gangs convict leasing executions and the nearby Women's Prison to describe better the vagaries of living behind bars in the state's largest penitentiary He incorporates vital elements of the state's history into his analysis to draw clear parallels between the changes occurring in free society and those affecting Central Prison Throughout Taylor illustrates that the prison like the state itself struggled with issues of race gender sectionalism political infighting finances and progressive reform Finally Taylor also explores the evolution of penal reform focusing on the politicians who set prison policy the officials who administered it and the untold number of African American inmates who endured incarceration in a state notorious for racial strife and injustice Central Prison approaches the development of the penal system in North Carolina from a myriad of perspectives offering a range of insights into the workings of the state penitentiary It will appeal not only to scholars of criminal justice but also to historians searching for new ways to understand the history of the Tar Heel State and general readers wanting to know more about one of North Carolina's most influential and infamous institutions International Handbook of Penology and Criminal Justice Shlomo Giora Shoham, Ori Beck, Martin Kett, 2007-10-08 At the outset of the twenty-first century more than 9 million people are held in custody in over 200 countries around the world from the essay Prisons and Jails by Ron King The first comparative study of this increasingly integral social subject International Handbook of Penology and Criminal Justice provides a comprehensive and balanced review The Oxford Handbook of Criminal Law Markus D Dubber, Tatjana Hörnle, 2014-11-27 The Oxford Handbook of Criminal Law reflects the continued transformation of criminal law into a global discipline providing scholars with a comprehensive international resource a common point of entry into cutting edge contemporary research and a snapshot of the state and scope of the field To this end the Handbook takes a broad approach to its subject matter disciplinarily geographically and systematically Its contributors include current and future research leaders representing a variety of legal systems methodologies areas of expertise and research agendas The Handbook is divided into four parts Approaches Methods I Systems Methods II Aspects Issues III and Contexts Comparisons IV Part I includes essays exploring various methodological approaches to criminal law such as criminology feminist studies and history Part II provides an overview of systems or models of criminal law laying the foundation for further inquiry into specific conceptions of criminal law as well as for comparative analysis such as Islamic Marxist and military law Part III covers the three aspects of the penal process the definition of norms and principles of liability substantive criminal law along with a less detailed treatment of the imposition of norms criminal procedure and the infliction of sanctions prison law Contributors consider the basic topics traditionally addressed in scholarship on the general and special parts of the substantive criminal law such as jurisdiction mens rea justifications and excuses Part IV places criminal law in context both domestically and transnationally by exploring the contrasts between criminal law and other species of law and state power and by investigating criminal law s place in the projects of comparative law transnational and international law
